ENTERPRISE SAILS AGAIN

The nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise sails from Pearl Harbor after repairs of heavy damage from the fatal fires and explosions which crippled her off the Hawaiian Islands in January. Yesterday's sea trials ran into minor trouble when silt clogged a cooling system, forcing engine shutdown. The world's largest warship is shown as she cruised past the USS Arizona memorial. Following repairs of the cooling pipes, the Enterprise will resume its training cruise, Pearl Harbor officials said today. An overheated aircraft missile set off the inferno which claimed 26 lives and injured 85 aboard the carrier during the earlier training cruise in mid-January. (AP Wirephoto)

Laird Warns Enemy Gunners; Meeting In Paris Cut Short

Ky Flying Home To Confer

PARIS (UPI) — South Vietnam cut short the Vietnam peace talks today in protest against the Communist shelling of towns and cities in South Vietnam. Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky already was hinting that Saigon might pull out of the talks altogether.

The Communists defiantly proclaimed their intention to continue the shellings and in the second personal attack on President Nixon called him "an aggressor who does not like to be punished."

LODGE WARNS

The move came after Saigon negotiator Pham Dang Lam denounced the rocketing in bitter terms and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge formally relayed to the Communists President Nixon's warning that the shelling could bring an "appropriate response."

Lodge told newsmen at end of the brief meeting:

"South Vietnam moved to adjourn, saying that with these kinds of activities going on there was not a proper atmosphere for discussions of peace."

He said the unprecedented South Vietnam move was "definitely not" a South Vietnamese walkout.

Both Hanoi and the Viet Cong delegates were defiant today. They said the shellings would continue until the American "aggressors" are driven from Vietnam. And they denied any knowledge of an "agreement" to halt the shelling if the United States halts the bombing of North Vietnam.

REDS DEFIANT

Lam demanded an adjournment until next Thursday after the Communists defied the Allied protests, warned of new attacks and called President Nixon "an aggressor who does not like to be punished."

It was the second consecutive week the Communists made personal attacks on Nixon.

Today's seventh session of the deadlocked conference lasted just under four hours, the shortest on record since the talks began Jan. 18.

EDWIN C. ARNETT
Dishonorable discharge

Four Years For Vietnam Deserting GI

FORT DIX, N. J. (AP) — The first American serviceman to be court-martialed for deserting from Vietnam to Sweden was sentenced today to four years imprisonment at hard labor and to a dishonorable discharge.

Spec. 4 Edwin C. Arnett, a 30-year-old Army cook from Santa Ana, stood silent and stared at Col. Seth Linthicum, the court martial president, as he read the sentence. Linthicum said Arnett will be reduced to the lowest grade and will forfeit all pay and allowances. He will be confined to Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Arnett could have received five years imprisonment and a dishonorable discharge.

A seven-officer court-martial panel convicted Arnell yesterday on charges of simple desertion and desertion with intent to shirk important service—specifically the Communist Tet offensive in February of 1968.

Arnett voluntarily returned to the United States last September.

Saigon Barrage Kills 25

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird warned today that if enemy forces continue attacks on South Vietnamese cities "they must be prepared to accept the consequences."

Laird, arriving in Saigon about 18 hours after a rocket barrage on the capital, added "We will not tolerate any enemy escalation of the war."

In a statement to newsmen on his arrival at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport, Laird went on: "If these attacks continue unabated, an appropriate response will be made."

QUESTION SHUNNED

Pressed by reporters as to what such a response would be and if it included resumption of the bombing of North Vietnam, the secretary said that this was not the time and place to go into details.

The enemy struck Saigon early yesterday with the most devastating heavy rocket attack since the opening of the offensive Feb. 23.

Rockets smashed into a densely populated slum district, killing at least 25 Vietnamese civilians, most of them children. More than 70 civilians were wounded.

Laird in effect repeated the gist of President Nixon's remarks at a news conference in Washington Tuesday night. Nixon indicated then he would make no decision until he has a report from Laird.

NO 'WEAKNESS'

Laird said that "several options are available" for a response to the attacks on Saigon and other cities and if necessary "proper options will be used."

"We want to make it clear," he continued firmly, "that no one should mistake our patience and forebearance for a sign of weakness."

"Such indiscriminate assaults against the civilian population are in my view as secretary of defense an ominous violation of the understanding between us and North Vietnam," he declared.

The secretary was referring to what the United States says was an understanding with North Vietnam to stop shellings of cities and violations of the demilitarized zone in return for a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam Nov. 1. Hanoi denies there was any understanding.

Meanwhile, U.S., South Vietnamese and enemy casualties jumped to their highest level since last May during the first week of the Viet Cong's current spring offensive, the allied commands announced today.

Rookie Astronaut Goes Out

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 9 astronaut Russell L. Schweickart spacewalked out onto the front porch of his lunar landing craft today and said: "Boy, oh boy, what a view."

The rookie spaceman, feeling so good that part of his once-cancelled spacewalk was reinstated, stepped into a pair of fiberglass "golden slipper" foot restraints mounted on the platform outside the moon lander, for a picture taking session.

Schweickart was performing the key test of the fourth day of Apollo 9's 10-day orbital trial run for a May moon flight.

Schweickart was exposing America's cumbersome "moon suit" to the harsh vacuum of space for the first time.

While Commander James McDivitt remained close by inside the cramped lunar module's cabin, Schweickart swung open the 32-inch square hatch at about 12:02 p.m. EST. The ship's cabin oxygen was vented out in space a few minutes earlier.

David R. Scott stayed behind in the command ship and opened his hatch at about the same time. He also reached out to retrieve two spacecraft skin samples.

McDivitt and Schweickart transferred from their command ship to the attached landing ship "spider" between 9 and 9:48 a.m.. EST to open the second day of tests of the moon lander.

Today's drill was devoted primarily to checking out the suit and backpack breathing unit that lunar explorers will wear when they set foot on the moon.

Bay Area Transportation Special Taxes Are Asked

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

BERKELEY — A new property tax on Bay Area homeowners to finance public transit, and special gas and vehicle taxes to improve highways in the area, have been recommended to the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission (BATSC) by its study group on finance. (See also Marin transit story, page 10.)

The group's draft report, firmly rejecting any diversion to public transit of highway funds, said property taxation "seems most appropriate" because "transit is more clearly a property-related service than many other services now supported by the property tax base, because property taxation poses no administrative or compliance problems and offers no opportunity for tax avoidance, and because property tax rates can be readily adjusted to the needs and circumstances of areas within the region."

The study group endorsed the report, drawn by BATSC consultant Richard M. Zettel, on Feb. 26, but the report was not made available until yesterday. It will be heard by the full commission at 9:45 a.m. next Thursday in the Hotel Claremont.

The report also rejected financing public transit by the state or federal government, claiming this would encourage local communities to press for transit facilities they would not want if they had to pay for them themselves.

The report conceded the need for "a broad reformation" of the state and local tax structure

State Student Maimed By Bomb; Hayakawa Warns High Schools

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO — A Negro carrying a home-made bomb in a briefcase was injured when the explosive went off prematurely in a locker room at strife-torn San Francisco State College last night, police said. (See photo, page 3.)

Tim Peebles, 19 of Palo Alto, a freshman at the college, had three fingers amputated after being rushed to Mission Emergency Hospital, and may be blinded, doctors said.

Police Sgt. William Mikulik booked him on suspicion of setting an explosion and placed him under police guard, while seeking a companion seen with him in the building.

Officers inspecting the locker room in the Creative Arts Building found another briefcase containing another bomb, set to go off at 5 a.m. today, said Patrolman Bernard Gidal. It was disposed of by Army experts.

Meanwhile, the current wave of unrest sweeping college campuses already is seeping into the nation's high schools and "more difficult times lie ahead," according to Acting President S. I. Hayakawa of San Francisco State College.

He warned secondary school principals at their national convention yesterday they must be prepared to cope with "dirty, nasty revolutionary disruption."

Hayakawa said he favors a nation-wide investigation of radical campus groups, such as Students for a Democratic Society, because "there is an interconnection between disruptions."

He cited his experience Monday at the University of Colorado in Boulder, where dissident students tossed chairs and shouted obscenities forcing the famed semanticist to cut short his planned speech.

Hayakawa said student radicals from San Francisco State and other schools travelled to

Colleges Ripe For Trouble, Leaders Say

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The two top leaders of California higher education agree that the college or university campus is both vulnerable and ripe for a modern-day revolution.

"There are literally thousands of ways in which the institution and its normal workings can be disrupted with the greatest of ease," said President Charles J. Hitch of the University of California.

"People are afraid a revolution is starting in this country and it's starting on the college and university campuses," said state college Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke. "I think they're right." But he joined Hitch in urging that most disciplinary powers be left with college officials.

The educational leaders appeared last night before an Assembly campus environment subcommittee, studying the underlying causes and solutions to campus violence.

Also testifying was Theodore Meriam, Chico, chairman of the state college board of trustees. Like Hitch and Dumke he urged the lawmakers to be "reasonable" in laws they adopt during the 1969 session designed to help still campus unrest.

He said new laws "must assure the rights of all—the right of dissent as well as the right not to be interfered with."

More than 50 separate bills are before the legislature intending to clamp a tighter rein on campus dissidents—students and professors.

Hitch, who delivered an hour-long prepared text and submitted to cross-questioning for another hour, warned against excessive use of force to solve campus disorders.

Ike Gaining So Well Doctors End Bulletins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors reported today that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is progressing so well that they are discontinuing the practice of issuing a daily bulletin on his condition.

This would appear to indicate that he has now passed the critical post-operative period following the major abdominal surgery he underwent on Feb. 23, and pneumonia attack.

Experts Call For Overhaul Of Welfare

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A sweeping overhaul of California's $1.5 billion welfare program would split recipients with the potential for climbing off the welfare rolls from those who can't was proposed today to the Assembly Social Welfare Committee by its staff experts.

The 517-page report calls for a new statewide social service program, a new type of social service worker and a single state-county cost sharing formula for all aid to recipients who can't support themselves.

Welfare recipients with the potential to become self-supporting would receive 'a minimum decent level of income" and expanded vocational training to help them gain their independence. Permanently dependent recipients — such as the disabled — would reeive "the in-

Wants Bases

TOKYO (AP) — A leading Japanese politician proposed today that American military bases around Tokyo be sold to the government housing corporation to finance their relocation in less densely populated areas.

Wins Divorce

SANTA MONICA (AP) — The star of television's "Star Trek," William Shatner, often was absent from home once for five months, his wife Gloria testified yesterday in winning a divorce.

Mrs. Shatner, 34, said the 38-year-old Shatner seldom told her where he was and this made her "nervous and depressed." Under a settlement, she received custody of their three children, $2,500 monthly child support, the family home, and half of community property estimated at $500,000. They had been married 13 years.

Bodies Of Two Women Unearthed

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP) — The dismembered bodies of two young women and the possible remains of a third have been unearthed in a woodland area where the corpse of an unidentified teen-age girl was found on Feb. 4.

Costa

Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis said a Provincetown carpenter, Antone Costa, 25, was arrested in Boston and charged with murder soon after the bodies were dug up yesterday.

Dinis identified the victims as Patricia Walsh, 23, a school teacher, and Mary Ann Wysocki, 23, a Rhode Island college senior, both of Providence, R. I. They were buried 300 yards from the spot where the other girl's body was found.

Friends since high school, Miss Walsh and Miss Wysocki were reported missing six weeks ago. It was while seeking them that police earlier found the teen-age girl.

Violence Erupts

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Violence erupted in the Comilla district of East Pakistan and in suburban Karachi today as a rash of strikes plagued Pakistan fr the third straight day.

Six hundred village houses were burned in Comilla, 35 miles south of Dacca, and 54 persons were reported injured in a clash between two rival groups claiming ownership of a single plot of land. More than 75 persons were reported arrested in the clash, which spread through several villages and towns.

In Karachi, several hundred mill workers demanding reinstatement of dismissed employees ransacked a cotton mill in a suburban industrial area, burning furniture and records. They then went on a rock-throwing spree, forcing neighboring mills and factories to shut down.

Satellites Up

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today that two more unmanned Cosmos satellites were launched yesterday. Their missions were not explained, but their orbits varied widely and there was no indication they were on a joint flight.

Tests For Liz

HOLLYWOOD AP) —(Actress Elizabeth Taylor postponed a Mexico vacation and is undergoing extensive tests and X-rays in an effort to end continuing back pains. She was admitted to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital last night.

Found Guilty

MONTREAL (AP) — Six juveniles in the crowd of demonstrators who wrecked the million-dollar computer center at Sir George William University were found guilty yesterday of mischief.

Social Welfare Court Judge John Long ordered the parents of the three girls and three boys to appear in court March 12 "to show cause why they should not pay damages" to the university. The six, aged 16 and 17, were paroled to their parents.

A seventh juvenile is being held for psychiatric examination.

Students Defy Stanford Fines

STANFORD (AP) — Calling their trials "a travesty on justice," 29 Stanford University students said yesterday they will not pay $1,900 in fines levied for disrupting a trustees meeting Jan. 14.

The group appeared at an afternoon rally and called for an open community meeting next Tuesday and invited trustees to attend.

President Dr. Kenneth S. Pitzer said they cannot register until they pay half of the fines, levied after unanimous convictions by the judicial council.

FBI Arrests Woman In Georgia Kidnaping

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Honduras-born Ruth Eisemann-Schier, the only woman ever to appear on the FBI's list of 10 most-wanted criminals, faces arraignment today on a charge of taking part in a Georgia kidnaping in which a college co-ed was buried alive.

Petite, 26-year-old Miss Schier was arrested yesterday in nearby Norman as she worked as a car hop at a drive-in restaurant.

In Oklahoma City, U.S. Commissioner James Bullett set bail at $500,000 and continued the proceedings until today after Miss Schier asked for a court-appointed attorney.

Miss Schier and Steven Krist, 23, are charged with the abduction of Barbara Jane Mackle from a Decatur, Ga., motel last Dec. 17.

Miss Mackle, 20-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Mackle, was found buried but unharmed in a box about 20 miles northeast of Atlanta after an 86-hour underground ordeal.

The kidnapers had directed rescuers to the spot after Mackle, a wealthy Florida real estate developer, paid $500,000 ransom. Practially all of the ransom money was recovered.

Dist. Atty. Richard Bell of DeKalb County, Ga., said he would institute proceedings to have Miss Schier brought to trial as soon as possible.

Miss Schier, known in Norman as Donna Wills, was arrested after she applied for a job as a nurse at Central State Hospital in Norman. A worker in the Oklahoma Bureau of Investigation's fingerprint division identified the fingerprints on her job application.

Upholds Law

ROME (AP) — Italy's constitutional court today upheld a law prohibiting the firing of women employees who marry.

The court ruled that the 1963 law was in line with constitutional guarantees of equality for all citizens.

The court said there is nothing in the constitution to justify working conditions that prevent a woman from fulfilling family functions as a wife or mother.

Patients Give Kidney Van To Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The University of California Medical Center now owns a van specially equipped to transport "live" kidneys, thanks to 126 transplant recipients who "wanted to show their appreciation for the gift of life."

Howard Swartz, 46, who received his transplant 14 months ago, acted as spokesman for the group at yesterday's presentation.

Swartz said the group learned of the need for a specially equipped van to transport kidneys from donors at one hospital to recipients in another. The began a mail campaign to finance the $7,200 van.

Although only $3,631 has been collected so far, the group decided to purchase the vehicle because two kidneys being transplanted recently were destroyed during the bumpy ride they received in a rented truck the university previously used.

The first printing press in America was set up by Stephen Daye of Cambridge, Mass., in 1640.

Peking Still Aboil With Russ Hatred

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese dispatch from Peking suggested today that Red China's massive anti-Soviet campaign is aimed partly at blocking Moscow's efforts to regain dominance of the world Communist movement.

Demonstrations over a clash on the Manchurian border with Soviet soldiers Sunday went into the fourth day. A correspondent for Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, said downtown Peking "boils like a volcano crater. Everything trembles from shouts and deafening slogans."

The official New China News Agency reported more than 30 million Chinese have taken part in the demonstrations the past four days.

School Bonds Win

OXNARD (AP) — Voters in the Ocean View District approved a $1.96-million bond issue Tuesday for a new junior high school and elementary school additions. Only 21 per cent of registered voters turned out. The votes was 259 to 109.

FAILS IN ILLINOIS

Daley Criticizes Humphrey Drive

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's Mayor Richard J. Daley says Hubert H. Humphrey was a poor candidate for president and that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy would have been a better one.

Daley denied at a news conference yesterday, however, that his Democratic organization was in any way responsible for Humphrey's defeat by Richard M. Nixon.

He said one reason the Democratic candidate did not do better was his failure to campaign extensively in Illinois, whose electoral votes were won by the Republican nominee.

In Louisville, Ky., Humphrey commented:

"I've been in politics a long time and one of the things I've learned is that there are more fight promoters than peacemakers. I don't intend to take the bait." Humphrey added:

"We did our best. I'm sure the mayor did his best. It doesn't do us any good to re-live those days now."

Daley said that as election day drew near, Humphrey's advisers were in a state of confusion.

"We didn't know who to talk to on Humphrey's staff, it was changing so fast," Daley said.

Humphrey last week criticized Chicago's treatment of demonstrators during the convention. Daley's blast came during questioning following a routine news conference to announce the planned construction on Chicago's West Side of a new national headquarters complex for Sears, Roebuck and Co.

$1,800 In Furniture, Clothes Haul

Furniture and clothing valued at more than $1,800 were taken early this week from the home of two airline stewardesses at 479 Panoramic Highway, Mount Tamalpais, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Items taken from the home of Jackie Jilson and Pat Schofer included a portable stereophonic set, a portable television set, a sewing machine, four women's suits and three women's coats, deputied said.

The burglary occurred sometime between 7 a.m. Monday and 3 p.m. Tuesday and entry was made by breaking a dining room window.

The house had been burglarized eight times previously, but nothing had been taken before but underwear, deputies reported.

Leonard M. Dean of Dallas, Tex., reported to deputies Tuesday afternoon that someone broke into his car while it was parked at the Stinson State Beach parking lot and took $80 in cash and personal belongings valued at more than $350.

Copper Brannon of 2205 Juniperberry Road, Marinwood, reported that someone took a portable television set, a speaker system, a gold ring and a silver cigarette lighter from the Brannon home sometime between 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Monday.

Marin City Homeowners Pick Slate

Mrs. Mack H. Page was elected president of the Marin City Homeowners and Improvement Association last night, succeeding Juanita S. Cobb.

Jesse E. Berry was elected vice president; Flossie Berry, secretary; Willie C. Hall, treasurer; Mrs. Alex Benson, historian, and Mrs. Alex Holloway, garden club chairman.

Officers also were installed at the meeting at the Manzanita Center, Marin City. The association's next meeting will be at 8 p.m. April 2 at the center.

Student Faces Dope Charges

A Novato High School senior was arrested at 11:52 a.m. yesterday on suspicion of the possession of marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia, Novato police reported.

David A. Bushman, 18, of 30 San Aleso Way, Novato, was released on his own recognizance to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Police reported that they saw a pipe apparently used for smoking marijuana in the glove compartment of his car parked on Arthur Street near the high school. When Bushman came to the car, police found a plastic sack of vegetable matter thought to be marijuana in his pocket. He voluntarily gave police two more packets of the substance which he had at home, according to police.

Marin City Council Asks Planning Grant

Marin City Council voted last night to request the Marin County Board of Supervisors to seek a $50,000 federal planning grant for Marin City.

Chairman Samuel L. Banks Jr. said the Department of Housing and Urban Development is favorable toward allocating a 701 planning grant up to $50,000 to the community.

The application has to be processed through the county because the county will be required to put up $25,000 in cash or services as its matching contribution, Banks explained.

Bogged down in the past two months by lack of a quorum, the council voted to trim membership from 13 to nine.

Council members were ready to cut membership to seven, but their bylaws called for "not less than nine."

As it turned out no one had to be dropped from the council since three members previously left, reducing membership to 10, and last night it was reported that Barbara Douglas, vice chairman, had resigned, reducing it to nine.

Council members now are Banks, chairman; Frank Phillips Sr., who was elected vice chairman; Susie Edwards, treasurer; Margaret Beaucham, secretary; Ronald Foster; Horace White; Joseph Knighten; Collie Gaines, and Daniel Hayden Sr.

Banks noted that the nine-member group had representatives from various segments of the community, public housing, cooperative apartments, private apartments and private homes, as did the original 13-member council.

The council, which has the role of the community's planning representative, agreed to request a report from its planning consultant, Plan of Action for Challenging Times of San Francisco on its activities.

Nixon Selects Marine General For CIA Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon announced today that a Marine three-star general is being brought home from Vietnam to become deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman Jr., now commander of the 3rd Marine Amphibious Force in Vietnam, will become No. 2 official of the CIA, behind Director Richard Helms. Nixon asked Helms to stay on as chief.

Cushman will leave his Vietnam post March 26 to take over his new job.

Traditionally, the top two CIA posts are split between the civilian and the military.

Following graduation from the U. S. Naval Academy, Cushman saw World War II combat duty in the Pacific.

Beginning in February 1957, he served four years as an assistant to Nixon on national security affairs when Nixon was vice president.

Taylor had served as deputy CIA director since October 1966.

Boulder "to be part of that disturbance."

College and secondary school administrators should establish closer ties "to defend themselves" against such radical disruptions, the acting president said.

"If it is clearly established that there is a conspiracy to disrupt campuses," he added, "I would recommend throwing (radical) groups off campus."

Hayakawa blamed much of the current unrest on professors in the humanities and social sciences, who join with their students in leading campus revolts. He said such professors have "a sense of alienation" which they pass on to students.

The unrest will extend to the high schools, he said, because many of the today's militant college students will become high school teachers. He told the administrators "increasing firmness" on their parts could decrease disruptions.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the Students for a Democratic Society said yesterday the activist student group had engineered the disturbance which disrupted Hayakawa's speech at Boulder.

John Buttny, 31, made the claim in a speech at Colorado State University in Fort Collins.

"Hayakawa didn't have the right to speak on our campus because he runs a police state," Buttny said. "I think we should have dragged him off the stage, in fact. I'm proud of what we did."

"That disruption wasn't planned in five minutes," Buttny said. "It was Hayakawa's first appearance on another campus since trouble began at San Francisco last November. We wanted to stop that first appearance."

Woman Missing; Falls Into Bay

A 23-year-old Berkeley woman fell from a sailboat in San Francisco Bay yesterday afternoon and no trace of her has been found, the Coast Guard reported today.

Her companion, Jonathan Schinn, also of Berkeley, said that Mrs. Laurie Kinley fell overboard when his 19-foot catamaran hit a swell and threw her off balance. Schinn said he was unable to turn his craft in time to rescue her.

Mrs. Kinley, a University of California graduate student, was not wearing a life jacket but was reported to be a strong swimmer. She fell from the boat approximately a mile south of the Bay Bridge and a half-mile from shore.

$166,156 Voting Tab For Marin

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Marin County's primary and general elections last year cost $166,156, the secretary of state's office reported yesterday.

In Sonoma County, the total was $236,181, according to Jordan's report, which was compiled on the basis of reports filed by the state's 58 counties. The statewide total was $14.5 million.

The state's directive requesting the election costs be filed, however, does not spell out precisely how the costs are to be computed, thus comparisons between counties are difficult because their accounting methods vary.

Marin's primary cost was $80,339, and the general election cost was $85,817. In Sonoma, the figures reported were $121,965 for the primary, and $115,116 for the general.

Marin averaged 92,478 voters in the two elections, and Sonoma averaged 87,734.

may have to come before taxpayers will take on the proposed regional tax for public transit.

Turning to a previous BATSC recommendation that a regional transportation agency be set up in the Bay Area, the report suggested the Legislature "should concern itself with making a variety of fiscal tools available; the regional organization should choose which to use and in what combination."

(A 1 per cent surcharge on personal income taxes paid by Bay Area residents and a gross receipts tax on businesses and corporations was proposed Monday by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, in his legislation to set up a regional government in the Bay Area.)

The regional transportation agency, the study group noted, should have the power to "coordinate financing and mediate problems" in cases where several agencies are involved — such as in the Golden Gate corridor.

A second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge, improved freeway approaches to the bridge and a new bus system across the bridge are "desperately needed," the report added. Toll revenue for the bus system "should be permitted within defined limits," it said.

The report also rejected proposals that bridge tolls be hiked to encourage use of public transit, terming the idea "politically unacceptable, economically questionable and practically impossible."

The final BATSC report is to be made to the Legislature this spring.

Hallinan Is Granted A Stay

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The State Supreme Court yesterday granted attorney Vincent Hallinan of Belvedere a stay of execution pending appeal of a five-day contempt of court sentence.

Hallinan won the stay a few hours after the state Court of Appeal refused to strike down the contempt order. The order was issued for the veteran San Francisco attorney's comments in court while he was defending his son, Terence, on charges of assaulting a police officer.

The trial ended in a hung jury in December. Terence Hallinan faces a new trial next week. He was arrested during a clash between students and police at San Francisco State College last May.

Vessel Full Of Ammunition Hits Embarcadero

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A freighter loaded with 1,800 tons of ammunition for the Vietnam War sliced into a pier on the downtown waterfront last night in order to avoid a collision with another vessel.

Capt. John Doherty of the Coast Guard said several rockets and bombs were stored in the area where the freighter was damaged, but there was no explosion.

"There is always the possibility of an explosion when ammunition has been damaged," he added.

The freighter was freed by tugs and then moored at the pier. Police sealed off part of the Embarcadero until the ammunition could be unloaded later today.

Doherty said the American Producer was en route from the Concord Naval Weapons Station to the San Francisco Naval Shipyard, where it was to be refueled for the voyage to Vietnam.

He said the freighter rammed the pier to avoid hitting another freighter, the M.M. Dant.

Ex-San Quentin Felon Hijacker

HAVANA (AP) — In an apparent move to stem the tide of air piracy, Cuba announced for the first time today the arrest of a hijacker and identified him by name.

The Communist Party newspaper Granna announced that the National Airlines jetliner which had been diverted from the United States to Cuba yesterday was hijacked by a man it identified as Anthony Garnet Bryant.

The paper said Bryant was a U.S. citizen and had been arrested in the United States for robbery and drug traffic. It added that he robbed one of the passengers of the jetliner of $1,700 which Cuban officials returned to the owner.

Police records in San Francisco show an Anthony Garnet Bryant, a 30-year-old Negro born in San Bernadino, was convicted there in 1961 for first-degree robbery and in 1964 for possession and sale of marijuana. Both times he was sentenced to San Quentin.

Court Refuses To Stay Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California's Supreme Court refused yesterday to stay the scheduled March 26 execution of Walter S. Hines, 30, convicted of murdering a Los Angeles liquor store clerk during a robbery. Hines is in San Quentin Prison.

Hines, who admitted the July 1, 1962, killing of Billy Cooper, had challenged the constitutionality of the state's death penalty procedures. He had been sentenced by a jury.

He and four other California Death Row inmates have a similar challenge on file before the U.S. Supreme Court and a lawyer said Hines' application for a stay will be filed there.

Shoplifting Suspects Booked

San Rafael police, summoned to an all-night supermarket on a shoplifting complaint, arrested two youths today and said one of them may have been under the influence of drugs.

Arrested at the Mayfair Supermarket near the Montecito Shopping Center at 1:30 a.m. were Mark Jefferson Lee, 20, of 100 Bayo Vista Way, Apartment 21, San Rafael, and a 17-year-old companion, also from San Rafael.

Lee was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of being under the influence of drugs, possession of a stolen credit card and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He was being held today under $625 bail.

The companion was taken to Juvenile Hall, accused of shoplifting cooked ham and French rolls worth $1.50.

Flatware Given In Marinwood

Marinwood Association board of directors last night voted to donate 100 place settings of flatware to the Marinwood Community Center this year.

Vice President John Osborne said the exact cost is not known but should run somewhere between $50 and $75.

Osborne reported that the association broke even financially at the last New Year's Eve party.

come they need for a decent life in a greatly simplified and highly automated income maintenance program.'

The legislature authorized the study during the 1968 session. During the 10-month investigation, the staff experts contracted for help by two professional research firms and contracted numerous county welfare officials.

Assemblyman Eugene A. Chappie, D-Cool, former chairman of the Social Welfare Committee and author of the resolution ordering the study, said "the report shows that California is not making productive use of its $1.5 billion welfare expenditures."

happie, now head of the Rules Committee, said the major findings of the report are:

It costs five or six times as much to grant a California welfare dollar as the U. S. Social Security Administration spends for its payments.

"The paper blizzard in welfare administration is worse than I thought and welfare agencies are using highly paid professional people for jobs which could be handled by clerks and business machines," he said.

One out of every ten children in California is now on welfare and each receives less than $2 a day for all the necessities of life.

Sacramento Man Taken From Bay

A Sacramento man jumped into the bay from the Dock restaurant deck in Tiburon today, then swam from piling to piling to evade a deputy who heard the splash and went to the rescue, Tiburon police reported.

Police said the fire department launched a dinghy and rescued Rene Arrouzet, 20, about 20 minutes after he leaped into the water 1:05 a.m.

Closed Sessions Set By Trustees

Two closed meetings will be held next week by Tamalpais High School District trustees at 8 p.m. in the district office.

The board will meet Monday to give its negotiator, Supt. Chester G. Carlisle, instructions on negotiations with teachers on 1969-70 salary demands.

It will meet Thursday to review staff recommended tenure appointments. This means, Carlisle said, that the board is weighing rehiring or firing the group of 26 teachers who are ending their three-year probationary period. He added "I'm not recommending to the board that any of the 26 be fired."

Driver Booked As Marijuana Suspect

Marcia D. Perkins, 26, of 206 Aurora Road, Lagunitas, was booked on suspicion of possessing marijuana yesterday after her pickup truck was stopped for a defective brake light, the California Highway Patrol said.

The highway patrol said a plastic vial of suspected marijuana was found in her truck when it was stopped at 5:30 p.m. on Laurel Avenue in Ross. She posted $315 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Hearing Date Set In Marijuana Case

Ervin Hamilton Sutley Jr., 24, of 490 Penngrove Avenue, Petaluma, was released on his own recognizance yesterday after a hearing in the Central Municipal Court in Santa Rosa.

Sutley, chairman of the Sonoma County Peace and Freedom Party, has been charged with possession of marijuana and possession of marijuana for sale. He was arrested Sunday by Cotati police. A preliminary hearing will be set on March 10.

Hearing Is Held In Marijuana Case

Marsha Perkins, 26, of 206 Aurora Road, Lagunitas, yesterday was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of possessing marijuana. Plea entry was set for next Wednesday.

She was arrested by the California Highway Patrol Tuesday in Kentfield.

OBITUARIES

Louis C. Ferrario Dies At 82

Louis C. Ferrario, a long-time Mill Valley resident, died yesterday at a local hospital following a short illness. He was 82.

A native of Lonate Pozzolo, Italy, Ferrario came to Mill Valley in 1904. He lived at 102 East Blithedale Avenue for 45 years before moving to 144 Hillside Avenue last year.

He left Mill Valley twice to work on Alaskan railroads but returned to become track foreman for the Mount Tamalpais Railroad. He was the last employee of the railroad when it shut down in the early 1930s.

He worked fr the Marin Municipal Water District until 1941 and then was employed by the City of Mill Valley in its public works department until he retired seven years ago.

He is survived by his son, Louis C. Ferrario Jr. of Mill Valley; two daughters, Frances Bacchetti of Tracy and Linda Bannister of San Mateo, and three grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be at noon Saturday at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Mill Valley. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael. A Rosary will be recited at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapels in Mill Valley.

MRS. GERALDINE T. DE HAVEN

Requiem Mass for Geraldine T. De Haven, a resident of San Rafael since 1920, was offered today at St. Sylvester's Church, San Rafael, with burial in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Mrs. De Haven, 88, died Tuesday at a local convalescent home after a long illness.

A native of San Francisco, Mrs. De Haven was the daughter of Joseph River, one of the first settlers of Hayward. She was the widow of Bertrand De Haven, who was in the shipping business.

Survivors are two sons, Col. Warren W. McCarthy of San Anselmo and Bryan R. McCarthy of San Rafael; two daughters, Mrs. Geraldine Baum and Mrs. Nathalie McClatchy of Sacramento; six grandchildren, and two great-granchildren.

FERN MILTON

Funeral for Mrs. Fern A. Milton of 10 Sonoma Street, San Rafael, will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Patterson and O'Connell Funeral Home in San Mateo.

Mrs. Milton, 48, died Tuesday night at a local hospital following an illness.

Born in Sac City, Iowa, Mrs. Milton had lived in California for the past 29 years, moving to San Rafael seven months ago. She was formerly employed as an inspector for Lenkurt Electronics Co. in San Mateo.

She is survived by her husband, Kenneth O. Milton; a son, Robert R. Rice of Fremont, Alameda County; her stepmother, Mrs. Pearl Prentice of Sac City; a stepbrother, Jonathan Prentice of Sac City; a sister, Mrs. Ruth O'Keefe of Early, Iowa, and four grandchildren. Burial will be in Early, Iowa.

ROBERT BARSOCCHINI

Requiem Mass for Robert J. Barsocchini of San Mateo, slain brother of Frank J. Barsocchini of Kentfield, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Bartholomew's Catholic Church in San Mateo.

Barsocchini, 47, a property manager and developer, was shot to death in his office Tuesday. His business partner, Sam N. Garroto, was charged with the killing.

One of the major projects of the Barsocchini-Garroto firm was the Mills Square project in downtown San Mateo.

Besides his brother, Barsocchini is survived by his wife, Gloria; four sons, Robert, Peter, John and William, all of San Mateo; his father, Frank Barsocchini of San Mateo, and a sister, Mrs. Walter Miller of Sacramento.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Sneider and Sullivan Funeral Home at 977 South El Camino Real in San Mateo. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

CECELIA COLAPIETRO

Cecelia Colapietro, a Marin County resident for the past 60 years, died yesterday at her home following a long illness. She was 86.

A native ot Italy, Mrs. Colapietro came to Marin in 1909. She lived in Sausalito for five years before moving to Mill Valley where she lived at 404 East Blithedale Avenue for the past 55 years.

She is survived by four daughters, Rosie Markt of San Francisco; Angela Pierce of San Rafael; Cecelia Braga of Sonoma; Carmelia Gallagher of San Anselmo; one son, Carle Colapietro of San Anselmo, 13 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapels in Mill Valley. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the chapel.

FRANK PENICH

Funeral for Frank Penich of Atwater, Merced County, son of Anna Penich and brother of Diana Skorlich, both of Ross, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Penich, 52, a retired Air Force master sergeant, died Tuesday at his home. He had served in the Air Force 20 years.

Also surviving is a brother, Joseph, of Alhambra, Los Angeles County.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the mortuary. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

JACK WOOLL

Private funeral and burial will be held at sea in accordance with the wishes of lifelong Marin County resident Jack H. Wooll, 64, who died Monday evening in an Oakland hospital as a result of injuries suffered in an automotive accident.

Wooll, of 68 Blossom Drive, San Rafael, was born in San Quentin Village. A graduate of Stanford University, he served in the Navy as a lieutenant commander. For the past 20 years he worked as a marine superintendent at Oakland Army Base.

He is survived by his wife, Marjean, and a son, Robert A. Wooll, both of San Rafael.

Contributions to the Heart Fund or Guide Dogs for the Blind are proferred by the family.

Fulbright's Peace Talk Jeered Down

NEW YORK (AP) — A national peace luncheon yesterday turned into a war of words which drowned out an attempt to speak by Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., vigorous opponents of the war in Vietnam.

Fulbright, head of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, got up to speak before 2,000 persons at a National Convocation on the Challenge of Building Peace.

DROWNED OUT

Fulbright started to speak again but was drowned out by about half a dozen men and women wearing pig masks chanting "Ho, Ho, Ho Chi Minh, NLF is going to win."

"There is nothing I could possibly say that would be nearly as eloquent about the difficulties of achieving peace as you've seen here today," said Fulbright, as he left the rostrum and the New York Hilton Hotel.

The leader of the demonstration against Fulbright identified himself as Robin Palmer of Veterans and Reservists to End the War in Vietnam. Palmer was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., arose and he was allowed to speak.

ARMS CUT PLEA

McGovern urged a 10 per cent across-the-board cut in military spending for the 1970 fiscal year and using the funds to help solve domestic problems.

"The $8 or $9 billion savings in arms spending," he said, "far from weakening us, would give new vigor and health to the nation."

Earlier, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said that advocates of the Sentinel antiballistic missile system have failed to prove a need for the system.

The convocation approved by acclamation an appeal to President Nixon to "defer indefinitely any futher construction" of anti-missile sites.

Terrorist Bomb Hurts 22 On Israeli Campus

JERUSALEM, (AP) — A small explosive charge packed in a flower pot shattered the Hebrew University cafeteria today, wounding 22 Israeli students.

Nearly 250 students were in the room when the two-pound charge, apparently plastic, went off. Twelve young men and 10 women, most of them in their early 20s were wounded, authorities said.

Most of the injuries were slight.

An hour earlier a hand grenade was lobbed into the Israeli National Bank's branch in the occupied West Bank town of Al Bireh, north of Jerusalem. Several persons were injured.

Police at the university, which has 1,000 Americans among its 12,000 students, said there were "several arrests" but could not elaborate.

A small fire broke out after the explosion but was quickly extinguished.

The army also announced that an Israeli farmer was fatally wounded when his tractor ran over a mine 12 miles southeast of the Gaza Strip.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, suggested Israel scrap Egyptian and Jordanian laws in the Arab territories it occupies and institute its own legal and economic systems.

In a speech to a doctors' convention in Tel Aviv last night, Dayan also proposed that Jews settle in cities on the Arab west bank of the Jordan River. One of those cities, he said, should be Nablus, a center of Arab resistance, because "it would be absurd for Israel ever to leave that place."

Elsewhere in the Middle East:

Baghdad Radio announced more Iraqis are on trial for spying but it did not say how many, give the country for which they allegedly spied nor identify their religions. The broadcast said they had supplied an unidentified foreign power with "distorted information on Iraq's economy." Iraqis executed earlier this year on charges of spying for Israel were accused of passing military information.

President Gamal Abdul Nasser of Egypt was reported sending a special envoy to Damascus in an effort to help solve Syria's secrecy-shrouded power struggle.

Charges Filed In Drug Case

Misdemeanor charges were filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against two young women arrested early Sunday morning on suspicion of possession of marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia.

The charge of possession of a device for smoking narcotics was filed against Michelle Anne Sliney, 18, of 52 Oak Mountain Road, San Rafael, and Marsha Louise Mitchell, 19, of no fixed address.

Their cases were referred to the probation department for possible referral to juvenile court. They were ordered to return to court March 26.

Guard Units Stand By At Chapel Hill

Several hundred National Guardsmen were on standby duty near the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill campus today to back officials reopening a dining hall closed after a student clash.

A new 24-hour sit-in by whites backing black power demands was under way at Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass., and student unrest in New York State spread to the campus of the State University College at Geneseo.

A protest continued at Sarah Lawrence College. Sit-ins held their ground upstate at the University of Rochester and the Colgate Rochester Divinity School.

The dining hall at Chapel Hill was closed after fist fights erupted Tuesday between students conducting a "slowdown" to support striking food service workers and those who objected to the tactic.

Gov. Bob Scott told school officials to "take whatever steps are necessary" to reopen the hall and "keep the cafeteria lines open."

The students at Geneseo refused to leave the school's College Center and handed administration officials a list of demands including abolition of the college council, a board of overseers appointed by the governor.

The Sarah Lawrence protesters, 60 girls and four men, were demanding that plans for a tuition increase be canceled. They said the high fee was a bar to all but the wealthy.

Elsewhere:

HOLYOKE COMMUNITY COLLEGE—A sit-in demonstration by 30 Negro students at the Massachusetts school ended when they were promised a meeting with college president George E. Frost Jr. to discuss their demands.

MINNEAPOLIS—Three persons were arrested on charges stemming from the mid-January student takeover of a University of Minnesota building. Two others were being sought. Some 200 persons protested the arrests at City Hall.

NEWARK—Negro students at Rutgers University, where they seized a building for three days last week, promised the "close the school down" if their demands are not met.

BOULDER, Colo.—Four persons were charged with violation of the state's new campus disorders law in the wake of Monday night's screaming protest during a speech by S. I. Hayakawa at the University of Colorado.

East Again Closes Main Berlin Highway

BERLIN (UPI)—The Communists closed the West's main highway to West Berlin for three hours today and a U.S. Army train was reported shot at as it moved across East Germany.

The action came as the Communists claimed credit for avoiding a showdown with the Allies over the West German presidential election held in the isolated city yesterday.

Armed East German soldiers sealed off both ends of the 110-mile roadway linking West Berlin with West Germany for three hours beginning at 9 a.m.

The United States and its Allies in Berlin protested the move but the Russians replied the blockade was necessary because of Communist military exercises in the area through which the highway passes.

West German customs officers said at least one pistol shot was fired at the train en route from Berlin to Frankfurt.

But an American spokesman said that while a window was broken and its frame dented, "it definitely was not a bullet" that caused the damage. No injuries were reported.

Today's traffic blockade was the sixth in as many days. Western officials have charged the Communists with deliberately harassing traffic to and from West Berlin because of East German and Soviet anger over the city's use for the West German election.

The United States again defied Communist threats against Allied air corridors into Berlin and flew West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger back to Bonn on a U.S. Air Force C118 transport. Kiesinger was in Berlin for the election.

The Communists sealed off all of West Berlin's highway lifelines for four hours yesterday while West German delegates elected Gustav Heinemann as their new president. It was the longest blockade in four years.

But despite repeated threats and warnings of serious consequences from the Communists because of the election, little else occurred.

Marinite Replaced On Hospital Panel

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday appointed Irvin Powers of Borrego Spring, San Diego County ,to replace San Rafael architect H. David Sokoloff on the state Department of Public Health's advisory hospital council.

Sokoloff, of 101 Oak Ridge Road, was appointed to the unpaid council seat in 1965 by former Gov. Edmund G. Brown. Sokoloff is a Democrat and Powers a Republican.

Four Seniors To Seek Awards

Four Novato High School seniors have been selected in four fields for the Bank of America awards program, according to counselor Ralph Del Sarto.

These students and their fields are: Marcy A. Eisenhauer, science and mathematics; Michael K. Magill, fine art; Gregory Rockwell, liberal arts, and Craig Bilsborough, vocational arts.

These students will compete in the county-wide competition in San Rafael, the date to be announced. The four top winners there will compete with other winners in the Bay Area, he said.

The 1960 census showed that 96 of every 100 Utah residents were born in the United States.

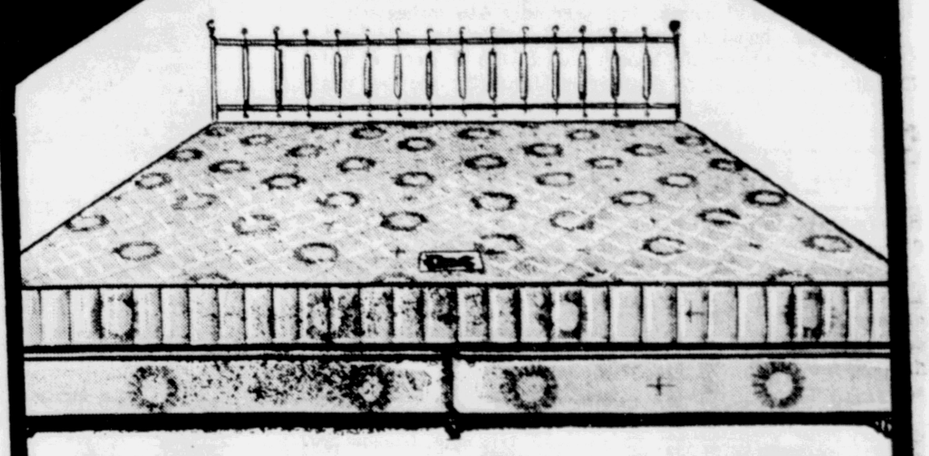

Frank Swett, 99 Dies; Knew Muir

MARTINEZ (AP) — Frank Swett, one-time farm official who had been a companion of conservationist John Muir, died yesterday. He was 99.

An Alhambra Valley rancher, Swett was former president and general manager of the California Pear Growers Association and former president of the Grape Growers Association.

He was the son of John Swett, a pioneer San Francisco school teacher who became state superintendent of public instruction.

WHEN WILL AMERICA LAND A MAN ON THE MOON?

WIN A 2-Week Trip For Two Anywhere On Earth!

What To Do: Fill out the coupon (or use a postal card facsimile) to guess the year, month, day, hour, minute and the second that the first American Astronaut steps onto the surface of the moon.

2ND PRIZE: 2-week trip for two to Cocoa Beach, Cape Kennedy
3RD PRIZE: $100.00 cash

Rules

1. Any man, woman or child in the U.S. is eligible to enter except employees and families of the Independent-Journal and Today, the newspaper of Cape Kennedy.
2. Deadline for entries is May 1, 1969. Entries must contain year, month, day, hour, minute and second to be eligible. Official time will be that registered by NASA as the time the first astronaut steps onto the surface of the moon. If astronauts do not leave the lunar module, the time will be the instant the module landed on moon's surface.
3. The winning entry will be that with the exact EASTERN STANDARD TIME or closest to it. Do not worry about difference in the time zones. The time you send in will be judged on the assumption it is Eastern Standard Time.
4. Entries must be mailed to: MOON CONTEST, INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL, P.O. BOX 330, San Rafael, Calif. 94902. Use entry blank herewith or facsimile.
5. First prize: Two-week all-expense paid vacation for two anywhere on earth winner selects. Trip must be completed within one year from date of notification. Second prize: Two-week all-expense paid vacation for two to Cocoa Beach at Cape Kennedy to view future space shot. Third prize, $100 cash. Decision of the judges will be final.

MORE RAIN, COOLNESS AHEAD

Maps prepared from the U.S. Weather Bureau's 30-day forecasts indicate wet, cooler than average weather in store for Marin County through March 31. Average rainfall for the month is 4.92 inches; last year only 4.06 inches fell in San Rafael, bunched mostly during a three-day midmonth storm. Last year the month closed with a week of hot weather, peaking at 82 degrees on March 29; the low was 43 on March 21 and 22, with averages of 68.9 and 46.7 for the month. (AP Wirephoto Maps)

Foster Parents Forming Group

An organization for foster parents in Marin was formed last night in an effort to garner support for the program.

One of the goals of the group will be to recruit new foster homes, according to Mrs. Robert Babik, a foster parent. She said there are currently 22 teen-agers who need foster homes in Marin.

The group also plans to sponsor a clothing drive to provide wearing apparel for foster children who have none and a furniture campaign so foster parents will be able to take more children.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. March 18 at the Civic Center. Additional information is available from Mel Augustine of the Marin County Probation Department.

PG&E To Combine Two Marin Offices

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. announced yesterday that its Sausalito office will be consolidated on June 2 with the Mill Valley office to expedite service in Southern Marin.

Richard C. Conrad, manager for the area, said Sausalito customers may continue to pay their bills in Sausalito at Homestead Savings and Loan Association, 675 Bridgeway.

A brief for attorneys

Years of study, bar exams. Years of building a practice. An eye for facts, a keen, evaluative mind. As Lincoln said, time is the lawyer's only stock in trade. Go to him when you have a legal problem—or maybe you'll have more problems! To make life a bit easier for attorneys, the I-J Legal Advertising Dept. offers precise, accurate handling of all legal notices. We even proofread 'em twice before printing. Supply a free court calendar each week. We record and file documents when requested, pick up notices at our box in the Courthouse. And, mirabile dictu! Any attorney's legal notice reaches 71% of all homes in Marin . . . because of the I-J's county-wide circulation. So does his firm name. Which might brief YOU, when you need a good attorney!

Strawberry Rec Panel Joins Missile Opponents

The Strawberry Recreation District board last night joined the parade of Marin County groups which oppose installation of antiballistic missile systems near "any surrounding populated areas" and "particularly on Wolfback Ridge," according to secretary Jeanne Heick.

Mrs. Heick said the resolution was sent to all concerned parties including congress and the Marin County board of supervisors.

Directors approved a $10 monthly salary for director Manuel K. Lehua, who also acts as the district's property manager, insteead of an expense account which he had requested, Mrs. Heick said. Directors do not receive salaries for regular board duties.

The board also asked a representative from the Ray Schultz insurance agency in San Rafael to investigate the cost of increasing the district's liability insurance to a $5 million umbrella policy. The district now has a standard policy which pays $100,000 to $300,000 per incident up to a maximum of $1.5 million, Mrs. Heick said.

Directors also agreed to purchase a $4,000 fire and damage insurance policy for the district's new dock and pier at Strawberry Point at an annual cost of $40.

Third District Supervisor Michael Wornum met with the board to discuss subjects of mutual interest including cable television, county planning problems, dog controls and the missile system.

The board will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. March 19 at Strawberry Point School it complete its agenda from last night.

Rescue Workers Get Water To Trapped Miner

LARK, Utah (AP) — Rescue workers drilled through some 35 feet of rock today and delivered water to a miner trapped nearly five days inside a zinc-lead mine in Northern Utah.

Bill Hawes, one of the rescue workers, said they had given William (Buck) Jones several two-ounce shots of water and hoped to get food to him soon, including bullion, eggnog, coffee and cream of wheat.

Hawes said a light and water in tubes were pushed through the small opening made with a diamond bit.

Hawes said Jones was helping rescue workers by describing his enclosure now that he had some light.

John Bordon, another rescue worker, said Jones was using a wooden pick handle and a part of a drill he had with him to prop up the ceiling and walls of his enclosure to prevent further cave-ins.

College Bonds Lose In Santa Barbara

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — Voters have turned down a $5.5 million bond issue proposal for the Santa Barbara Junior College District.

Returns yesterday from the special election showed 8,490 yes against 5,809 no votes, short of the needed two-thirds majority. Funds were sought to increase the college's capacity from 3,000 to 5,000 students.

Elevator Traps Greenbrae Couple

A Greenbrae couple was trapped in an elevator for 35 minutes yesterday after strong winds knocked a tree limb onto a power line at 40 Via La Cumbre.

Four Larkspur firemen rescued Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Rice of 216 Lower Via Casitas by removing the elevator door, dropping down a ladder and allowing the couple to climb out.

Fire Lt. Gordon Bell, said the Rices were caught between the first and second floor of their apartment building and, when rescued, were "very happy to be out."

The power failure knocked out electricity for 1,600 Greenbrae and Bret Harte area homes from 6:39 until 7:58 p.m., Leonard O. Robertson, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. district electric superintendent, said.

There were two other power failures yesterday in Marin. A transformer failed in Mariner Highlands causing 85 homeowners to lose power from 4:08 to 4:53 p.m. and a partially sawed tree, felled by the wind, cut power from 300 Mill Valleyans from 6:45 to 7:55 p.m. when the tree fell on Ethel Avenue.

New Policy Sought On Needy Teen Aid

A bill that would allow teen-aged members of families on aid to keep more of their own earnings was recommended last night by the task force on Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

The bill, proposed by Winifred Frederick of Lagunitas, would allow a teen-ager to keep the first $75 of his earnings per month. The proposal will be sent to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for backing.

Under present law, a teen-ager is allowed to keep only one-half of his earnings up to a maximum of $50, and the rest is computed as part of the family income.

The AFCD task force also backed another bill, endorsed by Marin County supervisors, that would increase state participation in AFDC grants.

Task force members, headed by chairman Lottie Mae Reed of San Rafael, complained to Donald O. Stutsman, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority, that families on aid must pay higher rent than non-aid families. Stutsman explained that the policy cannot be changed because the housing authority needs that differential to meet expenses.

Mrs. Georgette Vilas, chairman of the education committee, announced that questionnaires will be mailed to AFDC mothers to see who are available for employment.

Pueblo Files Not Sunk, Sailor Says

CORONADO (UPI) — A cook from the USS Pueblo says he walked over "10 or more" bags stuffed with the ship's secret papers when the North Koreans led him into captivity.

Commissaryman 2/c Ralph H. Reed, 30, Danville, Pa., yesterday told of the documents' apparent capture before a five-admiral court of inquiry into the Pueblo affair.

The five admirals appeared startled when Reed told them he saw 10 orange bags crammed with papers lying on the deck outside the espionage unit during the North Korean attack.

The bags were weighted so they would sink in the sea when thrown overboard. They apparently were not disposed of because the North Koreans had the Pueblo's decks covered with machine guns.

An authority on maritime law told the court yesterday the North Koreans had no legal right to seize the Pueblo even if she had been in North Korean waters.

"A warship enjoys legal immunity, even when it is in the territorial waters of a foreign state," Capt. John Brock, of the Navy judge advocate general's office, told the court.

He said any country has the right to order a foreign man of war out of its waters but no right to board or search it.

Special Bus Lane To Panel

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to reserve freeway lanes for buses was referred yesterday to the Senate Transportation Committee's subcommittee on mass transit.

Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, is one of the three members of the subcommittee, headed by Sen. James R. Mills, D-San Diego. The third member is Sen. Joseph M. Kennick, D-Long Beach.

The author of the bill (SB 43) is Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando. He has tried in past legislative sessions for passage of similar bills, but highway interests have defeated them.

Advocates of public transit argue that buses cannot lure riders from their cars if the buses have to use the same congested lanes as the cars.

Variances And Permits Granted

The Sausalito Planning Commission last night approved all four applications before it — two variances and two use permits.

The First Baptist Church was granted a use permit to continue using the church at 131 Filbert Avenue and a variance for a belfry and cross eight feet above the roof line.

Bank of America at 750 Bridgeway was granted a variance for signs on the building totaling three square feet more than the 150 square foot limit.

A variance was granted Fred DeCook to allow a six by three foot intrusion into a parking deck at 190 Cazneau Avenue to allow a tree to remain.

121,552 Vehicles Listed In Marin

A total of 121,552 vehicles were registered in Marin last year and 141,698 in Sonoma, according to the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The cars, trucks, trailers and motorcycles are part of 12,668,479 registered throughout the state last year, a 6.3 per cent increase over 1967, the department said.

An additional 528,205 cars were registered last year, bringing the car total to 9,469,960.

Hub Home Looted Of Coins, Necklace

Burglars entered the unlocked home of Mrs. Dorotea Botermans of San Anselmo yesterday and stole $50 in coins, $95 in currency and an Indian necklace valued at $66, police reported today.

Entry was made through the front door of the residence at 45 Fernwood Drive between 12:15 and 2:30 p.m., Mrs. Botermans told police.

Separate Youth Cells Held A Must

WASHINGTON (AP) — Animals caged in zoos receive better care than dependent or delinquent children housed in many of the nation's reform institutions, a penal reform leader told Congress today.

"If someone suggested that we should treat delinquents like animals, a lot of people would raise their eyebrows," Executive Director Joseph R. Rowan of the John Howard Association of Illinois told a Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee.

"However," he added, "that suggestion is not all bad, believe it or not."

"Most zoos follow certain recognized standards and yet most jurisdictions for the care of youngsters in trouble that I have been acquainted with throughout the country in the past 20 years do not adhere to minimum standards—particularly in hiring and training staffs," Rowan said.

In zoos, Rowan added, incompatible animals are separated. "Yet, we are keeping delinquent children in jails—many of them, cages—which house adult inmates mainly," he contended.

The subcommittee's probe of prison conditions focused today on Chicago's Cook County Jail, described by subcommittee chairman Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., as "another black hole in this nation's penal system."

Rowan, whose organization studied Cook County Jail conditions, said while it "was a jungle, there has been noticeable improvement in the last year. But while the situation has improved 100 per cent, it still has 100 per cent to go."

"Chicago still has both groups housed in the same facility where dependent and neglected children are negatively influenced," he said.

Noting that good example of qualified staff members can influence people with problems but that many juvenile facilities don't have them, Rowan asked, "Is it any wonder that we are operating 'crime hatcheries' in many places?"

Charges Halted In Money Case

Charges were dismissed yesterday in Marin Superior Court against Leo Brunson, 30, of Vallejo, accused of having a stolen money order in his possession because Brunson is already serving a state prison sentence.

Judge Harold J. Haley dismissed the charge at the request of the district attorney's office, which said that Brunson is serving a six month to 10 year sentence for a felony credit card conviction in Solano County.

Brunson is also on federal probation until 1970 for smuggling marijuana, according to Assistant District Attorney Leonard Shaw.

Trip Canceled

A guided tour of Bolinas Lagoon scheduled for tomorrow for members of the California Marine Parks and Harbors Association has been canceled because the guests will be unable to make the trip, consultant Norman T. Gilroy of the Bolinas Harbor District announced today.

Lucchesi Park Plans Get Final Approval

Final plans for the development of a 31-acre Lucchesi Park were approved last night by the Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission.

Landscape architect Sidney M. Lewin of San Rafael reviewed the plans and presented slides of existing parks.

Included in the park on Maria Drive near East Washington Street and South McDowell Boulevard will be a 3.5-acre lake that could be stocked with fish with an area set aside for sailing miniature sailboats.

Also planned are several flexible baseball diamonds, four tennis courts, handball court, soccer or field hockey field, badminton, volleyball, pathways for strolling and benches.

Lewin said the park is designed to serve all age groups and said land has been reserved for a future senior citizens center and a community center. Picnic areas for 500 persons and parking for 370 cars is also included.

In approving the plans, the commission will recommend approval by the city council. The council has been considering a $100,000 bond issue for the June 10 municipal election to begin the project.

Recreation, Music, Parks Commission Also:

CONSULTANT — Approved recommendation to city council that Lewin be retained as a professional consultant. Members said he could assist in updating the general park plan, develop a priority of projects, plan development of a park at La Tercera School and assist in securing federal funds.

CHERRY VALLEY — Granted request of Councilman Robert S. Lipman speaking for the Cherry Valley Parent-Teachers Association that a summer recreational program be organized at the school. Parks director Richard W. Shollenberger said an additional $1,200 will be added to the operating budget to provide an eight-week supervised program.

BUDGET — Approved the 1969-70 budget request of $94,000 and another $24,000 for maintenance of the municipal swimming pool.

Collegians To Vote For Top Officers

College of Marin students will go to the polls today and tomorrow in an unusual mid-semester election of a president and vice president.

The election was necessitated when student body president David Brown and vice president Harry Gilbert were disqualified from office Feb. 20, Brown for having a .80 grade point average when a 2.0, or C, is required and Gilbert for carrying six and one-half units when 12 are required.

Brown is out of the race because of grades but Gilbert, now carrying 12 units, is running.

Presidential candidates are Conrad L. Harris II, Charles Maltzahn and Michael Conroy. Gilbert vies with Del-Mar Jackson for vice president.

Summer School Program Set

The Marin Country Day School has announced its summer program, to begin on June 23 and run through Aug. 1.

The program will be divided into two three-week sessions, one on the school's Corte Madera campus with opportunities for excursions and overnight trips. The other offers five-day camping expeditions to locations of archaeological, ecological and scenic interest.

Information on the program, open to youngsters up to the eighth grade, may be obtaining from Roy Yates, director of the summer program, at Marin Country Day School, Corte Madera.

Parking District Urged For Tiburon

Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution asking the Tiburon City Council to investigate the possibility of forming a parking district to handle the city's parking needs, president Ben. A Farlatti reported.

Farlatti said the board Tuesday night urged the council to resolve the city's parking problems by a district or any other feasible method.

Birth Defects Grants Given

The Marin chapter of the March of Dimes National Foundation has given $6,400 in grants to the University of California Board of Regents, according to Mrs. Justin L. Williams, head of the chapter's genetics evaluation and counseling committee.

The grants, to be administered by Dr. Charles J. Epstein of the University of California Clinic in San Francisco and director of the genetics clinic at Ross General Hospital, are all for work in birth defects research.

A grant of $3,000 was made for development of prenatal diagnostic techniques to spot possible defects before birth and for treatment of children with birth defects.

A grant of $1,800 will support two 10-week research fellowships and a grant of $1,600 was made to pay for travel and other expenses for visiting lecturers on birth defects.

Three Marin Youths Questioned On Drugs

Three North Marin Continuation High School students were said to have had marijuana on a field trip Tuesday to the San Francisco Aquarium, Joseph D. Gargiulo, principal, reported yesterday to Novato police.

Officer A. W. Brenner of the San Francisco police told Gargiulo that he took a plastic packet of a substance thought to be marijuana from the three students when they were separated from the group. He released them to Gargiulo's custody and said no action would be taken.

Five Girls Involved In Shoplifting

A shoplifiting ring of Novato High School girls was uncovered yesterday by Novato police.

So far, five girls, 15 and 16 years old, are involved. Four from Hamilton Air Force Base and one from Novato, according to police.

The girls entered stores on their lunch hours and stole items for themselves and their friends reported the police who said they have recovered items valued between $25 and $30.

The stores at which the girls were shoplifting, police said, are: Short Stop Inc. at 1410 South Novato Boulevard, W. T. Grant Co. at 928 Diablo Avenue, Glen 5 and 10 at 1535 South Novato Boulevard and McCarthy the Apothecary at 1535 South Novato Boulevard.

Sculpture Stolen

A $1,500 sculpture was stolen during the past two weeks from the Unitarian Fellowship of Marin at 240 Channing Way, San Rafael, according to police. Also taken from the church were a photograph and a microphone with a total value of $100.

Sirhan Tells Of Blackout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Sirhan said today that he does not remember shooting Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

He testified at his murder trial that he wandered into the Ambassador Hotel on primary election night last year, had had several drinks, felt himself too intoxicated to drive his car, and went looking for coffee.

He was in the kitchen area, he said, when he found some cups.

"What happened next?" asked defense attorney Grant B. Cooper.

"I don't remember."

"What is the next thing you remember?"

"I remember being choked."

Two dozen witnesses testified Sirhan fired eight shots in a kitchen pantry early the morning of last June 5. Three struck Kennedy, who had just won California's democratic presidential primary. Kennedy died the next day.

Earlier, Sirhan said his presence at the hotel was due to an accident -- his mistaken reading of a newspaper advertisement of the day of the slaying last June.

The advertisement announced a pro-Israel parade, the "Miracle March for Israel" marking the first anniversary of the six-day war between the Jews and the Arabs in 1968.

The parade was scheduled for the next day but Sirhan, a Jordanian-born Arab, testified at his murder trial yesterday he thought it was that night.

He said upon reading the announcement "The fire started burning inside me" and he set off for downtown Los Angeles "driving like a maniac."

BEEPING SOUNDS

How Hamilton Rescue Teams Reach Target

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

The faint radio beep flickered up from the snow-covered wilderness of the high Sierra Nevada, then faded out again.

A few seconds later, the beeping sound returned on one of the radio frequencies reserved for emergency calls.

Aloft, the men and sophisticated equipment of Air Force Rescue 50980 moved to home in on the signal.

There was a slim chance — more of a hope, really — that the wavering radio beam would lead the air rescue men from Hamilton Air Force Base to two Navy pilots whose plane disappeared into the wilderness in the Mount Whitney area three days earlier.

"It's probably that radio they dropped yesterday," said co-pilot Capt. Phillip E. Jach as the lumbering HC130 rescue plane's pilot, Maj. Robert M. Clark, headed AF50980 towards the origin point of the radio signal.

It was indeed the radio another search plane had dropped the day before to a two-man snow survey team. The men, two tiny specks sighted a few minutes later by the plane's crew, apparently had neglected to turn the radio beeper signal off. Clark decided he could not fly the huge rescue plane low enough to drop a note and radio attempts to contact the ground party were unsuccessful, so the beeping continued to fade in and out.

Unfortunately, there was no beeping sound leading Clark's crew, part of the 41st Aerospace Search and Rescue Squadron at Hamilton, to the lost Navy pilots, who flew out of Lemore Naval Air Station near Fresno. Below-zero temperatures, high winds and new snows gave little hope for their survival.

That exercise last week was just another frustration in a long frustrating day for Clark's crew and the dozen or so Navy pilots whose planes had swarmed over the area since dawn.

Earlier in the day, the HC130, orbiting as the mother ship for the search over a vast area into which the missing plane might have crashed, had checked numerous reports which might lead them to the Navy men.

None was successful. A sighting of smoke turned out to be fast-forming and fast-disappearing wispy clouds on the mountain peaks.

A flash of reflected metal, spotted by the rescue ship's sharp-eyed loadmaster, T/Sgt. Richard G. Homan, was a tiny shack with a metal roof. A discoloration in the snow and some broken trees, also spotted by Homan from 16,500 feet, apparently were the result of landslides. So was a similar sighting later in the day by a Navy searcher.

Earlier, the men in the command ship experienced a few tense moments when a Navy pilot reported he was experiencing mechanical difficulties, then lost radio contact.

Another Navy jet had crashed in the search two days before and the two pilots had to be plucked from a snowy mountainside in a dangerous rescue that started when a paramedic jumped to them about sundown and did not end until shortly after dawn the next morning.

That was the kind of day it was. "Some days are like that," said Clark, whose plane was in the air for 10 solid hours.

"It's like this 90 per cent of the time," added Sgt. John H. Walther, one of the two pararescue men — "PJ's" — who would jump with survival supplies to "do whatever has to be done" if the wreckage or the men were sighted. "Then you find someone and it makes it all worthwhile."

The motto of the rescue unit from Hamilton is "That others may live."

Searches such as the one Clark's crew flew last week are directed by the Western Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center headquartered at Hamilton. The center is responsible for all search and rescue missions over land in the western United States and inland Alaska.

SEARCH AND RESCUE — Crewmembers of the 41st Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron are briefed on their latest search mission at the operations center of Western Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center at Hamilton Air Force Base. From left to right are Capt. Dwight Kennard, a rescue coordinator, Capt. James Cain, a pilot with the 41st, Capt. Patrick Whitaker, a 41st navigator, Maj. A. P. Walton, rescue coordinator, and SSgt. John Junk, of rescue control. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

It directed more than 200 missions involving both military and civilian craft last year and so far this year — "one of the busiest we've had," according to center officials — there have been 65 missions, an average of more than one a day.

The missions range from simple intercept and escort missions aiding airplanes in trouble to round-the-clock operations searching for missing craft.

In the last two weeks, Hamilton and other military fliers have searched for three military planes and a civilian DC3 carrying 35 people, all missing over the Sierra, plus a couple of small private planes.

The length of the search in each case varies, depending on conditions. Officials said the search for the Navy plane would continue until the possible crash area is 100 per cent covered by "effective search."

New snow in the high mountains may mean the plane, and bodies, cannot be found until spring. They may never be found. Maj. Clark said there are probably 200 to 300 wrecks in the mountains between Mount Whitney and Lake Tahoe, many of them still uncharted.

The 41st, one of three statewide rescue squadrons, has 192 men and operates four of the specially designed Hercules rescue planes. Generally, according to Lt. Gerald Flynn, a flight navigator and the unit's information officer, the 41st fulfills primarily a training function, with many air rescue experts using Hamilton as a waystop between the U.S. and Vietnam.

There has been little training recently, he said, because of the unusually heavy number of missing aircraft.

Leased Housing Has 125 Operating Units

Marin's leased housing program, begun last June to make existing units available to low income families and elderly and disabled persons, now has 125 units in operation.

Neil B. Little, manager of the program for the Marin County Housing Authority, reported the units have been leased for a total of $16.359 per month, with tenants paying 39 per cent of the rent.

The remaining 60 per cent, $9,979, is provided through a contract with the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Elderly and disabled families were housed in 47 of the units as of March 1, while other low income families occupied 78 units, Little reported. Units range from studio size to four bedrooms.

Leased units include nine in Sausalito, 12 in Mill Valley, 35 in Novato, 58 in San Rafael, one in San Anselmo, four in Fairfax and eight in West Marin. Tiburon and Corte Madera have also approved the leased housing program and the Larkspur City Council is studying it.

At the end of 1968, Little said in his annual report, a total of 440 applications had been received for leased housing and 251 were still active.

Directors Set Date For Opening Of Pool

Marinwood Community Center swimming pool will open March 29 for use on weekends and holidays, the Marinwood Community Services District directors decided last night.

The pool will open for full-time use June 13, then revert back to weekends and holidays when school begins in September. Closing date for the pool was set for Nov. 2.

The community services district directors, headed by chairman Donald A. Duerr, decided that pool fees will remain unchanged. For Marinwood residents, family membership is $35 per year and for single individuals, $17.50. For non-residents, family membership is $100 and singles $55.

Genevieve Bolding, general manager-secretary, announced that pool expenses for the year will be about $10,900, and fees will cover them.

The directors also approved a revised schedule of rental fees for use of the community center building. The new schedule calls for slightly higher fees and are based more on the number of hours used rather than on a flat fee.

The Marinwood CSC Board Also:

SALARIES — Raised the pay for senior citizens coordinator Elizabeth Boissevain from $2 to $2.50 an hour, and for Tiny Tots director Barbara Eddy from $3 to $3.50 an hour.

EQUIPMENT — Authorized $250 for purchase of spray equipment; $150 to buy a pump to pump out water which seeps into heating ducts under the community center building, and $225 to install a water meter and connecting lines for the picnic area.

TENNIS — Hired Claudia Wood as tennis instructor for youngsters at $1.50 per hour.

PARKS MEETING — Heard from Ralph E. Tischbern, chairman of the parks and recreation commission, that the commission meeting, postponed from this week, will be held at 8 p.m. next Wednesday.

Bus System Route Study Is Due Soon

The study of an optimum bus system, showing the routes in downtown San Francisco that would best serve Marin commuters, will be ready in about a month, transit district manager Seymour Kashin reported to the Marin County Transit District directors last night.

A commuter survey conducted last year showed that Marin commuters go to the Presidio, University of California Medical Center, and the State Building near the Civic Center, as well as to the financial district.

Kashin asked for a consultant to be hired to work out the accounting for the bus system at a maximum cost of $14,000, but the directors postponed decision until 9 a.m. March 18.

The Marin County Transit District directors also:

TRI-PARTITE — Recommended to the board of supervisors that Corte Madera Mayor Edward W. Colthurst be named as the third Marin member to the Marin Tri-Partite Transportation Committee. The other two members are Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr.

CAPOTS — Approved membership in the California Association of Publicly owned Transit Systems, which costs $100 per year.

LEGISLATION — Discussed several legislative bills and gave strong support to AB 584 by Assemblyman John Foran, D-San Francisco, which would authorize the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District to operate all modes of transportation between Marin and San Francisco.

Psychiatric Service Program Is Approved

Marin Hospital District directors last night approved an emergency psychiatric service program to provide service on weekday evenings and weekends at the Community Mental Health Center.

The center has been providing this kind of care since it opened last November but this is the first time there has been an official program, administrator Ray K. Bolinger, said today.

By resolution, directors approved a six-month program, subject to review in six months. Cost for this period is $19,200.

Eight psychiatrists will be involved. One will be on duty night every other week plus every eighth weekend.

Emergency weekday hours are from 5 p.m. to 8:30 a.m. Monday through Thursday, while weekend hours start at 5 p.m., Friday, and end 8:30 a.m., Monday.

The Marin Hospital District Board Also:

PARTIAL CARE — Approved the following schedule of charges for partial care at the Community Mental Health Center: 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. with no meals, $20; from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., no meals, $20; from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. with one meal, $20; from 6 p.m. to 8 a.m., including two meals, $40; single schedule group activity such as psycho drama, $10.

GIFT — Received $1,000 in Gulf Oil stock from Mrs. Helen L. Carrigan, a gift to the Community Mental Health Center.

FOUNDERS AUXILIARY — Heard that the Founders Auxiliary of the Marin General Hospital volunteers raised $1,650 at its Feb. 14 founders tea and that the Founders Jack and Jill branch are developing a program called "play therapists" where high school girls will visit and play with pediatric patients.

STAFF PRIVILEGES — Approved seven Marin doctors for staff privileges. They are: David P. Black, courtesy, psychiatry; Howard L. Lang, associate, obestetrics and gynecology; Julian M. Lifschiz, courtesy, dentistry; George J. Monteverdi, associate, pediatrics; Harold J. Richards, associate, dermatology; Mark M. Rubenstein, associate, pediatrics and Edward L. Spencer, courtesy, neurology.

SENATE BILL 334 — Agreed to seek legal counsel on Senate bill 334 to see if it would benefit the district. The bill would implement Proposition 5 which gives the state authority to insure construction loans for hospitals.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to March 26. The board will not meet March 25, its regular meeting date, since some members will be out of town.

Home Is Looted

Fishing equipment and a sound amplifier, valued at a total of $333, were stolen during Tuesday night from the home of Bob J. Palmer at 523 D Street, San Rafael, police said. Palmer reported the items were in the hall and living room.

Bedroom Tax Gains Favor In Petaluma

A limited building tax to assist the Petaluma Parks Department in acquiring and developing small, neighborhood parks won approval from the city council yesterday in study session.

The revenue plan, called a "bedroom tax" will charge unit, plus $20 per bedroom with a maximum charge of $80. The proposed ordinance also allows developers to dedicate park land which can be accepted in lieu of tax funds at the discretion of the city council. The ordinance will be introduced at the March 17 meeting.

In discussing the measure at its regular Monday meeting, the council said it felt the tax may not be high enough to carry out park projects and discussed setting fees as high as $400 per unit.

J. L. O'Neel, of Young America Homes, Inc., a major Petaluma building firm, told the council that any tax over $100 would be "out of the question" and subject to court suits.

"We'll agree that neighborhood parks help to sell houses, but a $400 charge would be the highest in the area," O'Neel said. "Of course the tax would be passed on to the buyer. With the tremendous increase in building costs in Marin and Sonoma counties, such a fee could not be absorbed by the builder."

After further consideration, the council agreed that the $80 charge would be adequate to improve the neighborhood park system and that larger projects such as the 30-acre Lucchesi Park would have to be financed through a bond issue.

The council spoke of continuing the arrangement with the Petaluma city schools and Old Adobe School District to share costs in developing parks adjacent to school sites.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said the Old Adobe district has three acres of undeveloped land at La Tercera School which could be improved in a joint project. Councilmen agreed that by purchasing an additional three acres for access and open space, a park could be developed to serve the area.

Under the ordinance, fees collected must be spent on parks within a three-quarter mile radius of the living unit.

Parks Director Richard W. Shollenberger said funds derived from the tax eventually might be used to obtain federal open space grants on a matching basis.

California is approximately 775 miles from north to south and 235 miles at its maximum width.

Marriage Afoul Of African Law

Joseph Jacquesson, a 25-year-old Transvaal businessman, is classified Indian. His wife Barbara is classified white. Under South African law, both are guilty of an offense if they attempt to have intercourse.

The couple appeared in court yesterday morning charged under South Africa's Immorality Act.

Application was made to have the case postponed to March 27. Counsel for Jacquesson said that his client had applied to the race classification board to be reclassified as white.

It was not known when the board would hear the application.

Gang Attacks High School's Baseball Team

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A band of Negro youths attacked the coach and 14 members of the all-white Lick Wilmerding High School baseball team as it practiced yesterday at Ocean View Playground.

"This is our park. Go away, whitey," the 60 youths yelled as the brawl started.

Coach Darrell Smith suffered back, arm and neck injuries. He and three other players were hospitalized.

The outnumbered team was rescued by a Park Department truck and a number of tree cutters who drove them back to their school.

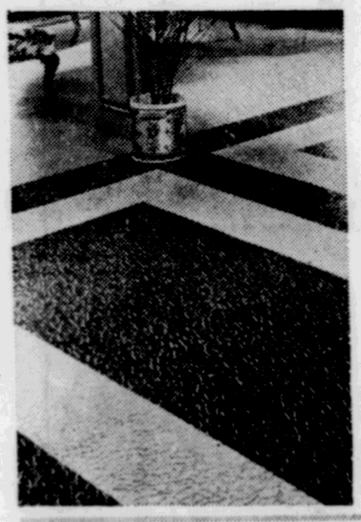

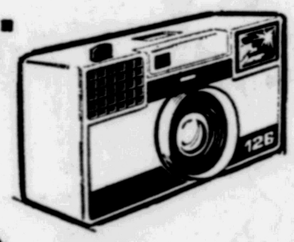

Patrolman Julius Long said some of the attacking youths swung tire chains and clubs.

It was the second high school-level racial outbreak in three days in San Francisco.

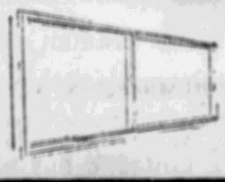

The other incident was a melee at Kezar Pavilion where the all-white Sacred Heart High School basketball team defeated Woodrow Wilson High School for the city championship Monday. Wilson has white and Negro students.

Oak Road Widening Compromise Reached

After a year of discussion culminating in a two-hour debate last night, the Larkspur City Council finally adopted a compromise plan for widening Oak Road which seemed to satisfy both the council and the residents of the area.

What to do with Redwood Avenue, which has been the bone of contention in the matter, was more or less left for the future.

City engineer Roy Hoffman presented a plan to widen Redwood to 26 feet by filling downhill-side property owned by Albert A. Drennan. Drennan's consultant, Norman T. Gilroy, showed another plan which would widen Redwood to 22 feet by using land on both sides and provide off-street parking instead of a parking lane.

Drennan had objected to his ravine being filled, saying it would destroy a creek and stand of trees. Although a neighbor described the creek as more of a "trickle" even during the rainy season, the council finally agreed to save most of it.

Drennan in exchange said he would allow the city to dump dirt from a cut to be made on Oak Road on the upper and lower portions of his property. The creek will be piped under these filled areas but will run freely directly behind his home.

When the council at one point in the evening seemed ready to adopt the city engineer's plan, Gilroy said the difference in cost between the two plans "would be in attorneys' fees," indicating his client would sue.

He also argued that the council had a duty to "protect the environment," and Drennan agreed that it would be "like peddling his sister on the street" to agree to let his creek be filled.

The council finally voted to call for bids on the Oak Road project only, asking estimates on differences in cost in dumping the fill in various places and hauling part of it away.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

REZONING — Introduced an ordinance rezoning the Pell property on Murray Avenue from R-3 to R-1.

FAMILY — Introduced an ordinance to define a family as a group related by blood or marriage or a group of unrelated persons not exceeding five people.

SUIT — Went into a closed session to discuss a lawsuit with the city attorney, Robert Elliott, against the Dollars 'n Sense store.

PARKING — Passed an ordinance prohibiting parking within five feet of the center line of narrow streets.

LIBRARY — Voted to include library employees in the state retirement system.

HIPPIES — Adopted an ordinance making it illegal to live in vehicles.

ABANDONMENT — Declared the city's intention to abandon Rockridge Road.

EASTMAN HALL — Voted to terminate a lease for use of Eastman Hall, a condemned building formerly rented for recreation purposes.

Advanced First Aid Course Set

Marinwood volunteer firemen will start courses in advanced first aid beginning next week at the Marinwood firehouse.

The opening of the six-week course was announced last night at a meeting of the Marinwood Volunteer Firemen's Association. Instructor will be fireman Kenneth Fowler. Vice president Don B. Stiver president Tuesday night in the absence of president Irving L. Schwartz.

Marinwood Volunteer Firemen's Association also:

CURB PAINTING—Decided to paint house numbers on curbs in Marinwood with fluorescent paint during the first two weekends in May.

YOUTH ACTIVITY — Appointed volunteer James Miller, a Terra Linda High School student, to head a committee to investigate some type of fund-raising activity by youth, possibly a hayride and barn dance.

Contractor Rapped For Home Use

A group of residents of Lark Court in Larkspur last night told the Larkspur City Council that the contractor who sold them their houses is now conducting a full-scale contracting business from his home which is running down the neighborhood.

Although City Attorney Robert W. Elliott pointed out that contractor's offices are allowed as home use in residential sections, there are limitations on such uses.

The neighbors said that Johnny Ribeiro Inc. has "staff meetings" of subcontractors at his home at 7 a.m. and that trucks parked on the street and in his driveway detract from the neighborhood.

They also complained that Ribeiro has more than the one employee in his home allowed under the city ordinance and that he is adding three more offices to the residence.

Although Ribeiro wrote a letter to the council promising to rent parking spaces from a nearby church, the neighbors were still not happy.

The council instructed City Manager Kent B. Bathurst to check into the situation and to ask the planning commission to review the ordinance covering home uses.

Finalists In Scholar Race

Three students from Novato High School have been named finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition, according to counselor Ralph Del Sarto.

They are Christopher Arend, Michael K. Magill and Lucy A. Steinkamp.

This places them among the 15,000 finalists in the national standings in the scholarship competition. The 2,800 winners of scholarships will be notified confidentially later this month, Del Sarto said. The public announcement of the winners will be made in April, he added.

Novato Youth Gets Jail On Burglary

Peter Michael Casali, 19, of Novato, yesterday was sentenced to spend 120 days in Marin County Jail and placed on one year probation for a Novato burglary.

Casali, who pleaded guilty to second degree burglary, had been held in Juvenile Hall. He was accused of burglarizing a Novato residence on Dec. 15.

Picnic Replaces U.C. Picket Line

Third World Liberation Front leaders and sympathizers provided peanut butter and jelly sandwiches as well as watermelons and oranges for some 200 at the party in Sproul Plaza.

It was the quietest day since the group started the strike six weeks ago in its drive for a school of ethnic studies.

MUSIC REVIEW

Violinist Stern Is Perfect In Sibelius

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — Admirers of great violin playing should not miss hearing world-renowned Isaac Stern who is soloist this week with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Swedish-born guest conductor Sixten Ehrling.

Appropriately, the major works last night were Scandinavian, the Concerto in D Minor for Violin and Orchestra, Opus 47, of the Finnish composer Sibelius and his Danish contemporary Carl Nielsen's Symphony No. 5, Opus 50. That is about all they had in common, though, for they were far different in character.

Russian-born, but considered one of San Francisco's own because of his having lived and been trained here, Stern with his richly romantic style of playing and the great tonal beauty he produces was a perfect interpreter for the glittering Sibelius work that requires phenomenal virtuosity.

Yet Stern's manner was not at all flamboyant, nor his playing merely technically brilliant. He was totally involved in the music, seeming almost to be one with his violin, keeping the drama within the music.

The concerto is such a show piece for the violin that I was scarcely aware of the orchestra and Ehrling, who is the conductor and music director of the Detroit Symphony. The situation was drastically different in the other works. In these the orchestra had the starring role, and Ehrling drew fascinated attention because of his individual bouncy style of conducting, largely from memory.

It was angular and jerky, yet he was at all times in complete command of the orchestra and obtained from the players a highly charged performance.

Tremendously exciting, the Nielsen Symphony with its warring elements of consonance and dissonance was surely a piece for our times of conflict and strife. Sometimes the music was beautiful and lyrical — sometimes shattering and raucous, creating tensions like those between order and chaos.

One of the most extraordinary devices I have heard in orchestral music was the obsessive beating of a snare drum, rising at times to insistent fury, as ominous and disruptive as the violence in society today.

The other two works on the program were in great contrast. The opening overture to Verdi's "La Forza del Destino" was played with mellifluous sonority that was a splendid translation into instrumental language of the lush Verdi vocal melodies in the opera.

Closing the concert was the strongest reading of Ravel's "La Valse" I have heard. Totally lacking in sentimentality, it was an orchestral tour de force and admirable finale.

Griffith Film To Be Shown

The epic 1916 D. H. Griffith film, "Birth of a Nation," will be shown at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday in an adult education class on the Negro in U. S. history in Room 18 at Tamalpais High School.

The film, according to instructor Dee Schilling, deals with Reconstruction days and presents a caricature of the Negro which had great influence in developing racial attitudes in its era.

Admission will be charged to cover film rental costs, she said. The film will also be shown at the March 19 class meeting.

Preliminary Slated On Burglary Count

Thomas Chassereau, 19, of 180-B Cherry Street, Petaluma, will receive a preliminary hearing tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. in Petaluma Municipal Court on a burglary charge.

Cassereau was arrested on Feb. 27 in connection with the Feb. 9 burglary of the Bernard E. Eldredge School. A tape recorder and record player valued at $218 had been reported stolen.

Actors Take Over Action At Gate 6

By ALAN JONES

A Warner Brothers-Seven Arts crew was at Gate 6 yesterday, filming "The Arrangement," and Elia Kazan was on the roofdeck of Sandy Boaz's houseboat in a T-shirt directing.

Faye Dunaway was doing a solo scene, a fragile looking blonde in a pale yellow dress with a pillow pregnancy tucked under it and waving a paintbrush as she talked to the camera with the San Francisco skyline behind her.

Among a dozen houseboat dwellers watching was a local girl in blue minishift with better legs than Miss Dunaway's, but the latter definitely does have something even with a pillow under her dress.

They shot about nine takes of Miss Dunaway, then set up another shot in the other direction and Kirk Douglas, gray-haired and wearing fake glasses, came about and paced the deck. From ground level he looked short, smiling, and gave off a feeling of power.

The watching hippies and the movie people all had long hair, but the movie people wore things like black alpaca golf shirts and there was no trouble telling who was who.

One young man walked into range playing a guitar and objected to attempts to quiet him. He said they made movies of the Haight-Ashbury and tourists ruined it, and he didn't want it to happen to the houseboats. No one paid any attention to him and he stopped playing.

About midafternoon, the film crew finished shooting as the light was fading.

According to the New York papers they burned an old mansion on Long Island four months ago for the film, so this is not what you could call a quickie. They do not intend to burn any houseboats so far as is known.

The movie crew mostly ignored the local people and kept working, and by the end of the shooting day all but four or five local people were also ignoring the filming.

TV Set Stolen

Burglars took a television set, valued at $170, from the home of Peter S. Mohler of 126 Kipling Avenue, Mill Valley, between 6:30 p.m. Monday and 7:40 a.m. yesterday, police reported.

Last article of a three-part series on facts and current methods of weight loss.

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Yes, diet does it — produces weight loss the right way, that is, as noted yesterday. But it does more than that, according to two Mill Valley housewives, Mrs. Donald DuPertuis and Mrs. J. J. Diederich, each of whom has taken off over 60 pounds since last July through a group weight loss method.

What makes the subject intensely interesting is that it is happening to people well known in their communities, not to someone far away whose before and after pictures are seen every day in ads for all kinds of systems.

This is not the story of the particular diet that proved so successful for both Jean DuPertuis and Mary Diederich—that can be obtained from a book.

What both consider important about it is that it is chemically balanced as scientifically worked out in a New York obesity clinic; it does not rely on expensive diet foods, though artificial sweetener and sugarless soft drinks are used; it is not necessary to be hungry; weighing and measuring replace the less exact calorie counting; and a large part of its success is due to the accompanying group therapy which provides encouragement and the opportunity to discuss problems and exchange recipes.

THEIR STORY describes what it is like to lose over 60 pounds and go from a size 42 dress to a size 10 since last July.

Meet the new Jean DePertuis and the new Mary Diederich, for they are both convinced that they not only look like different people than they were — they are different people. Jean actually regards the day she started her program as her new birthday. Both get a lot of fun out of not being recognized by people they haven't seen in recent months and happiness from the compliments showered upon them by family and friends.

Jean and Mary did not know each other before meeting in connection with this article, but they have some things in common.

They are about the same size — Mary, 5 ft. 3½ inches, and Jean, 5 ft. 2 inches, and both weighed over 200 pounds. Each had taken off weight many times but couldn't keep it off and had become desperate because she was not willing to settle for being fat.

Both joined weight loss groups when they saw friends and others who had seemingly accomplished wonders.

Both had been active in the world of entertainment before marriage. Jean was a theatrical costumer with the San Francisco Opera Company, and Mary had been a Flamenco dancer and singer with bands. She is a member of the Terra Linda Players and is well known for her work in amateur theatricals and is a professional movie extra working through the Brebner Casting Agency in San Francisco.

Jean has two teen-age sons, and Mary has four children, a grown son and a daughter who has two children, and two other daughters.

EACH TOLD her own story: "I had had a weight problem since I was a child," Jean said. "First the excuses were that I was a healthy child, pleasingly plump or had big bones and a large frame. Actually the problem was that I liked to eat.

"As for what causes overeating psychologically, I don't care. I know that if you are willing to follow the plan after getting an OK from a doctor, you will reach the goal.

"I was terribly unhappy — I could no longer buy dresses but had to make them, and I couldn't bear to look at myself in a mirror or even at my reflection in windows. I was desperate, and that is what it takes."

But improvement in looks is not the only regard Jean has experienced through her weight loss.

"I have had to learn to be honest with myself because you are made to face your problem and admit you are fat — not obese or any other fancy word. Now that I can admit my problem I feel more outgoing. Every fat person is sensitive, and when you stop being sensitive, you are more aware of other people, and people react to you differently.

"And I've never been so healthy in my life. I feel alive for the first time and so much more alert.

"Another thing that's wonderful is being able to be more active. I don't feel like a walking blob. Not long ago my son said, 'Gee, Mom, maybe you can go hiking with us now.'"

Jean says she has also gained great self-confidence and is not afraid to take her diet lunch with her when she goes to parties, and if the family is going to eat at a restaurant, she will eat her own meal in the car and then just have coffee with them.

The greatest part, she says, is that she is never hungry because she can eat all she wants of certain foods. A gourmet cook, she is even able to enjoy her hobby of cooking, but lets her family do the eating. She gets her satisfaction from her size 10 dress.

Jean says she has 8¼ pounds to lose before reaching her ideal weight, but she looks great now.

"I WEIGHED 118 pounds before I was married," Mary said as she showed a picture proving the point, "but I started to gain weight when my first child was born and finally got up to 210 pounds. I took off 56 pounds under one program, but I couldn't keep it off. I seem to have to work with people, and that is why I need group therapy.

"When I joined the group I was really inspired when I saw one woman who had lost 118 pounds, and another 135 pounds — a whole body apiece."

Mary admitted that even with the group it has not been easy because a person can be addicted to food as seriously as an alcoholic is to alcohol.

"I USED TO HIDE cookies all over the house, and I would try to keep my family from hearing me open cans or packages by singing at the top of my voice. Just recently I got a terrible craving for candy when I was in a store, and after going away and coming back three times, finally bought two sacks, but when I got to the next store I rushed up to an astonished saleslady and gave them to her."

Mary says she finds the most important benefit of weight loss is being able to get around easily and even keep up her dancing.

"I remember when we went to plays I was always the one at the bottom of the stairs looking up at the others, and now I'm the first one to the top. Also I no longer have arthritis, and I was surprised the other day to discover that there were no Rollaids or Tums in my purses that used to be full of them.

"And my family is so much healthier now, too, because I plan meals around my program and add things for them."

MARY SAYS A very important thing in avoiding temptation at home is to keep busy constantly. She has recently taken up crocheting and has become so proficient that she makes dresses, skirts and vests for sale. Formerly a knitter, she says crocheting is much faster and is more creative.

Happy as she is with her new figure, Mary has had one unexpected negative result.

"I thought when I lost weight I would get more roles in plays and as a screen extra, but I lost three or four parts recently because I had lost too much weight to play character roles. For the last one they had to send to Hollywood for a fat woman.

Mary says she has 15 pounds more to lose, and then she will be eligible to be in charge of one of the local weight loss groups.

JEAN AND Mary both stress above everything that the program involves re-educating tastes and changing eating habits for life.

There are only two choices for fat people, they agree, staying permanently on a diet that keeps weight off or relaxing and being happy the way they are.

FACING A MIRROR is no longer a "moment of truth" for Mmes J. J. Diederich and Donald Du Pertius, Mill Valley housewives who weighed over 200 pounds before they embarked on a weight loss program. Each has taken off more than 60 pounds and shopping for clothes is now a delight. In a Mill Valley store Mrs. Du Pertius, left, is happy about the fit of her size 10 dress, but asks Mrs. Diederich if she thinks she might be able to wear the size 8. Formerly a size 42, she had to make all her clothes. (Independent-Journal photo)

WOMAN HISTORY-MAKERS

Grandma Of Muckrakers

American women have made their own challenge in their own way in American society. Some lesser known achievers, challengers and characters are subjects of this series on American "woman history."

By BARBARA HOSMER

Sharp-tongued Anne Royall threw herself into the national arena with the verve and adeptness of a broken field runner when she began to publish her infamous "Paul Pry." Nobody could stop her. The little four-page weekly printed in her kitchen in the nation's capital, put the world of the 1830s just exactly where its editor thought it belonged.

Half educated, opinionated, never a lady, Anne Royall became the Grandma of Muckrakers in print, exposing graft and corruption wherever she ferreted it out. Erratic but irrepressible, she always named names.

Anne was a product of the age just after the American Revolution when some of the tradition barriers fell by the wayside, and, invigorated with a surge of self-confidence, a generation of career women emerged before real educational opportunities were open to them.

BORN INTO a poor family. Anne led a roving life. When she reached her teens she took her ailing mother to the medicinal Sweet Springs, Va., and for support Anne became washerwoman to the widowed Col. William Royall, a gentleman farmer with scholarly interests. He not only married Anne but also became her tutor as well, passing on his prejudices along with the rest.

Upon his death 16 years later, Anne decided to inspect the new nation personally and set off in a carriage, accompanied by three slaves. It was the beginning of 10 years of travel by stagecoach, boat and barge. Through cities and wilderness, Anne made notes all the way, which she was to publish as primitive Baedeckers as a source of livelihood after the Royall family succeeded in breaking her husband's will and snatching his fortune from her.

Anne had a sharp eye as well as tongue and a humanitarian concern. She went to orphanages, prisons, convents and schools and wrote about conditions. Washington, D.C., enthralled her and she decided to settle there, switch to politics and launch her four-page weekly, aptly named "Paul Pry."

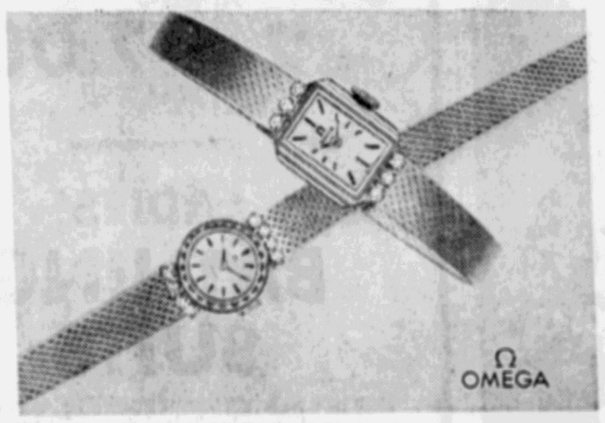

She seemed to be everywhere. Known for her verbal barrages for years, Anne was shunned

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'Two Puffs Don't Make A Habit, So Read The Dangers Again'

DEAR HELEN:

"I'm desperate. I have never smoked before, but the other day a boy offered me a couple of puffs of his cigarette.

I know about the dangers, but didn't think it would do any harm. Helen, I liked it! I'm afraid I'm hooked.

What should I do?—HOOKED ON TWO PUFFS

DEAR HOOKED:

Two puffs don't make a habit. Read up on the dangers again, and next time say no thank you—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My boy friend and I went too far, and now I'm deathly afraid I have VD. It was the first time for both of us. I'm only 15. If I go to the free clinic will my parents have to know? — SCARED.

P.S. I've sure learned my lesson. It was a miserable experience, and I'm paying for it. If I don't have a disease, I might even be pregnant. Never again!

DEAR SCARED:

If you are sure it was the first time for the boy, then you couldn't have VD. If you aren't, and you have definite symptoms (they're described in a venereal disease pamphlet available at your school) then get to the clinic quick! Not only must you be cured, but your source of infection must be traced down and treated.

If you are under age, your parents will have to know. This is the law in your state—H.

P.S. Stick to your resolution! A moment of weakness isn't worth the price you have to pay.

DEAR HELEN:

I am a newspaper boy. I would like to tell subscribers just what it's like.

Let's start with spring. It's a great season, with the breezes blowing. You see lots of kids flying kites and having fun. People are out on their lawns when you bring the paper, and they're cheerful and say "Thank You."

Then you see these little kids who always make fun of you because you're a paper boy, but you ignore them because you're not supposed to hit little kids.

So now it's summer. School's out. You have to get home early from ball practice and swimming because you're a carrier boy. So you're out delivering the paper in a pair of shorts and sun glasses. It's hot and sticky and you're sweating. You say to yourself, "Summer is a bad season." Your throat is dry and you feel sickish and lazy and you can't seem to lift a paper.

Let's mix fall and winter together. It's cold, oh boy, how cold it is! You feel the air cut your face and when it rains, you get the flu and you can't find a sub so you send your dad on the route. He gets half the customers calling home and saying "where the heck is my paper?" or "It's soaking wet." So your dad goes again just when he's got settled on the couch. And he doesn't even say much because he's a great guy. — YOUR FAITHFUL NEWSPAPER BOY

DEAR HELEN:

Can a mother say a few words for newspaper boys? I volunteered to help my 12-year-old on his collection day because the temperature was five above zero. His route is the "silk sox" section, or upper bracket.

I wonder if people realize that paper boys (who make less than two cents per copy) receive their bill each week and it must be paid in full? So if subscribers say "Come back when I have change," he's out of pocket. Also some make him wait in the cold while they search 15 minutes for the money. And many owe him for a month or more. These folks, of course, don't tip!

I hope you print this so that a few people might be more considerate.—PROUD MOTHER.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Chicken, Turkeys Are Weekend Best Buys In Food Markets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that supermarkets and food stores should feature excellent supplies of meat and poultry and good supplies of some fresh fruit and vegetables for weekend shoppers.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys are the leaders among the meats. Beef supplies continue good with roasts, steaks and ground beef featured. Pork items listed as abundant are bacon, Boston butts, Maine sardines, and fish sticks and portions are the fish buys to watch for, according to the U.S Department of the Interior.

Cabbage, onions and potatoes are the most abundant fresh vegetables in all areas. Carrots and celery may be abundant in some areas. Fresh fruit in the abundant class are apples, bananas, grapefruit and oranges.

In the West:

Wholesale beef and pork prices are higher in all West Coast markets, except for pork loins which are lower in California.

Chickens and eggs are higher in all markets.

In San Francisco and Portland beef ribs are higher; loins are up and other cuts are higher. Short plates are higher and briskets higher in San Francisco. Chucks are lower in Los Angeles.

Pork loins are lower in California and Boston butts and spareribs are higher in San Francisco and Portland. Fresh skinned hams are higher in San Francisco, and fresh picnics are higher in Los Angeles.

Veal is higher in Portland. Calf is slightly lower in Los Angeles, and lamb is slightly higher in Portland.

Fresh chickens are higher in all markets, and fryer-roaster turkeys are slightly lower in Los Angeles.

Fruits and vegetables in plentiful supply are: Apples, bananas, grapefruit, emperor grapes, oranges, carrots, onions and potatoes.

Dirty Cards

Paper playing cards can be cleaned by dipping cotton in spirits of camphor. Clean the cards and then dry with fresh cotton.

Giuliani-Giubbini Rite Held

Margaret (Maggie) Giubbini and Paul Giuliani of San Rafael were united in marriage at St. Rita's Church in Fairfax on Saturday.

Maggie is the daughter of Mrs. James Giubbini of Novato and the late Mr. Giubbini. Mrs. Clifford A. Pierce Jr. of San Rafael was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Pam Henrich and Diane La Ferriere of Novato.

Frank Giuliani Jr. of Novato was best man for his brother, and another brother, Richard Giuliani of Fairfax, and Clifford Pierce Jr. were ushers.

A reception was held at the Fairfax Women's Club. The couple are on a wedding trip to Hawaii and will reside in San Rafael on their return.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and is employed with the civilian personnel office at Hamilton Air Force Base. She is the sister of Mrs. Gordon Hanson of Huntington Beach, Mrs. Francis Ventura, Shirley Milton, James and Peter Giubbini of Novato, Mrs. Robert Neilson and Richard Giubbini of Petaluma and Mrs. Charles Louweart of San Rafael.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Giuliani of Forest Knolls are the bridegroom's parents. He attended Sir Francis Drake High School and is employed with John Malaspina Masonry Contractor in Fairfax. He is the grandson of Mrs. Anne Berrini of San Rafael.

Price Forecast For Food: Some Up, Some Down

Food economists are predicting retail prices for the first half of 1969, compared with 1968, will be lower on pork, fruit, fresh and processed vegetables, fats and oil.

For other foods like eggs, turkeys, dairy products, potatoes, candies and soft drinks, prices will be higher.

Staying about the same will be prices for beef, cereal and bakery products, sugar, tea and coffee.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES PINKHAM

Geraldine Lawrence Bride In San Rafael Church Rite

James W. Pinkham wed Geraldine Lawrence Saturday at St. Luke's Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

Carol Susan Cartwright of San Francisco was matron of honor for the bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Reed Lawrence of San Rafael. Bridesmaids were Sally Pinkham of San Anselmo and Kathleen Peel of Eugene, Ore.

Allen Smith of San Anselmo served as best man, and Bruce Clark of San Rafael and Erick Pinkham of San Francisco ushered guests to their seats.

Geraldine attended the Principia Upper School in St. Louis, Mo. and Principia College in Evanston, Ill. A graduate of Willamette University in Salem, Ore., she is studying for a teacher's credential at the University of California at Los Angeles.

James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter E. Pinkham of Exeter. He was graduated from Catalina Island School for Boys and attended Willamette University.

Following a wedding trip to Santa Barbara, the couple will live in Los Angeles, where the bridegroom is employed.

Secretarial Students May Apply For Legal Training Scholarship

A scholarship fund of $100 will be awarded by the Marin County Legal Secretaries Association to a student who is studying to become a legal secretary or who plans to become a legal secretary. Applications and any supporting documents are to be submitted to the governor, Mrs. Anton Wrischnik, 129 Sunnyside Avenue, San Anselmo by April 1, and the winning applicant will receive the scholarship at the installation meeting of the association in May.

Applications should contain the following:

Average grade; letter from applicant's major teacher or school counselor stating the student's ability and leadership record in school; stating a description of the student's personal traits, character, personality and drive; letter from someone other than a member of MCLSA or members of applicant's family, regarding the applicant; a statement from the applicant pertaining to her plans and what she would use the $100 scholarship fund for, her family background, and her reasons for seeking the scholarship; together with a small photograph of the applicant, if available.

The $100 shall be awarded as follows:

If the applicant enrolls in a regular college in which the school year is divided into two semesters, the scholarship shall be paid one-half upon proof of enrollment in the Fall semester of 1969 and one-half upon proof of enrollment in the Spring semester of the 1969-70 school year.

If the applicant enrolls in a school offering a concentrated course in legal training not having any division into semesters, the full scholarship of $100 shall be paid to the applicant upon proof of enrollment in such school.

THE MARIN alumnae chapter and faculty of Dominican College have issued invitations to Bay Area high school students and their parents to attend the annual spring tea and tour of the San Rafael campus at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday.

Guests will meet at Meadowlands, the freshman dormitory, where they will be welcomed by Mrs. John Taddeucci of San Rafael.

Alumnae and student hostesses will tour an art exhibit in San Marco and the campus which will conclude at Pennafort Hall where tea will be served.

Mrs. John Fassio of Kentfield is general chairman for the tea, and San Rafael alumnae members Mmes. Reed Volin, Richard Pera, Robert Jeffrey Jr., and James McCone Jr. will pour.

College faculty members who will join in welcoming guests are Sister Marie, O. P., director of admissions; Mrs. Lillian Seaver, Dr. Henry Aigner, Miss Etel Adnan and John Savant.

Alumnae committee chairmen for the event are Mmes. John Heilmann of Corte Madera, Charles Gardiner and Robert McGrath, both of San Rafael.

MRS. JOHN J. WOLLAK will tell the story of American needlecraft to members of the Tamalpais Centre Woman's Club tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the clubhouse in Kentfield. Mrs. Wollak's program will be preceded by an executive board meeting at 11 a.m. and a business meeting at 1 p.m.

Kermit Wollak has taught all types of needlework and is the retired owner of a needlework shop in San Francisco. Examples of her work will be on display.

Tea chairman, Mrs. Ralph Holchester, will be assisted by Mmes. Elie E. Dalmon, G. B. Kenny, Thomas H. Nichols, Barclay Renshaw, Roy R. Rhodes and Clyde D. Lightbody.

MEMBERS of Lagan Young Ladies Institute will be hostess to the annual Mass and Holy Communion at St. Raphael's Church Sunday at 9:15 a.m. The service will be followed by breakfast at the Blue Rock Inn in Larkspur.

Members attending will be from the St. Raphael's council, YMI and other institutes in Marin County.

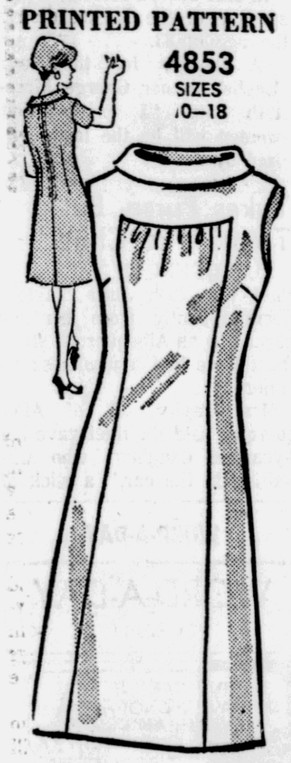

Mrs. Emil Boracchio and Miss Mildred Young are chairmen.

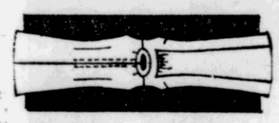

MRS. PAUL J. MARINCICH, new president of Belvedere Guild 5 of Sunny Hills, will be assisted by other new officers, Mmes. Robert Hogrefe, vice president; Anthony Cameron, recording secretary; and Roger Felton, treasurer.

THE STAFF of Creative Nursery School will host parents of pre-school children and their children at an open house at the school on Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. This invitation is also extended to all directors and teachers of pre-school and kindergarten children.

Anne Royall Always Named Names In Paper

whenever she went into a town. Finally her roadside harangues against the Presbyterians caused them to bring suit, and the court convicted her as a common scold. A ducking stool was set up to give her a punitive splashing into the Potomac. The crowd was loving it as she stood in shabby clothes at age 60 examining the ducking stool.

"Let 'em paint this trial on the rotunda of the Capitol with our national paintings, reserving a conspicious place for myself," she is reported to have rasped at the top of her lungs.

The crowd roared with laughter and three justices on hand to see the proceedings decided that a fine of $10 was enough and that legal duckings were really obsolete in 1829.

ANNE CARRIED her fanaticism into print for five years in the badly edited, but never dull, "Paul Pry." As a sample of the way she obtained interviews was the episode in which she tracked the President of the United States to the Potomac where he was taking his usual morning dip sans swim trunks. Doughty Anne sat herself down on his clothes on the bank and refused to leave until the President, treading water, agreed to answer her questions about the United States Bank, which she thought evil. It was certainly John Quincy Adams' most unorthodox interview, and while he found her pesty, like most of the nation, he had to laugh.

Through "Paul Pry," she pounced on grafters, ferreted out corruption, and when offered a $2,000 bribe to be silent, she screamed all the louder. She waged campaigns for complete separation of church and state, sound money, liberal immigration laws and tariffs, better conditions for workers, free speech and free press, which she exercised constantly herself.

Assisting with "Paul Pry," which was printed on the press Anne installed in her kitchen after ripping out the sink, Mrs. Sarah Stack served as secretary to Mrs. Royall and often appeared in her writings in little asides from the invective.

The paper was distributed nationally by agents, and when subscribers refused to pay, Anne printed their names as delinquents.

BUT SUDDENLY Anne killed "Paul Pry" and began "The Huntress," an improvement in its literacy, printing and temper. She confined her own ramblings to her personal column and attempted to give the paper some balance. But she never let up on those whom she saw as public enemies.

Upon her death in 1854 she was buried in the Congressional Cemetery, with Mrs. Stack her only mourner. There was no money for a stone and the grave was unmarked.

Few copies of her books or papers are left. Only in the accasional barbed gossip column or the strident, shrewish voice from the audience at a civic meeting does the fiery spirit of Anne Royall live.

Nutrients There If Diet Varied

Food produced in the United States is adequate to provide each person in the country with each nutrient needed every day. The entire range of nutrients available in 1968 was above the recommended dietary allowances of the National Research Council.

Protein, for example, at 98 grams per person available is well above 65 grams, which is what men over 22 need, or the 55 grams needed by women of the same age.

Other essential nutrients such as the B vitamins, thiamin, riboflavin and niacin, plus the mineral, iron, are also available in adequate amounts on a per capita basis, especilly in the nation's supply of beef, veal, pork and lamb.

Yulie Tyra Is Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Tyra of Novato are announcing the engagement of their daughter Yulie Tyra to Michael John Gerke of Novato.

Yulie is the sister of Virginia Tyra of Novato. She was graduated from Novato High School and is attending College of Marin.

Mr. and Mrs. John Price of Onalaska, Wis., are the future bridegroom's parents. Michael is the brother of Carl Gerke of Wisconsin and Mrs. J. David Stackhouse of Novato. He was graduated from Novato High School and attended College of Marin. He is employed at Golden West National Glass Company in San Rafael.

The couple plan to be married June 21 at Our Lady of Loretto Catholic Church in Novato.

Today is Thursday, March 6, the 65th day of 1969 with 300 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1836 after a siege of 13 days, Mexican forces captured the Alamo at San Antonio, killing the last of 187 defending Americans, including Davy Crockett.

In 1857 the Supreme Court handed down the Dred Scott decision, ruling that Scott, a slave, could not sue for his freedom in a federal court.

In 1964 King Paul died at the age of 62 and son Prince Constantine became ruler of Greece.

In 1968 Joseph Martin, former speaker of the House, died at the age of 83.

A thought for the day: English author George Meredith said, "I expect that women will be the last civilized by man."

Double Blackwood Bid To Direct Proper Opening

When the opponents use the Blackwood Convention you may be able to direct your partner's opening lead by doubling dummy's response to four or five no-trump. Unless you hate your partner it's foolish to let him make a bad guess when you have it in your power to steer him in the right direction.

BETTER TO DOUBLE

East would rather double five hearts with K-Q-J-x than with Q-J-10-x-x since then he would be far surer that a heart opening lead would be best. Still, a player who waits for the ideal hand will miss many fine opportunities. East knows that his partner will surely have to lead a heart or a diamond; and East is sure that he prefers a heart lead.

After East's double of five hearts, West is happy to lead a heart against six spades. This lead knocks out South's ace of hearts immediately. South draws trumps and tries the club finesse, but luck is not with him. East wins with the king of clubs and returns a heart, defeating the slam.

FAILURE TO DOUBLE

If East falls asleep during the bidding, failing to double five hearts, West probably opens the nine of diamonds. Declarer wins, draws trumps and takes the club finesse. East wins and returns the queen of hearts, but the attack comes too late. South takes the ace of hearts and runs the clubs ot get rid of his losing heart.

STEERS WEST

In an expert game East's failure to double a Blackwood response would tend to steer West away from an opening lead in that suit. For example, if East fails to double five hearts West should tend to lead diamonds. West cannot be sure that East is enthusiastic about a diamond lead, but at least West knows that East is not perishing with eagerness for a heart lead.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ A 10 8 4
♥ 7 6 3
♦ K Q
♣ A Q J 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 1 no-trump, showing 16 to 18 points in high cards with balanced distribution and strength in at least three suite.

When this hand was played in a recent tournament North actually opened with one club, expecting to bid one spade if South bid either red suit. Either opening bid is reasonable, but the no-trump opening tells North's whole story in one bid.

Art Carney Will Take Lead In 'Lovers'; Due On Tuesday

By GARY TISCHLER

Two new and interesting arrivals enrich the Bay Area drama scene.

"Lovers," by Brian Friel and starring Art Carney, the Broadway play much loved by the critics, but not so much by ticket-buyers, will open at the Curran Theater Tuesday for a one-week stay.

"Futz!," the New York smash by girl playwright Rochelle Owens, had its West Coast premiers at the Interplayers Theater yesterday, supplanting "Tom Paine" after a long run.

It's about a farmer who loves his pig, for which he is first ostracized and then crucified by his fellowmen. "Futz!" is directed by David Lendeman, who previously directed "Tom Paine," "The Three Penny Opera," "Muzeeka," "The Blacks," "Mother Courage" and "Waiting For Godot."

The San Francisco School of Theater Arts will present Moliere's "Tartuffe" at 1550 California Street tomorrow at 8:30 p.m.

The American Conservatory Theater has presented a new savings plan for prospective theatergoers. Those wishing to attend ACT Thursday and Sunday matinee performances at the Geary and Marines' Memorial Theater will receive a 50 per cent reduction in price if they present a copy of this column when purchasing tickets in person at the Geary box office.

Each copy makes the bearer eligible for a 50 per cent savings on two tickets. Theatergoers may purchase as many tickets as they wish at half price, but they must bring one copy of the article for every two reduced-rate tickets.

The offer runs through March 31 for Thursday and Sunday matinees.

MUSIC

Sixten Ehrling will be guest conductor and violinist Isaac Stern will be guest soloist at the regular subscription performances of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra tomorrow at the Opera House at 8:30 p.m.

The program will consist of Verdi's Overture to "La Forza del Destino," Sibelius' "Violin Concerto," Nielsen's "Symphony No. 5 and Ravel's "La Valse."

Augmented by the voices of six distinguished guest soloists and the Oakland Symphony Chorus, the Oakland Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Gerhard Samuel, will present Bach's St. Matthew Passion as a pre-Easter offering at concerts Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 11-12-13, at the Oakland Auditorium Theater, at 7:30 p.m. nightly.

Soloists on hand will be tenor Charles Bressler, Ella Lee, bass-baritone Harold Enns, basso Richard Cross, contralto Maureen Forrester and tenor Fernando Illanes.

The Lamplighters will present Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Gondoliers" at the Presentation Theater Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and on continued Fridays and Saturdays.

Famed classical guitarist Andres Segovia will appear in concert at the Masonic Auditorium Saturday at 8:30 p.m. as part of the San Francisco Music Series.

The San Francisco Children's Opera Company will present "The Magic Lamp," by N. and H. Gingold, Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the Presentation Theater.

FILMS

The second program of "Film-makers' Forum," a series of three programs of Bay Area films with discussion by important local film makers, will be presented at the San Francisco Museum of Art Tuesday at 8 p.m.

ACT Schedule through Thursday:

Geary Theater — Friday and Saturday "The Three Sisters," 8:30 p.m.; Sunday "The Three Sisters," 2 p.m. "The Devil's Disciple," 7:30 p.m.; Tuesday and Wednesday "A Flea In Her Ear," 8:30 p.m.; Thursday "The Devil's Disciple," 2 and 8:30 p.m.

Marine's Memorial Theater — Friday "Staircase," 8:30 p.m.; Saturday "The Promise," 8:30 p.m.; Sunday "The Promise," 2 p.m. "Little Murders," 7:30 p.m.; Tuesday "Staircase," 8:30 p.m.; Wednesday "Little Murders," 8:30 p.m.; Thursday "Little Murders," 2 p.m. "Staircase," 8:30 p.m.

Ghirardelli Square — "The Fantasticks," 8 and 10:30 p.m. Saturday; 8:30 p.m. Tuesday; 1:30 and 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Little Fox Theater — "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown," Sunday at 2 and 5 p.m.; Saturday 7:30 and 10 p.m.; Tuesday through Friday at 8:30 p.m.

Interplayers — "Futz!", Thursday at 8:30 p.m.; Friday at 8 and 10 p.m.

San Francisco Museum of Art — Tamarin Suites, through Sunday; Fran Kline, through March 30; Rental gallery spring exhibition through March 23.

M. H. de Young Memorial Museum — Photographs by Merg Ross, through Sunday; the World of Man, through April 6; A History of American Art Porcelain, through March 25.

California Palace of the Legion of Honor — Japanese ivory carvings through March 22; drawings by Eskimo artists, through Sunday; Enigma of Blakelock, through March 16; Osgood Hooker memorial exhibition, through March 23.

Agency Will Assist In Storm Aid

The federal Small Business Administration will assist in getting disaster loans for private property damaged in Marin during this winter's storm.

James V. Burdick, who heads the county civil defense office, said some storm victims have been misinformed and believe that they can get 3 per cent loans.

"The 3 per cent loans will be made only in cases where no other private loans are available" said Burdick. The SBA will aid victims in getting loans at prevailing interest rates.

"Anyone who suffered storm damage to his property should apply directly to the United States Small Business Administration in San Francisco."

Marin has been recognized as a disaster area by the SBA which is concerned only with pirvate losses.

On public losses, Marin is still awaiting word from the state disaster office to see if it qualifies as a disaster area. Public Works Director Donald R. Frost estimated the county suffered $411,000 in damage to public roads.

Form Is Important For Home Exemption

"Don't throw away the 1969 claim for homeowners property tax exemption which were mailed last week," Assessor Bert W. Broemmel announced today.

Almost 50,000 of these yellow forms were mailed out by the assessor last Friday, to be filled in and filed by the April 15 deadline. These are the forms by which homeowners will get an exemption of $750 in assessed value for the 1969-70 fiscal year.

These yellow forms should be filed, in addition to the pink forms (1968 claim for $70 property tax relief), which were mailed out in January.

Because the two forms, pink and yellow, were distributed within two months of each other. Many homeowners are confused, the assessor explained. The pink form is an application for a flat $70 refund from the state for 1968-69 fiscal year. Both must be filed by April 15.

"Those who threw away the yellow forms, through a misunderstanding, should contact the homeowners tax exemption section of the county assessor's office at the civic center and ask for new forms," said Broemmel.

The forms, which were prescribed by the state Board of Equalization, contain language that could be confusing to homeowners, said Broemmel.

Art Show Opens

Works by amateur and professional Marin County artists are being exhibited at a members' art show of the Marin Fellowship of Unitarians at 240 Channing Way. The show will be held through April 12.

'The Rivals' Will Run Six Nights

Richard Brinsley Sheridan's comedy, "The Rivals," will be presented six times this month by the College of Marin drama department at the College Theater.

The play will be presented at 8:30 p.m. on March 21 and 22 again from March 26 through March 29. The play is directed by H. J. Susser.

Interviews Set

Beginning actors for "A Whitman Portrait," a new play by Paul Shyre will be interviewed at the studios of the Richardson Arts Theater, Marin County Heliport, tomorrow at 8 p.m. The play will be staged late in April as the first of a trilogy of new productions based on the work of three outstanding American poets.

Mosquito Help Down Last Year

The mild 1967-68 winter cut requests for mosquito service in Marin in half and surged yellowjacket service requests to a record high, according to the annual report of the Marin County Mosquito abatement District.

Service requests last year totaled 2,232 with yellowjackets accounting for 1,125 of them, according to the report by Mgr. Allan D. Telford. The district destroyed 1,069 yellowjacket nests.

The house mosquito became troublesome in Petaluma, East San Rafael and Tiburon in July, August and September, Telford reported, attributing the problem to water accumulating beneath buildings as they settled on filled bay land.

The district treated 9,600 acres by air, cleaned 2,200 feet of drainage ditches and built 300 feet of new ditches, moving 11,700 cubic yards of dirt, Telford said.

The major new activity of the district was in the portion of Southern Sonoma County which was annexed in 1967. A temporary substation was installed near Petaluma and the board authorized installation of a permanent plant there.

The tax rate for Marin residents of the district was .025 cents, while residents of the Sonoma portion paid 3 cents per 100 assessed valuation.

In the fiscal year ending June 30, the district spent $125,013, about $2,470 less than budgeted.

The budget for the 1968-69 fiscal year, which maintains the same tax rate, is $144,215, including $15,000 for the permanent Petaluma facility, the report said.

A HELPING HAND

Club Hears Report On Refugee Funds

By JERRY MEGAHAN

A helping hand extended by Kiwanis Club members of the California-Nevada-Hawaii District through the American-Korean Foundation is enabling 102 refugee families to find a new life in South Korea.

Ross Valley Kiwanians yesterday got a chance to see the fruits of their community service program when they hosted Robert Howard, director of development for the American-Korean Foundation at their weekly luncheon meeting in Kentfield.

Howard preceeded a short talk with a 15-minute film made at Kiwanis Village in Chulwon, within sight of the Korean Demilitarized Zone.

The Ross Valley Kiwanis was one of the chapters which started the village project rolling in 1965 by helping collect $30,000 to buy the necessary land.

In 1967, the village was dedicated and 564 Korean refugees had a home. For many of them, it was the first home they had ever had.

Making their own bricks from earth and cement and terracing farm land with the most primitive tools, the refugees built their own model village from nothing.

"This upset the North Koreans so much that they put up their own Potemkin Village and spotlighted it at night," Howard said. "But all it was was an empty stage set."

Still, the work at Kiwanis Village is not yet done. The crucial phase of the project will be the establishment of a scientific agricultural program. The land, painstakingly terraced by hand, must be fertilized.

"We need to plant fruit trees and mulberry trees so that the villagers can raise silkworms," said Howard. "Livestock, rabbits and chickens are needed for protein and as an income crop."

The American-Korean Foundation, a nonprofit agency dependent on contributions to continue its work, has helped people all over South Korea to help themselves, Howard reported.

"The foundation," he said, "came into existence," he said. the end of the Korean War when President Eisenhower sent Dr. Howard Rusk, among others, to study means of assisting Koreans to get back on their feet."

The foundation's accomplishments include the development of the 4-H Club movement, now the second largest of its kind in the world with 725,000 members. The low-cost earth-block construction program is another foundation development, as is the bench-terracing technique which will have provided a million acres of new farmland by 1970.

FACES EVICTION, TOO

Year Of Hospitals, Bills

By JOANNE GRANT

"There was a white Sunbeam sports car about an inch or two behind me."

That's about all Jan Beam can remember about the accident which so drastically altered her life about 10 p.m. last March 11.

The California Highway Patrol report of the wreck said she apparently skidded and smashed into the guard rail, with her car landing on its side.

After the crash, she remembers lying trapped in her mangled car on Highway 101 near the heliport: "I thought about turning off the ignition, because of fire. I tried moving one arm, then the other, then my legs. I couldn't. I thought, my God, I'm paralyzed."

So began a nightmarish year for the 43-year-old Mill Valleyan — a year in which the inside of hospitals and operating rooms became as familiar as her home.

Her most recent stay ended Tuesday after 16 days and three operations. Yesterday, she was ordered to move from her home at 505 West Blithedale by Saturday.

Mrs. Beam recalled the events which followed her accident and led to the eviction notice in an interview at her home yesterday.

Immediately after the accident she was taken to Marin General Hospital where she spent five and a half weeks in the intensive care unit and underwent surgery for a blood clot on her brain and another near the base of her spine.

She spent about two more weeks in the hospital after the session in intensive care.

When she was allowed to return home she wore a leg brace, an arm brace and a neck brace and carried with her her doctor's prognosis that she would never walk again.

While she was in the hospital, still mostly unconscious, her car was sold for towing charges — even though she had insurance to cover it, she said, and the seller didn't have the pink slip.

Mrs. Beam, who had been a successful, popular waitress at San Francisco's Buena Vista before the accident, spent the summer proving her doctor wrong.

Friends took her to Marin General for therapy three times a week and she worked at home on an exercycle, also provided by a friend.

But the pressure was great. She exhausted her savings and applied for welfare, receiving $171.50 a month. She is divorced and has no family.

She remembers the department of social services asking her to come in to discuss training for rehabilitation. She made it to the Civic Center.

"They took one look at me and told me I was in no condition to be trained for anything," said Mrs. Beam. Altogether she said she's seen about seven different social workers, none of whom seem to talk to the others.

The next blow came when her landlord raised her rent from $140 a month to $175.

Mrs. Beam developed an ulcer and returned to the hospital to have it removed. Just as she was about to be discharged, doctors found a tumor on her spine which meant another operation and a total stay of almost a month.

Her latest hospital visit was for operations to help her regain full use of her arm and leg. While she was there, she began hemorraghing internally and had an operation for that — her seventh in less than a year.

Meanwhile, her landlord filed a suit in Marin Superior Court to collect back rent totaling $560, plus $5.83 a day penalty from Dec. 16 on. The landlord has promised to drop the suit if she is out by Saturday.

Mrs. Beam, when the suit was first filed, contacted Neighborhood Legal Services and the attorney, James Kovacs turned her over to Lynn Bishop of the Legal Aid Society.

Yesterday, she discovered that Mrs. Bishop is not an attorney, although she has been handling her case.

rs.M Beam reported that to her surprise Mrs. Bishop has helped her landlord find a tenant for her present home and a room for her to rent. She said she asked Mrs. Bishop if she could take her case to court to get a little time — "two or three weeks" — until she is better. "She told me I cannot win," Mrs. Beam said.

Mrs. Beam, a Catholic, called a priest yesterday. He promised to talk to the landlord but refused to visit her, she reported.

With her only income the welfare check and occasional help from friends, Mrs. Beam has repeatedly asked social workers to check on Social Security but they "forget" she reported.

Insurance has covered many of her hospital bills, but she still has a stack to pay, many of them unopened for the distress they give. She is behind with her telephone and electric bills, but reported both utility firms have been "very patient" with her.

Friends have been driving her to the hospital, the laundry, the grocery store and wherever else she needs to go and occasionally contributing a little money.

One neighbor, obviously proud of Mrs. Beam's recovery and her stubborn efforts to hold her own, said, "She doesn't want pity."

"I am not trying to get out of my obligations," said Mrs. Beam firmly. "I just want a little time."

She is optimistic — "In two months I'll be back on my feet." —and has retained her sense of humor — "My (former) customers have nominated me 'patient of the year'," she smiled.

'A LITTLE TIME' — Jan Beam of Mill Valley, critically injured in an automobile accident a year ago, says, "All I want is a little time," and explains her plight — a year of hospitals, bills, operations and now, eviction. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

Antilogging Ordinance Is Readied

A new type of county zoning entitled "natural resources protective district" has been drafted by the county planning staff as Marin's answer to the logger's ax.

Known as the "logging ordinance," it would pohibit such activities as logging, mining, quarrying and drilling for gas or liquid in those areas designated as the "natural resources protective district."

It would exempt grading, excavating and drilling for water and other operations necessary for development or operation of allowable uses.

The Marin County Planning commission will hold a public hearing on the new ordinance March 24 at the Civic Center.

Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning for the County Planning Department, said the new zone is aimed primarily for the Bolinas Ridge from Bolinas-Stinson Beach northward to the Point Reyes Station area.

Purpose of the ordinance is to prevent activities which would erode soil and make it unstable, silt and pollute bays and harbors, jeopardize agriculture, endanger water supplies and sanitary systems, or deteriorate public improvements such as roads, parks and marine facilities.

Hitchhiker Says His Name Christ

A 23-year-old man who told officers he was Jesus Christ was booked into Marin County Jail today on suspicion of hitchhiking on the freeway and failing to produce identification on request, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The Highway Patrol found the man walking along Highway 101 on California Park Hill at 12:55 a.m. He reportedly told the patrol he was born twice, in Bethlehem and in Portland, Ore.

He was held in jail in lieu of $120 bail and was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Complaint Answering Is Held Animal Control Stumbling Block

Lack of assurance that the Marin Humane Society would answer all complaints under the county's proposed uniform animal control ordinance appeared today as a major stumbling block for cities considering participation and for private residents who will be helping to pay for the program.

Speaking on KTIM's Sounding Board, San Anselmo City Councilman James F. Reed pointed out the language of the proposed ordinance which would require dogs to be under responsible control, is permissive.

His council would like to see, "The humane society shall respond . . . shall issue a citation . . ." instead of may respond and may issue, he reported.

San Anselmo receives numerous complaints from residents who have gotten no response from their calls to the society, he said.

Mel L. Morse, executive director of the society, said, "There shouldn't be any problem in an emergency." However, he added patrolling at a constant level would be impossible.

The proposed ordinance, outlined by Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella, would increase patrol time from 300 hours per month to 1,100 hours and would permit issuing citations to owners instead of taking each dog to the Humane Society shelter in Ignacio.

Later, Morse answered what a listener who said service had not been good so far and asked what guarantee is there that it would improve.

Morse blamed lack of staff and other activities of the society for poor service. He said the society now handles 17,000 animals at the shelter each year; 2,000 biting cases requiring three calls per case; problems with livestock and wild life, and a door-to-door licensing program.

The proposed ordinance would add five men and five trucks and increase the current cost of $180,000 by $69,575, Campanella reported.

Novato Police Chief Robert J. Di Grazia reported on the strict animal control program in his city which was used as a model for the county ordinance and said complaints have been "considerably reduced." Knowledge of enforcement has helped, he said.

He said there have been calls that dogs are still running loose and complainsts about the $15 fine citations bring. Otherwise, he indicated the program is working well.

A listener wondered if the district attorney's office would provide free legal advice to cities if prosecution is necessary and Campanella explained the item is currently under discussion at the city-council level.

Reed reported San Asnelmo believes all prosecution should be handled by the district attorney since the county gets all the fees.

Another listener was concerned about what could be done if dogs on a leash messed up a yard, Reed noted the ordinance requires dogs be under control, not necessarily on a leash. The dog described by the listener would not be under control, he added.

Morse assured another listener that licensed dogs are easily traced to their owners and that complaints would not be asked to identify the dog or act as a witness.

Di Grazia reported in Novato, the animal control officer witnesses most of the violations personally and has little trouble finding owners of unlicensed dogs.

Another listener broke up the panel with a question on control of the dog population as a possible solution. "Why can't pet food companies put birth control pills in the food?" the listener asked.

Morse replied, "I doubt that pet food companies would want to cut the population." However, he said oral contraceptives have been discussed. In pet food, he noted, the only illegal thing would be to use it for human consumption.

Burglars Hit Two Stores In Village Square

Two Village Square stores were broken into today in Corte Madera, burglars crawling under one and sawing their own entrance through the floor, police said today.

Stolen from the Corte Madera Pharmacy at 18 Tamalpais Drive, were 300 to 500 amphetamine tablets and capsules, 130 to 150 hypodermic syringes and needles and six cartons of cigarettes, owner Robert D. Satterwaite told police. Total loss was estimated at $118.

Stolen from the Parkside Market, 12 Tamalpais Drive, was $40 in change from the cash register, owner Mario Schenone told officers. In addition, the thieves filled up on candy bars and opened a can of shrimp and ate them.

Police received a call at about 5:45 a.m. today from an anonymous citizen who reported the burglar alarm was sounding at the pharmacy.

Entry to the grocery was made by kicking a plywood panel out of the back door, said Hockett.

Shoreline Personnel Policy Gets Approval

The Shoreline Unified School District board last night reviewed and adopted policies for certificated and classified personnel, according to Supt. Charles E. McCully.

The board has been reviewing various portions of their policies and procedures guide to have it ready when the district takes over from the Tomales High School, Tomales Elementary, West Marin and Bodega Bay districts on July 1. The new policies are taken largely from those of these districts, McCully said.

The board discussed but took no action on adopting the Tomales High salary schedule for the unified district, which starts at $6,600 and goes to $12,690 in 12 steps and five ranges, McCully said.

The board also discussed frfinge benefits such as dental plan, hospitalization, prescription payment and vision aids, McCully said. The Tomales High School District has these benefits except vision aid. Only West Marin of the elementary schools in the new district has hospitalization and dental care. The others have none, he said.

The board set 7:30 p.m. March 20, for a special meeting to discuss the 1969-70 budget and salary schedule, McCully said.

MARIN GRAND JURY

Prober Role Often Misunderstood

(Second of three articles)

A few years ago, officials of several cities in Marin County became incensed when a particularly active grand jury asked to see various city records.

These officials thus demonstrated a common misconception: that if the grand jury starts looking into something, this is evidence that crime or at least misdeeds are suspected.

Clifford S. Lund, foreman of the 1967 Marin County Grand Jury, took note of this in a grand jury manual he prepared for the help of future juries in this county.

"A large portion of the general public believes that the expressed interest of the grand jury in the activities of any individual, particularly a public official, suggests malfeasance or misfeasance," he wrote.

"It is not commonly understood that it is the constitutional responsibility of the grand jury to look into the conduct of county government each year."

The investigative powers and duties of the grand jury in the field of local government are quite broad:

It is to investigate how the various offices are conducted and make recommendations, which may include abolition of some offices or creation of new ones, and comment on how the offices are being conducted.

It is required to do this with the departments of county government, and may do so with cities and special districts within the county.

In some counties, cities and districts are investigated by the grand juries on a regular schedule, since there are too many for a single grand jury to cover all of them. There is no such schedule in Marin, however.

The law requires that the grand jury examine the accounts and records of all departments of the county, and it stresses that this should go thoroughly into all records pertaining to revenue. Auditing of books of the departments, bureaus, or separate jurisdictions is considered an integral part of this investigation.

This inquiry into government may lead grand jurors into many byways. However, the grand jury is not supposed to go on "fishing expeditions." If it uncovers evidence of mishandling or waste of public funds, it may go as far as necessary to establish the facts — including subpoena of witnesses and of records.

However, as Lund phrased it in his manual: "The scope of inquiry is limited to those subjects that are founded upon knowledge, which comes to the jury not by rumors and reports, but by knowledge acquired from the evidence before them or from their own observations."

Lund summarized the civil powers and duties of the grand jury in five categories:

1. To audit books, records and accounts of all county offices, and to examine books and records of any special purpose, assessing or taxing district wholly or partly in the county.
2. To report on its findings from these examinations.
3. To report on the needs and operations of county departments.
4. To order the county counsel to sue for recovery of any public money the grand jury finds has been mis-used.
5. To make recommendations regarding pending legislation which may affect the county.

Painter Hurt As Scaffold Falls

One house painter suffered a dislocated shoulder and another received minor injuries Tuesday when the scaffold they were working on at the San Rafael branch of Wells Fargo Bank fell.

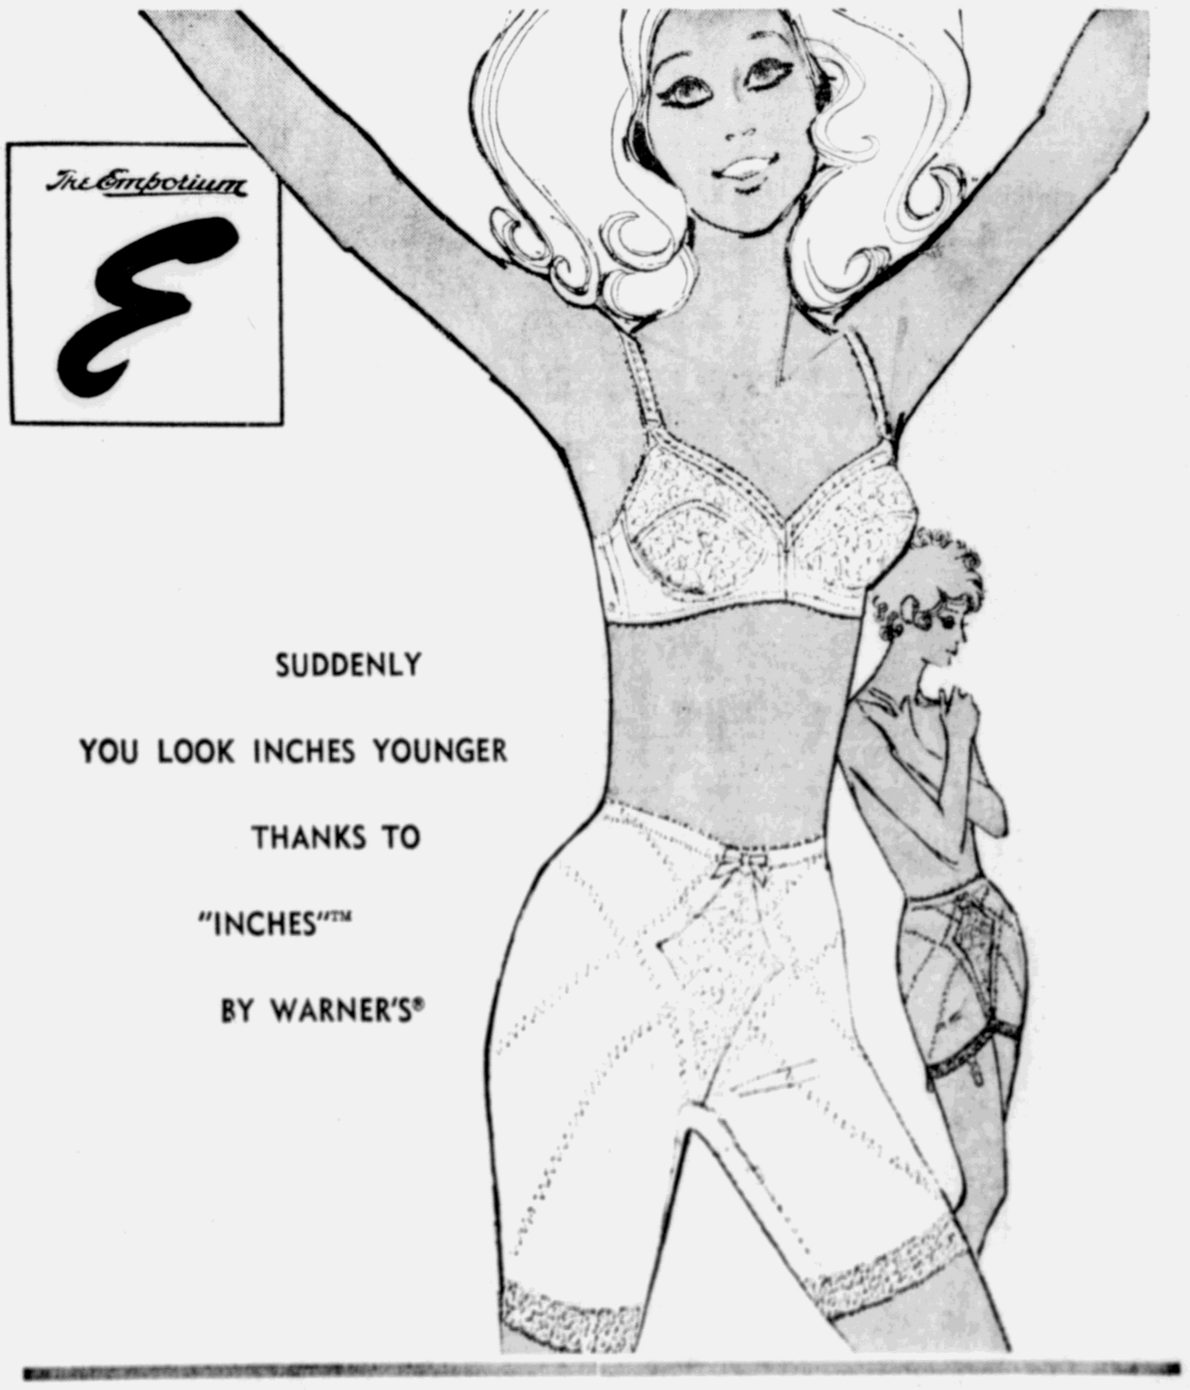

Vincent Amman, 36, of San Francisco had minor cuts after the fall, Joseph E. White, 54, also of San Francisco, was taken by ambulance to a local hospital where he was treated and later released.

Innocent Plea To Writing Bad Checks

Joan Alma Burns, 33, of Sausalito, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of writing five bad checks between July 23 and Feb. 2.

A preliminary hearing was set for April 10.

Rohnert Park Leaders Looking For Investors

Civic leaders of Rohnert Park have urged Bay Area financial leaders to help fill the "money gap" and aid the young city in living up to its potential.

At a day-long conference Tuesday, 35 businessmen, representing various lending institutions, heard elected officials and developers ask that current "tight money" situations be eased. Several builders told of projects for which they have been denied loans as small as $35,000.

To illustrate the potential and planned growth of the community, a bus tour was conducted. While driving through the residential areas city officials said repossession problems encountered by early investers have been cleared up.

Councilman Jimmie W. Rogers said the average price of homes in 1963 was $12,000, but that now they are selling for $26,000. "Many banks never thought homes would ever go that high in Rohnert Park," he said.

The tour also took them to the schools, Benecia and Alicia parks, the new community and recreation center, the 18-hole golf course and areas planned for commercial and industrial growth.

The men also toured nearby Sonoma State College which Business Manager Richard M. D. Childs predicted will have a great economic impact on the area.

He said the college has completed $20 million in construction and next year would contribute $6,879,671 in salaries and expenses. Childs said the enrollment next year will reach 3,250 students.

"Assuming each student spends an average of $2,000 after fees, they can spend between $3,250,00 and $6,500,000 in the community, half of which will be spent on living away from home, Childs said.

Realty broker Bart C. Mitchell said the community was trying to do away with the bad image of instability created by early unsuccessful developers. "You should look at Rohnert Park as a prime area for development in the bay region," he told them.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Young Widow Offered Growth Holdings Advice

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am recently widowed with two children, 12 and 9, I have several hundred shares of two mutual funds and $22,000 insurance money to invest. Should I hold my two funds and what stocks should I buy for growth? — L. S.

A. Because your larger fund holding is primarily noted as a dividend payer, I favor redeeming these shares. This will increase capital available for investment to $30,000, which should be divided among the following five issues:

El Paso Natural Gas has several things moving for it — participation in the famed "Gasbuggy" tests, a major copper discovery in Arizona and a highly developed natural gas delivery system.

Coronet Industries, a carpetmaker, has entered through acquisition the furniture and health-care markets. Six-months sales — ended December — rose 26 per cent, with a similar increase in earnings to 60 cents.

American Hospital Supply, reviewed at length recently, would be well suited to your needs.

Quaker Oats, probably a familiar product in your home, has also produced a good record of earnings, with $3.25 a share looked for in the current year.

My final choice, Boise Cascade, an integrated forest products concern, has entered into the mobile homes industry.

Q. More than three years ago I purchased Standard Oil of California. Today it is trading at the same price I paid. Since my objective is capital appreciation, should I continue to hold? — W. K.

A. Your shares have moved up about 25 per cent in the past year, much in line with the group as a whole. Continuation of this pattern of price recovery is a logical assumption in view of Socal's industry position — sixth largest in proved reserves and fifth largest in assets in the United States. Of particular current interest are the 300,000 acres held on Alaska's North Slope, heavy involvement in the Arctic islands area and a 50 per cent interest in Indonesian production.

A recently declared dividend increase and a 5 per cent stock distribution plus the speculative boost inherent in Socal's Alaskan property make this stock an attractive hold.

Market Hit By Fighting In Vietnam

NEW YORK (UPI — Grey clouds hung over Wall Street today with the newest flare up in Vietnam and threats of another international monetary crisis, touched off by record high gold prices in Europe and sharply reduced French gold and foreign currency reserves in February.

Shortly before the final bell, the UPI stock market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, was off 1.17 per cent on 1,576 issues on the tape. There were 1,076 declines and 259 advances.

The Dow Jones average of 30 blue chip industrials showed a loss of 10.69 to 912.42 near the close. Volume approximated 9,000,000 shares.

Fairmont Tower Plans Are Off

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Hotelman Melvin M. Swig announced today that plans for a $15 million, 42-story tower addition to the Fairmont Hotel have been dropped "at least for the time being."

The project, announced last October, had been scheduled for submission today to the planning commission but the application was withdrawn.

Swig said that although feasibility studies were continuing, the chances are the tower won't be built in the foreseable future. He did not elaborate.

To Sell Stock

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (UPI) — Wood Industries Inc. has announced an agreement to sell $1,150,000 of its common stock to Stedman Science and Growth Fund.

Feldron Firm Not Sold; Only Franchise Has Two New Faces

Due to a poorly worded headline in this column last week, there continues to be a mistaken impression that Feldron Industries at Northgate Industrial Park has been sold — despite a correction two days later.

Again — to set the records straight — Feldron has not been sold, but continues under its same corporate ownership. In fact, it continues to expand and service the vinyl furnishings of such organizations as United Air Lines and Southern Pacific. Its products have been cited in a number of trade journals and you may soon expect to see national distribution.

THE ONLY THING that has changed hands is the local vinyl repair, dying and maintenance operation franchised to Edward R. Wolford — who also happens to be plant manager at Feldron. This service is now being performed by two Sonoma County men, Marvin Leuven and Jerry Dermake, under the name of Nu-Vinyl-Life Co. at 20 Joseph Court, San Rafael.

Note also that Wolford has not sold his franchise. It is simply that in his capacity as Feldron's plant manager he does not have the time to do this work himself.

We apologize for the wording which led to this misconstruction of the facts.

REAL ESTATE: John Warsen of Seadrift, Stinson Beach has joined the Mill Valley office of Frank Howard Allen and Co. He will also be at the Seadrift office on weekends. Before coming to Marin County last year he trained new personnel at Travelers Insurance Co. in New York. . . . Allen Swayze of Sausalito has joined Home and Land Co. at its Sausalito heliport office. He has been four years in Marin residential sales and also had five years of the same work in Boston. He had his own travel agency in Worcester, Mass., and was a White House aide during the Truman administration.

INSURANCE: A. B. (Andy) Andeweil of San Anselmo has joined State Mutual Life Assurance of America, San Rafael. He was a Marin County probation officer from 1960 to 1963. . . . James R. Harvey of Fairfax, one of Bankers Life Nebraska's top producers in the country, is back from a recent three-day home office seminar at Lincoln, Neb.

MISS NANCY BROWN of Greenbrae has joined the staff of Michael's Beauty Salon in San Rafael. She was formerly with the Emporium's beauty salon at Northgate and is the daughter of terminal manager Richard D. Brown of Pacific Motor Trucking Co., San Francisco.

IS IT POSSIBLE?

A home with all the glamour and prestige that you dream about. Starting with the architecture, a blending of stone facia and wood, entry hall that leads to a sunken living room, family room with a stone fireplace. A formal dining room, an all-elec. kitchen with custom cabinet work. A guest bath on the main floor. A beautiful staircase leads to 3 upper bdrms. and 2 baths. Plush carpeting and drapes complete this immaculate home. Large 2 car garage has a laundry area. Now let's go to the landscaped grounds. An artistically shaped swimming pool with a slide. Overlooking one of the most breathtaking views in the county. Could it be possible that this is all included for $38,900?

ORDINANCE NO. 936

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL AMENDING TITLE 14, ZONING, OF THE SAN RAFAEL MUNICIPAL CODE BY AMENDING THE TITLE OF CHAPTER 14.88 TO READ "EXPIRATION OR REVOCATION" AND BY AMENDING SECTION 14.88.010 SO AS TO MAKE EXPLICIT THE PROCEDURE FOR SETTING EXPIRATION DATES ON ACTIONS TAKEN BY THE PLANNING COMMISSION.

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1: The title of Chapter 14.88 is hereby amended to read: EXPIRATION OR REVOCATION.

SECTION 2: Section 14.88.010 is hereby amended to read as follows:

"14.88.010. EXPIRATION.

The Planning Commission, or Planning Director when authorized by the Commission under Section 14.10.010c, may establish in connection with any action other than an amendment to the text of this Title or to the Zoning Map a limit on the length of time for which said approval is valid. When such limit is established, it may be conditional or unconditional:

a. Conditional time limit:

—1 If the approval is subject to certain specified conditions being fulfilled prior to a given date and all these conditions are fulfilled prior to that date, entry of that fact shall be made on the file copy of the approval. Upon such entry being made, the time limit is removed and the approved action automatically continues without a time limit.

—2 Unless all of the specified conditions are fulfilled prior to the given date, the approval automatically terminates as of that date without further action or notification by the Planning Commission or Staff.

—3 If an application has been filed for a time extension or for deletion of the unfilled conditions prior to the expiration date, the action may continue to any extended deadline approved. If the application is denied, the action shall automatically terminate without further notification by the Commission or the Staff on the given date or on the date on which said application is rejected, whichever is later.

b. Unconditional time limit:

—1 When an absolute time limit is set, the approval automatically shall terminate as of the date set without further action or notification by the Planning Commission or Staff.

—2 If an application has been filed for an extension or for deletion of the time limit prior to the given date, the action may continue to any extended deadline approved or without time limit if the deadline is removed. If the application is denied, the action shall automatically terminate without further notification by the Commission or the Staff on the given date or on the date on which said application is rejected, whichever is later.

c. No time limit:

Actions shall be construed as being without time limit unless a conditional or unconditional expiration date is specified at the time of approval. However, where no time limit is set and the applicant fails to take action within one year, said approval shall automatically terminate at the end of one year without further action or notification by the Planning Commission or the Staff."

SECTION 3: Constitutionality. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance. The Council hereby declares that it would have adopted the Ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

SECTION 4: This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
Advertisement

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Dixie School District, Marin County, California, will receive bids for the furnishing of all labor, materials, transportation and services for the furnishing, installation and maintaining of Phase I Planting at Oakview School.
2. Each bid to be in accordance with the plans and specifications now on file with Royston, Hanamoto, Beck & Abey, 50 Green Street, San Francisco, California 94111, where qualified bidders may obtain them upon request.
3. Each bid shall be made on a form included with the specifications, and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond in the amount of 10% of the bid amount, made payable to the order of the Dixie School District. Bids must be sealed and filed at the District Office, located at 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael, California, prior to 4:00 P.M., March 25, 1969, where and at which time they will be publicly opened and declared.
4. The above mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract or to furnish the necessary bonds, after being requested to do so by the Board of Trustees of the Dixie School District.
5. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a labor and material bond in an amount equal to 50% of the contract price and a faithful performance bond in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured from a surety company satisfactory to the Board of Trustees of the Dixie School District.
6. Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California, or local law thereto applicable, the Board of Trustees of the Dixie School District has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, which will be awarded the successful bidder and these rates are available for inspection.
9. Attention is directed to Sections 4100 through 4113 of the Government Code concerning subcontractors.
10. The Board of Trustees of the Dixie School District reserves the right to reject any and all bids, or any alternate contained in any bid, and to accept or reject any combination of alternates which is to the best advantage of the District, but subject to the limitation that not more than one contract will be awarded for the work. The Board reserves the right to waive any informality or irregularity in the bidding or any bid or portion thereof. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of forty-five (45) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

Ribbon Removal Stirs Stockade Mutiny Case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The combat ribbons of a wounded Vietnam War veteran, one of six soldiers on trial for mutiny, were removed yesterday by a stockade guard who told him he "wasn't authorized to wear them any more."

The six prisoners said they had been stripped and humiliated during a noon break in their court-martial at the Presidio by a squad of soldiers "specially trained" by Marines.

Pvt. Edward O. Yost, 23, Vacaville, said the medals the guard took included a Purple Heart he received when he was wounded by a booby trap.

Later in the day the ribbons were returned to Yost's civilian attorney in a brown paper bag with the explanation they had been taken through "an honest mistake."

The six privates whose trial began yesterday are among 27 accused of taking part in a mutiny at the stockade last October. They refused to go to work details in protest over alleged inhuman conditions at the prison where several of them were serving sentences for being AWOL.

Four of the GIs were found guilty in earlier trials and received sentences up to 16 years at hard labor.

The six who went on trial Wednesday, including Yost, were: Pvts. Ricky L. Dodd, 21, of Hayward, Calif.; Lawrence J. Zaino, 21, Toledo, Ohio; Michael E. Murphy, 19, Concord, Calif.; Harold J. Swanson, 19, San Leandro, Calif., and William H. Hayes, 22, Healdsburg, Calif.

When Yost's attorney asked the court martial board's presiding officer, Col. John Lee, what authority the guard had to remove the ribbons other attorneys rose and complained about the noon incident.

The lawyer said the guards who had stripped the prisoners during the break were "specially trained" by Marines and wore no name tags. Another said that in an earlier incident his client's glasses had been removed by a guard and crushed under foot.

"I'm sure I don't know," Lee responded when asked about the guard's authority. He advised the attorneys to direct their complaints to Sixth Army Commander Lt. Gen. Stanley Larsen.

Defense attorneys asked for a mistrial yesterday on grounds the board was improperly chosen. This was denied.

They also moved for a change of venue because of antiwar demonstrators. About 10 demonstrators were in the packed courtroom while 200 were outside.

Also in San Francisco, two women convicted of spraying what they first said was blood around a Presidio court-martial room were indicted yesterday for failing to appear for sentencing.

The women, Sali McAllister, 33, and Charlene Pope, 20, later said the red liquid was poster paint.

Federal Court Judge Albert C. Wollenberg set $5,000 bail for each of the women who failed to appear Feb. 27 for sentencing after their conviction.

The women wrote Judge George B. Harris instead saying they were going into hiding until the Army finishes its investigation of the Presidio mutiny trials.

Dr. Teller To Give Address At Workshop

Dr. Edward Teller, the Hungarian-born physicist known as the "father of the H-bomb," will lecture at a session of a Sonoma State College Aerospace Education Workshop at Novato High School at 7 p.m. next Monday.

Teller, now a professor at large and associate director of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, University of California at Berkeley, will speak on "After the Moon — What Next?" His speech comes as Apollo 9 astronauts continue tests aimed at putting an American on the moon later this year.

A naturalized American citizen since 1941, Teller assisted in the design of the first hydrogen bomb developed by U. S. weapons scientists. He was a member of the general advisory committee of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission from 1956 to 1958 and helped establish the nation's second weapons laboratory at Livermore.

The aerospace education workshop began Feb. 10 and will run to April 11.

Oakland 7 Defense Hits Use Of Force

Defense attorneys for the seven, who are accused of conspiracy to have others commit misdemeanor acts during a march on the center on Oct. 17, 1967, called a stream of witnesses yesterday who said they had not known or been directed by any of the defendants.

Among the defendants is Michael J. Smith, former Corte Madera resident.

A radio newsman testified that he was clubbed and Maced during the demonstration and a student at the University of California Boalt Law School, Barbara Kass, said that the demonstration had a "festive" character until police moved in "with an incredibly inordinate amount of force."

Miss Kass, editor of the law school's newspaper, said the police "began clubbing any one near them—men, women, photographers—it didn't matter."

Later in the day defense attorney Charles Garry moved for a mistrial while prosecutor Lowell Jansen was cross-examining a witness, but the motion was denied.

Dogs Do Not Halt Burglars

Barking dogs at the Maiden Lane Kennels on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Fairfax failed to deter burglars early Sunday who made off with more than $3,000 in cash and a number of fur coats, sheriff's officers reported yesterday.

The dogs awakened an employee of the kennel about 1 a.m., officers said, and he found that the main residence, the home of May R. Bell, had been broken into.

Mrs. Bell, who had been at friends' home for dinner, reported the loss of $3,000 from a wallet in a dresser drawer as well as about $250 in cash and checks which were receipts from the kennel. Also missing were a white beaver coat, a silver beaver coat, a mink and a silver fox stole.

The burglar also took a small toy gun.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

GOP Finally Loses Control In Assembly

SACRAMENTO (AP) —The Republican control of the Assembly slipped officially today below the 41 votes needed to pass most legislation in the 80-seat house.

The lineup now is 40 Republicans, 39 Democrats and one vacancy with word of the official resignation of Assemblyman John G. Veneman, R-Modesto.

He wrote Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, that his resignation would become official at 6 a.m. California time today when he formally took over as U.S. undersecretary of health, education and welfare.

That means Gov. Ronald Reagan no longer can count on a flat GOP majority in the lower house for the next few weeks as he tries to get his legislative program adopted. Reagan must call a special election soon to fill the San Joaquin County district Veneman held for seven years, even though it has a Democratic majority.

TAX STALL CLAIM

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Democratic assemblyman suggested today that Gov. Ronald Reagan is trying to stall tax reform until after 1970 "by appointing and then rejecting various commission on the subject."

The comment came from Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves, D-La Mirada, after the Republican governor generally rejected proposals of his Advisory Commission on Tax Reform.

Reagan set his own fiscal experts to work on a tax plan that would not involve an increase in levies, but would attempt to equalize the tax burden.

FARM LABOR

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan urged growers yesterday to act on their own to solve farm labor problems and not depend solely on government to devise a solution.

"Government alone cannot solve the labor-managerment problems of agriculture by passing laws," the governor told the 50th annual meeting of the Agricultural Council of California.

"The active cooperation of agriculture is essential," he said.

Reagan, who opposes extension of the Taft-Hartley Act to farm labor, noted he called on all major farm organizations last year to adopt "codes of conduct for its members which define minimum employment standards."

24 Students Will Perform In Festival

A contingent of 24 students from San Marin High School in Novato will participate all day Saturday in the annual California Music Educator's Association solo-ensemble festival in Santa Rosa, according to John F. Yardas, music instructor at San Marin High School.

Included in the San Marin High entries will be one violin solo, two string quartets, one mixed vocal quartet, one clarinet trio, two mixed reed quartets and one brass sextet. All are members of the high school's music department chamber orchestra, concert band or choir.

Franc Pressure Hikes Gold Cost

LONDON (AP) — Pressure on the French franc sent the price of gold to another new high in London today. The price rose 25 cents to $43.25 per ounce at the morning fixing.

Dealers said the price probably would go higher, and sellers were holding back.

Most of the demand was coming from France, with one dealer estimating the French demand as high as 75 per cent of the market. The French were reported smuggling money out of their country to convert it into gold.

Foreign exchange dealers believe devaluation of the franc is only a matter of time. Fears for the French currency stem from the French trade unions' demands for higher wages, and speculators have moved into the bullion market to hedge.

No Charges

No charges were filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against Bobbi Ross, 24, of Forest Knolls, who had been arrested on suspicion of shooting at a duplex apartment in San Geronimo Valley early Saturday.

Named to the committee Tuesday were Bertram L. Davies, Raymond Duste, Geoffrey F. Barrett, Mary Goldschmidt and Mrs. Burgess.

The board also agreed to hold a dance April 12 at Brown's Hall to end the membership drive now under way, Mrs. Burgess said. Time of the dance has not been set.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

There are many nerves in the body; some more vulnerable to trouble than others, because of location or length. Perhaps these cordlike structures pass through a small opening in a bone or fibrous structure, or they may be in a position where easily damaged by pressure.

A few are susceptible to changes in nutritional or metabolic requirements leading to the nervous disorders associated with gout and diabetes.

ONE OF THE BETTER known neuropathies, as they are called, is Bell's palsy. The victim cannot close the eye, retract the corner of the mouth, or wrinkle the forehead on the affected side. In this case, the facial nerve is involved, usually near the bony opening through which it passes.

Tic doulloureux is another common facial neuropathy. In contrast to Bell's palsy, there is no paralysis but pain is severe. Dilantin and Tegretol have proved effective in many instances.

SEVERAL NERVES in the upper extremities are real trouble makers. The median nerve, for example, passes through a tunnel (carpal) in the wrist on its way to the thumb, index, and middle fingers. When this passageway is irritated, the swelling pinches off the nerve, causing tingling, numbness, and pain of the digits mentioned.

Persistent compression leads to weakness of the muscles of the thumb. The radial nerve also is subject to pressure, especially in the armpit and upper arm. An example is the paralysis that occurs after falling asleep with the limb hanging over the arm of the chair.

THE ULNAR, the third large nerve in the arm, is subject to pressure, especially at the elbow. Sleeping with the head resting on the hand and the elbow pressed against a hard surface is an example. The nerve passes through the groove called the funny bone. Palsy may ensue when this structure is fractured or if a callus is pressing on the nerve.

Joint deformities may also stretch the ulnar nerve at the elbow.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

SEVERE SCIATICA

Mrs. E. D. writes: What is the best treatment for the pain of sciatica? Are massages and daily exercises recommended? I was laid up for many, many weeks with such excruciating pain down the leg and into the calf, I couldn't even take one step.

REPLY

Sciatic pain usually stems from a disorder of the disk between two vertebrae in the lower back. In most instances, pain subsides spontaneously, but when it persists, surgery is necessary.

POP GOES HER ANKLE

A reader writes: Every time my 24-year-old daughter moves her ankels, they pop. Is she lacking in joint oil or something?

REPLY

No, this manifestation may be due to a rheumatic conditon of the joint or of the fibrous tissues and ligaments surrounding it. An examination should determine the cause of the popping sound.

VITAMIN D STONES

REPLY

Vitamin D in large doses increases the amount of calcium in the blood and the excess is excreted by the kidneys. Should the urine become concentrated, calcium crystals may stick together and form stones.

PREMARITAL BLOOD TEST

A reader writes: Is the premarital blood test done to detect only syphilis or other diseases also?

REPLY

Renovation At $104,000 For School

Renovation totaling $104,000 at Reed School has been tentatively approved by the Reed Union School District board.

The plan presented Tuesday night calls for up to $70,000 for site improvements, playground development, turf, loading area and utility road and up to $34,000 for new carpeting, cabinets, tables and other refurbishing in the building.

Vice chairman Thomas Price, who is in the school supply business, was asked to work with the staff in preparing final specifications for the work.

The board postponed until Monday ordering new bids for construction of Reedland Woods School. The architect will present bid specifications at the meeting at 8 p.m. at Bel Aire School.

The Reed Union School District board also:

READING — Was told sample testing at Bel Aire and Reed schools shows sixth graders are reading at or above expected levels.

NEGOTIATING — Officially recognized a new negotiating council for the teaching staff, but postponed naming a board representative to negotiate salary schedules.

MEETING — Set a closed meeting for Monday, following the Reedland Woods bid matter, to discuss rehiring personnel.

Bail Criticized As Punishment

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A group—claiming police set excessive bail to punish demonstrators—has launched a bail fund campaign.

The Bay Area Committee to Defend Political Freedom, is headquartered at Berkeley. It was formed last year during the Oakland trial of Black Panther Huey Newton.

Spokesmen said money raised will be used to post bail for those arrested for "political activities" and to challenge high bail set for persons who are "poor, black, brown or political dissenters."

At a news conference Wednesday, it was reported the group has received $12,000 in contributions and loans. Of that, $9,500 was used as bail for 10 persons, including Black Panthers and San Francisco State College students.

Citizens Form Panel To Back Tax Hike Vote

A citizens' tax election committee to promote the Reed School District's porposed 50-cent tax rate increase on the April 15 ballot has been organized.

Heading the committee is John S. Hoffmire, former Tiburon city councilman. Also on the committee are Albert Sennett, Cliffton W. Healey, J. Odgen Mills, William F. Carroll, William T. Davoren, Richard C. Schoenbrun, Ann Goff, Hal R. Lever, Jack McIntyre, Merrit K. Ruddock, M. P. Evenson and John Miller.

The committee, which plans to have more than 200 persons working on the campaign, is in the process of selecting area chairmen and block workers, according to Hoffmire.

The committee is also preparing a 30-page booklet for distribution, he said.

Collegian Bank Scholarships Given

A College of Marin faculty committee has selected Jeff L. Andre, 20, of Novato, and Leilani E. Torres, 19, of Greenbrae as recipients of the annual $300 Bank of America scholarship awards.

Andre, a business management major, plans to attend Humboldt State College next fall. Miss Torres, a secretarial major, will graduate from College of Marin in June.

GOP Sentinel System Foe To Seek Delay By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading Republican critic of the Sentinel (ABM) missile project says he will ask President Nixon to delay a decision on deployment of the so-called "thin" defense system until Congress can thrash out the controversial subject in fullscale debate.

"I am approaching this from the standpoint of one who is interested in supporting the President in his efforts to get negotiations under way with Russia which could make it unnecessary to build this costly system," Kentucky's John Sherman Cooper said yesterday.

Cooper is a member of the Foreign Relations Committee and its disarmament subcommittee, one of several focal points for strong Senate opposition to deployment of the nuclear-armed, $5 billion ABM.

Cooper commented in an interview in advance of today's start of subcommittee hearings into the system. The subcommittee chairman, Democrat Albert Gore of Tennessee, is another outspoken critic of the Sentinel.

Amid clamorous public and senatorial criticism, Nixon halted deployment of the Sentinel several weeks ago pending full review.

He told a nationally televised news conference Tuesday night he would announce a decision on whether or not to go ahead with it early next week.

Also in Washington, Rep. Robert Leggett, D-Vallejo, said the Army is "laying down a smokescreen of conflicting statements" to bolster support for the proposed system.

"This borders on fraud," Leggett declared. He is a member of the House Armed Services Committee.

The Army first contended the Sentinel system was needed to protect cities, Leggett asserted, and now is "leading up to a recommendation that what this country really needs is a $10 billion defensive missile system for our ICBM installations."

"There is no military or economic reason to spend $10 billion to protect our arsenal of about 1,650 ICBM missiles from an attack of maybe 30 Chinese missiles," he said in a statement.

Car Recovered

A 1962 MG convertible, reportedly stolen from Eric S. Tainter of 15 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, on Feb. 14, was recovered last night by Corte Madera police at Meadowsweet Drive and Sanford Court, police said today.

Politics Hit At Trial Of Policeman

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The defense for suspended policeman Michael O'Brien, who is charged with manslaughter in the death of a Negro truck driver, implied in his final argument that Mayor Joseph Alioto was using the trial for political gain.

Lawyer Jake Ehrlich, attorney for the San Francisco Police Officers Association, did not mention Alioto's name yesterday but obviously was referring to the mayor when he said "the man who wants to run for governor next year."

Ehrlich said politics was the reason a manslaughter indictment was handed down by the Grand Jury against O'Brien, who said his gun went off as he was knocked to the ground after an argument last Sept. 29, killing George Baskett.

"Politics will not destroy the San Francisco Police Department. Destroy them and we all go," Ehrlich said. "You'll be afraid to open the door, or go to the grocery for a loaf of bread."

Referring to Alioto, who has been mentioned as a possible Democratic opponent to Gov. Ronald Reagan in 1970, the lawyer said, "I will get to that man later."

Ehrlich also charged in his final argument before the jury of seven men and five women that 18 witnesses he said should have appeared before the Grand Jury did not appear prior to the indictment.

Dinghy Is Found Near San Rafael

A dinghy stolen from Lowrie's Yacht Harbor in San Rafael Saturday was later found pushed off the side of Summit Avenue near San Rafael, sheriff's officers reported yesterday.

Yacht harbor employees reported seeing two men put the white plastic dinghy into an old panel truck and drive off.

Marin Has Failure, Success In Past Tourneys

By GARY TISCHLER

The histories of the Marin County and Oakland athletic leagues in the High School Tournament of Champions is a parallel story of bleak failure, spotty success and fabulous records.

The two leagues meet again tonight when Redwood High School of Larkspur (23-4) and Castlemont High School of Oakland (18-2) battle it out at 6 o'clock in the first round of the basketball extravaganza.

With the exception of the first two years, when Drake played as a North Bay League entrant, and again in 1963 and for the past three years, appearances by Marin teams in the tourney have been merely appearances. It reads like an unbroken trail of disaster — one-two heave ho and you're out.

Only Drake and Tamalpais of Mill Valley have had any luck at all and only those two teams, plus San Rafael and Redwood, have ever represented the league at the tournament.

For 12 years of competition, Marin County teams have a third place, a fourth, and four consolation titles to show for their efforts. Six times MCAL teams have been wiped out in two games, including a string of failure that ran from 1959 through 1962, until Eddie Chavez' Tamalpais Indians copped the consolation title in 1963.

Drake, making the first trip by a Marin team, in 1957, still owns the best finish, a third place windup when Jack Fitzhenry-coached Pirates opened with a 45-41 win over Monterey, lost to Encinal, 56-47, then blasted Burlingame, 50-36.

The following year they brought a 26-1 record to the tourney, lost the opener to Mount Diablo, 43-40, then won two straight, 48-32 over Chico and 52-43 over Capuchino for the consolation title.

Then came the three-year Dark Ages as first Tamalpais in 1960, then Redwood in 1961 and San Rafael in 1962, went down in two-game sets.

Tamalpais opened the 1963 tournament getting lambasted by Sacred Heart of San Francisco, 61-36, but then upset Montgomery, 49-47 and whipped Watsonville, 51-45 to take the consolation title.

San Rafael came back in 1964, got ousted in two games as did Redwood the following year, losing the first game to eventual tourney champ Fremont of Oakland, 71-38, and to Clayton Valley, 41-39.

Then came the upswing.

Drake gave McClymonds of the Oakland league a scare in the 1966 opener, eventually losing, 51-47. The Pirates, behind Bob Tobin, Jerry Sprout, Will Curley, Bill Ingram and Chet Carlisle, then blasted Sonoma, 59-45, and edged Salesian of Richmond, 66-59, to capture the consolation crown.

The Pirates came back the following year, beating Newark 53-51 in the opener, then dropping two straight to eventual champ Fremont and then Berkeley, 50-34, and 56-47 in a pair of games that were a lot closer than the score.

Tamalpais returned in 1968,

Bright Cage Future For Seventh Graders

WHIZ KIDS — Ordinarily a seventh grade basketball team doesn't rate much notice, but the seventh graders at St. Anselm's School in San Anselmo are something else.

Coached by Don Guild of Kentfield, the swinging little saints from seventh heaven haven't lost a Marin County Catholic Youth Organization game in three years, or from the fourth through seventh grades. Their won-lost record for that period is 50-Ohmigosh.

The awesome superiority of this team is noted in the margins of some of its victories this season. Like, would you believe 93 to 7 and 83 to 9? In the CYO program's seven-minute quarters, they have scored at a fearsome rate, in some games averaging between three and four points a minute. Their average Marin CYO League score this season was 58-14, a shade better than two points a minute to one-half point a minute for opponents.

From Solid Basketball Stock

Three of the players come from solid basketball stock. Eddie Chavez, who has average 19 points a game, is the son of former University of Santa Clara star Ed Chavez, presently director of student activities and finance at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley. Rick Herbert, who has averaged 18.5 points per game, is the son of Dave Herbert, former San Francisco high school and Marin Junior College all-star of 1946-47 vintage. And Mark Lavin is the son of Albert "Cappy" Lavin, another Bay Area prep and college standout of the '40s.

Other players on the St. Anselm's team are Joey Wilkinson who has average 16.3 points per game, Kevin Loren, Willie Fahy and John Elke.

They have a good chance of winning all the marbles in the CYO San Francisco Archdiocese Championships this Sunday. Last Sunday they whipped Sacred Heart of Santa Clara, 57-47, in the CYO semi-finals at San Jose, advancing to this Sabboth's championship game at Riordan High School, S.F.

'Best I Have Ever Seen'

The senior Chavez, who has played and coached a lot of outstanding basketball in his day, describes the St. Anselm's seventh graders as, ". . . the best (junior level) team I have ever seen. They're the UCLA of Marin County."

It looks like Marin Catholic, Drake and Redwood high schools stand to inherit some great cagers in the next few years. If those kids stayed together through the same high school—wow!

GOLF NOTES — San Geronimo National course has been selected as the site for the second annual Marin County Women's Golf Tournament of Champions.

Nancy (Mrs. Lawrence) Gapinski, captain of the San Geronimo women's golf club and runner-up to Mrs. William May in last August's inaugural T of C at Indian Valley in Novato, will head the tourney committee. The date for the event matching the champions of Marin's six clubs in the Northern California Golf Association is tentatively set for Wednesday, Aug. 27.

Men's Tourney At Meadow Club

The men's Marin T of C, by the way, is scheduled for the Meadow Club in Fairfax, probably in June.

NEXT MONDAY and Tuesday the San Geronimo course will host a tournament involving foursomes (three amateurs and one pro) from each of the nine courses in the National Golf Courses chain.

Teams will come from two courses in Portland, three from Southern California, Whitney Ranch of Sacramento, San Ramon in Contra Costa County, Sonoma National and, of course, San Geronimo National. The host team will include pro Bob Ellsworth and amateurs Bob Dreyfus and Ken Harnquist of Ross and Mike O'Donnell of San Rafael.

'Let Down Blues' Again As North Stars Top Seals

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI)—Late period "let-down blues" appear to be affecting the Oakland Seals who have won only one of their last five games.

Latest humiliation came 5-2 last night at the hands of the Minnesota North Stars who beat the Seals for the first time this season on their home ice. Prior to the contest, the Seals had won two and tied one at the Metropolitan Sports Center.

Oakland skated on a par with Minnesota only in the first period which ended 2-2. The Seals unloaded 16 shots on goalie Cesare Maniago in that period and came back with 21 more shots during the rest of the game.

Goals by J. P. Parise in the second and third periods plus an insurance tally by Ray Cullen with 55 seconds left in the game was Minnesota's margin of victory.

Claude Larose scored twice in the opening period for the North Stars but Oakland's Norm Ferguson and defenseman Bert Marshall tallied the equalizers. It was Ferguson's 26th goal of the season and puts him one goal behind Minnesota's Danny Grant in their battle for rookie of the year honors in the National Hockey League.

Minnesota unloaded 44 shots on goalkeeper Gary Smith as 11,270 fans roared their approval. Of late, the Seals have tended to relax too often at critical stages of games.

The Seals play next at St. Louis Saturday night.

O. J.'s Terms Are Called 'Outrageous'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Buffalo Bills' owner Ralph C. Wilson calls salary demands of O. J. Simpson "outrageous"—"more money than Buffalo netted in its last three years of operation"—Melvin Durslag said in his column for the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner yesterday.

Durslag, writing from Bal Harbor, Fla., said he asked the vacationing Wilson what are the money demands of Southern California's All-America football player. Replied Wilson: $600,000.

"I'm not sure that anyone short of Howard Hughes can handle the package," he quoted the owner of the American Football League team, which picked Simpson as the No. 1 draft choice.

"Simpson sent his agent and lawyer to meet me at my office in Detroit. They were very nice young men and very gentlemanly. I made what I felt was a substantial offer.

"I did not come in with a piddling offer for bargaining purposes. I offered more money than any man has been paid since the merger. I was hoping to avoid a haggling match.

"They informed me that Simpson was probably the greatest ever to play football. They said that he should earn more than Donny Anderson. I asked, 'How much was that?' They said $600,000."

Wilson said he was asked also for "a substantial fringe benefit—I mean, a very, very substantial fringe benefit. Now, they not only had asked too much money, but had imposed a condition no owner could possibly live with."

"Their requests are so outrageous," Wilson continued, "that the whole thing depresses me. Simpson wants more money than Buffalo netted in its last three years of operation."

Nate, Jeff Lead S.F. Past Bullets

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — When Nate Thurmond and Jeff Mullins both are clicking at top form, the San Francisco Warriors can beat the National Basketball Association's best, namely the Baltimore Bullets.

The Warriors did that last night 114-107, and will try to repeat the feat here again tomorrow night against Baltimore.

Thurmond scored 34 points and grabbed 28 rebounds. Two of the dozen free throws he made in 16 attempted came in the last half minute after Mullins had broken a 100-all deadlock with a field goal and free throw.

Mullins matched Thurmond's 11 field goals and had a dozen rebounds. His point total was 28.

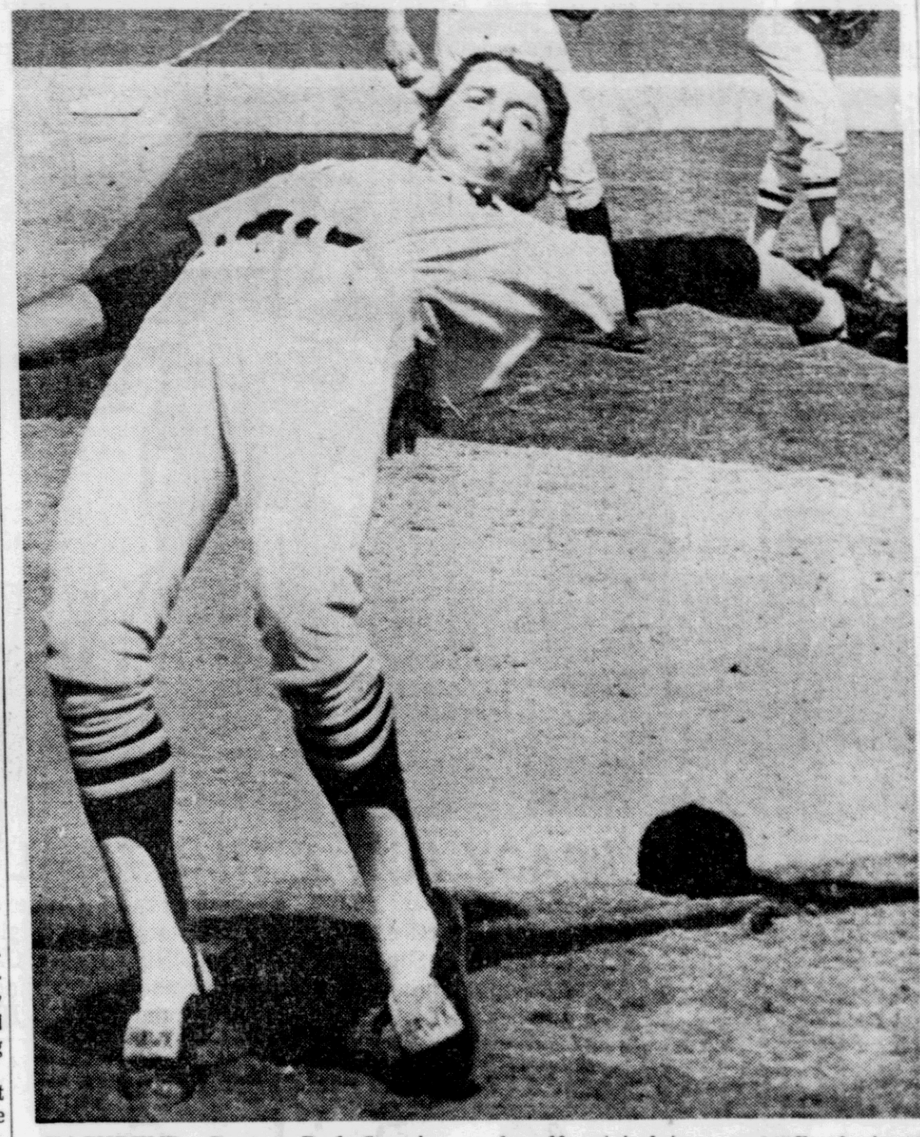

Baltimore's Earl Monroe outscored both Thurmond and Mullins with 42 points and got 13 of those in the third quarter and 18 in the fourth quarter as the Bullets erased a 10-point Warrior lead to move into the 100-all tie. Monroe hit on 18 of 36 field goal tries. Wes Unseld led the Bullets' rebounding with 17.

Follow The Leader

STANFORD (UPI)—Golf buddies Harold Hildreth of Menlo Park and Hank Keys of Atherton played follow the leader with their nine irons yesterday on the eighth hole at the Stanford University golf course.

Hildreth shot first and scored a hole in one on the par-three, 130-yard hole. Keyes strode to the tee and put his ball on top of Hildreth's in the cup.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Big Frank Howard Is Sitting It Out

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

With Ted Williams managing and Frank Howard hitting, the Washington Senators should pack the parks this season, but Williams will have to carry the load alone today when the Senators open their exhibition season.

Howard, the giant home run hitter whose presence Williams certainly would trade for half the people in the stands, is still holding out for more money.

Still Williams' managerial debut is expected to attract a full house of curious fans at tiny Municipal Stadium in Pompano Beach against the New York Yankees.

Williams also will be without his other power hitter, Ken McMullen, but at least McMullen is where he can be seen after ending his holdout yesterday by signing an estimated $30,000 contract. However, he has missed the first 10 days of practice and will not play.

Howard, who led the American League with 44 home runs last season, was back home in Green Bay, Wis., talking about quitting unless he gets the three-year, $100,000 per year contract he has been demanding.

Williams and the Senators were not the only ones without top players as the exhibition games begin.

Minnesota still was without Dean Chance, Jim Kaat, Cesar Tovar, Leo Cardenas and John Roseboro; Willie Horton was missing from the Detroit camp; Cleveland still had trouble with Sonny Siebert, and Cincinnati still had Pete Rose and Jack Fisher unsigned.

Atlanta had yet to sign Joe Torre and Los Angeles was missing Don Drysdale, Claude Osteen, Ron Fairly and Paul Popovich.

The Twins—although they did give Ted Uhlaender a $10,000 raise to $25,000, the largest increase among the Twins — had other problems. Infielder Rick Renick broke his right ankle sliding into second base during an intrasquad game.

Renick was being groomed for third base, but will be out indefinitely.

Tom Phoebus of Baltimore also signed along with Rich Rollins and Darrell Brandon of Seattle and Ken Boyer of Los Angeles.

On the field yesterday, Roberto Clemente shrugged off his sore shoulder of last season and slammed a home run in Pittsburgh's intrasquad game, and Ken Harrelson homered and singled in a Boston intramural affair.

Curt Motton and Bob Floyd slammed two-run triples at the Baltimore camp and Ron Swoboda drove in two runs for the New York Nets.

Among the pitchers, Bob Miller of Minnesota, Don Shaw of Montreal and Denny Lemaster of Houston each pitched two perfect innings and Jim Palmer of Baltimore hurled three scoreless innings.

But the best performance came from Dick Radatz, known as the Monster when he starred as a relief pitcher for Boston, who retired all 12 men he faced in Detroit's intrasquad contest.

Oaks Whip Houston

MIAMI (AP) — The Oakland Oaks will try to keep winning without Rick Barry when they tackle the Miami Floridians tonight.

Oakland, behind a 32-point effort by Gary Bradds, reeled off a 140-134 victory last night against Houston in an American Basketball Association game at Indianapolis.

The Oaks scored 41 points in the third quarter to build a 21-point cushion and then held off a final period spurt by the Mavericks, led by Bob Verga's 33 points.

Barry is out of action with a knee injury for which he underwent surgery earlier this week.

FINAL TABULATIONS

Marin Skipper Wins In Nassau

It was a clear-cut case of the smallest having the "mostest."

Michael Shea of Belvedere finally struck paydirt in the prestigous Southern Ocean Racing circuit, emerging as victor in the Miami-to-Nassau race after all the corrected times were tabulated yesterday.

Shea and his 30-foot sloop, Lively Lady II, wound up with a corrected time of 14 hours, 18 minutes and 2 seconds to finish first in the fleet and first in Class D.

In fact, it was a good day for Class D boats, smallest in the four divisions. The first four fleet positions on corrected time were filled by Class D craft.

The Miami-to-Nassau race stretched out to 184 miles and Shea finished it in a scratch time of 23 hours, five minutes.

Thirty-five mile-per-gusts pushed all the boats to good times, including Windward Passage, a Class A boat owned by Bob Johnson of Freeport, Bahamas. Windward Passage finished the course in a record time of 15 hours and 53 minutes, but it was a scratch boat and finished 54th in corrected time standings.

Sailing with Shea were David Allen, Tom Cooke and Praben Jurvig, all of Belvedere, and Joe Harris of Miami.

Hunt Sure Knows How To Get On, But It Hurts

PHOENIX (AP) — Ron Hunt wants to give up his role this year as the No. 1 target of National League pitchers.

"This season," the San Francisco Giants' second baseman said yesterday, "I'm going to be light on my feet."

The oft-injured scrapper already is five pounds under last year's reporting weight of 183.

He led the N.L. in three categories—most times hit by a pitched ball, 25, which was a league record; most walks, 78; and least number of strikeouts, 36.

"At that, 36 was my career high," Hunt pointed out. "I don't strike out much."

He also led the Giants in laying down sacrifice bunts, advancing a runner into scoring positions 16 times without failing.

"I found early I wasn't one of those big power boys," said Hunt. "And besides, I had early tutors who told me to go for base hits, teachers like Paul Waner and Solly Hemus.

"My idea is to make the best of what I have. I know my limitations."

Hunt had the best record of among the Giants for getting on base last year. He hit .250 but the ratio of times at bat against the times he reached first base was .344.

Hunt hopes to hit better to make up for a possible drop in the number of times he gets hit by pitches.

Shoe Selling Newest Olympic Event

NEW YORK (AP) — Track and field competition at last October's Olympics seems to have included a new event—selling shoes—and the athletes found it much more profitable than running the mile, throwing the shot or dashing the 440.

The unofficial event apparently was entered by several German shoe manufacturers, who allegedly paid athletes from all countries to wear their shoes for advertising purposes.

While jamerican athletic officials reiterated yesterday they knew some United States athletes accepted such money, they still can't prove it. But the International Amateur Athletic Federation will be doing its best to do away with the event, which is illegal under amateur rules.

SINGLE COLOR

"Somehing, soon, is going to be done to stop you running in shoes given to you by firms for the sole purpose of advertising," warned the Marquess of Exeter, president of the IAAF. "The majority of the council is in favor of a single color (for shoes)—probably white. We shall make our final decision and announce the date when other shoes will be outlawed after our meeting in London in June."

The advertising payoff controversy first flared at the 1968 Winter Olympics when ski manufacturers tried to get athletes to wear their products. It continued into the Summer Games when rumors were rampant that athletes were receiving under-the-table payments.

Then, yesterday, Sports Illustrated, in a copyrighted article by John Underwood, charged in its March 10 issue that track athletes at Mexico City were getting as much as $100,000 in cash and $350,000 in equipment from the shoe manufacturers.

"We investigated this very thoroughly," said Douglas F. Roby, president of the United States Olympic Committee, from Detroit, "and I don't think there was anything like those proportions.

"The largest amount we could come up with was a cashier's check for 6,000 German marks, about $1,500 I think. It was signed by the recipient in both places.

"We can't prove he got it for wearing any particular shoes, but we think this was done pretty generally. All of our information has been turned over to the AAU (Amateur Athletic Union), which is working with the IAAF to have all shoes alike in the future."

During the Summer Games, Dan Ferris, secretary emeritus of the AAU, said an "investigation centers around those athletes who did not see fit to notify their superiors of the payments."

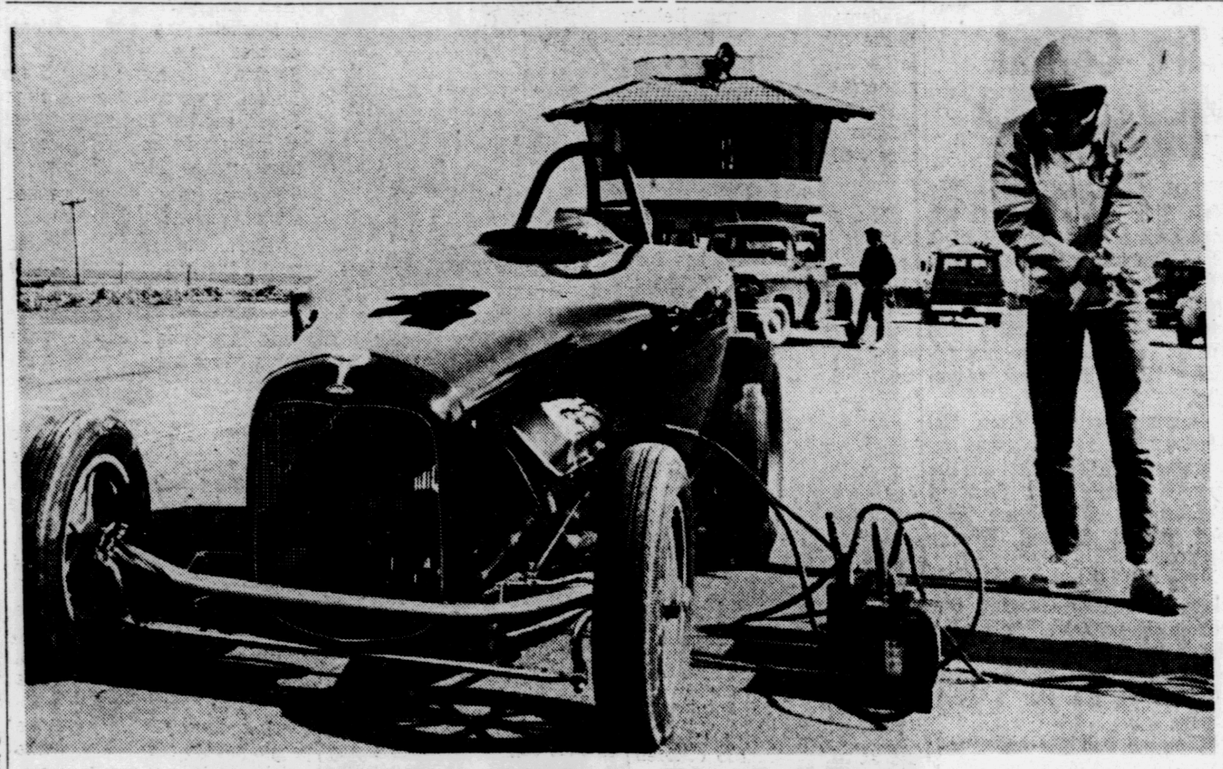

QUESTIONS

Ferris was not available for comment on the magazine article yesterday, but Roby said the AAU now is in the process of "calling in boys who got checks and saying, 'did you get it for this?'

"If he says he didn't get it for wearing somebody's shoes, how are you going to prove he did?"

Although the magazine article did not name any athletes, it did quote Dick Banks of Beverly Hills, who once represented Adidas, one of the German firms, as saying "there were no more than five U.S. medal winners in track and field who did not get some money."

READY FOR A TIME TRIAL

Kim Conerty of Napa puts on his gloves and heads for his A/A Gas dragster for a practice run at Sears Point International Raceway in Sonoma County. Yesterday and today timing equipment was being tested for this weekend's National Open drag races, first event of the new raceway, which is located off Highway 121 near its junction with Highway 37. Gates will open at 7 a.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday for the event, sanctioned by the National Hot Rod Association.

Packers' Bengtson Gets Full Control

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Phil Bengtson won't be moving into tnhe Throne Room in Green Bay for a couple of days yet, but workmen are preparing a sign with his name on it to go where it now reads, Mr. Lombardi.

Bengtson was named yesterday as Green Bay's general manager, adding those duties to his present job as head coach.

Ten years ago those same jobs were handed Vince Lombardi and he built the Packers into the power of the National Football League. Lombardi moved to Washington last month as head coach, executive vice president and part owner of the Redskins.

Lombardi resigned as head coach after the 1967 season and Bengtson, who built the Packers' famed defense during the Lombardi Era in Green Bay, stepped into the master's shoes. Now the whole job is his.

"I think that we have a very competent, experienced staff," Bengtson said. "I don't contemplate any personnel changes or policy changes. We have a successful football operation and I don't think changes are required."

Bengtson will have full authority to make the changes—when he thinks they are needed.

Bengtson will be given a "free rein" and there will be "no type of interference at all," said Packer President Dominic Olejniczak, who hired Lombardi, and announced Bengston's move to the front office.

Bengtson will have complete authority on all but financial aspects of the Packers.

He said the club's preseason schedule already is firmed up, the signing of draft choices is progressing very well and the opening of training camp will begin one week later this year because the Packers will not play in the College All-Star game.

Bengtson got his schooling in tough football long before he met Lombardi. A tackle at Minnesota while the strict Bernie Bierman was building national champions in the early 1930s, Bengtson declined to play pro ball and moved to college coaching, at Missouri and Stanford.

He was an assistant with the San Francisco 49ers for eight years before Lombardi tapped him to patch up what was then the league's leakiest defense.

As head coach last season, he took over a team with problems that were multiplied by injuries and the Packers finished with their worst record in 10 years.

Cooper Wins On Knockout

Cooper, 158, Oakland, floored the 30-year-old Austin, 159, San Diego, in the first round.

Although Cooper never was able to repeat the knockdown, Austin was taking a beating against the ropes when the scheduled 10-round bout was halted at 1:20 of the seventh. It was Cooper's 14th victory against one loss and a draw.

The loser now has a 32-30-3 record, and suffered his 12th knockout.

Giants To Face Cubs In Exhibition Opener

PHOENIX (UPI) — A smattering of rookies and veterans will take the field tomorrow for the San Francisco Giants in their 1969 Cactus League opener against the Chicago Cubs at Scottsdale.

There was no sign of righthanded pitcher Juan Marichal yesterday. He and first baseman Willie McCovey are the only remaining Giant holdouts but McCovey has been working out.

Manager Clyde King, who called the conditioning phase of the spring training a success, said he would start rookies Bob Burda at first and Don Mason at second. In the outfield will be Willie Mays, Bobby Bonds and Dave Marshall. Hal Lanier will occupy familiar ground at shortstop as will Jim Davenport at third base.

"We've achieved everything we wanted at Casa Grande and more," said King. "And this was in spite of late reportings caused by the boycott.

"What we've missed because of not having a full squad on hand except for the past two days will be worked on in Phoenix."

King also said he was pleased by the attitude of the players in volunteering to do more than they were asked.

Finley, Players Far Apart

And it appears that's how far apart the owner of the Oakland Athletics is from signing his two star outfielders.

Jackson, who got $10,000 last year, reportedly wants about $23,000 this season. Finley doesn't want to go quite that high. Monday also would like about a $9,000 raise from his $18,000 last season but Finley is thinking only about a hike of $4,000-$5,000.

Manager Hank Bauer concludes the first full week of spring training today with an intrasquad game. The A's open their 1969 Cactus League exhibition season this weekend against the Seattle Pilots.

It appears that neither Jackson or Monday will be around for the opener.

Finley was due in the Phoenix-Tempe area last night to talk to Jackson and visit the training site but he postponed the visit due to a business engagement in Texas.

Arnie Drops From Citrus Golf Field

Palmer disclosed the ailment yesterday on the eve of the $115,000 Citrus Golf Tournament which started here today.

"I'm as sorry as everyone else that I won't be able to play here," said Arnie, who has won a million dollars playing golf.

"But in fairness to myself and to my golf game, I think I must give myself an opportunity to cure this condition."

Arnie's doctors have prescribed two weeks of rest and X-ray treatments. They say a tendon rubbing on a nerve is causing the irritation.

South Africa's Gary Player withdrew from the Citrus Tourney earlier this week because of illness, but most of the other big names in golf have shown up.

SPORTS SHORTS

49er-Raider Game Aug. 31

The Oakland Raiders of the American Football League will play the cross-bay rival San Francisco 49ers of the NFL on Sunday, Aug. 31 at the Oakland Coliseum in the featured attraction on their three-game pre-season home schedule, General Manager Al Davis announced today.

The 49er game, third in the rivalry with each team boasting a victory, will close Oakland's home pre-season schedule. The Raiders also announced they will host the NFL champion Baltimore Colts on Saturday, Aug. 9 and will play one other pre-season game at home, to be announced shortly.

Tournament Success, And Failure

under Bernie Schneider, lost a close 51-44 verdict to Bishop O'Dowd, state champ the previous year, then toppled Newark, 69-60, and Montgomery, 51-46 for the league's fourth consolation title and the school's second.

Looking at the Oakland athletic league is like looking at a war hero's chest. It's loaded. The league, in particular McClymonds and Fremont, have all but called the tournament its own.

McClymonds owns eight titles, including a fantastic stretch of six in a row from 1958-1963. Fremont has won twice, in 1965 and again in 1967. That's ten titles for the league, in addition to two runnerup finishes, two third place finishes and two consolation titles.

But the hitch is that Castlemont has never seen the TOC except as spectators, so that it has become defender of a proud record which the school has had no part in building.

Redwood will be trying to add to Marin's list of all-tourney players. Bill Gallagher and Bob Cox of Drake were the first, Gallagher being named two years in a row, 1957-58.

In 1966, Bob Tobin of Drake was named to the team, followed by Drake's 6-6 center Jerry Sprout in 1967 and Tamalpais center Pat Schafer last year.

The Oakland Athletic League has had 31 all-tournament selections.

Poll To Pick All-Time Best

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—The major leagues' greatest player and an All-Time All-Star team will be chosen by a poll of fans and sports writers this year in conjunction with the celebration of the 100th anniversary of professional baseball, it was announced today by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

A poll of fans in the United States and Canada, conducted by each of the 24 major league clubs, will start during spring training and end by June 1. The names of each club's greatest players will be turned over to the Baseball Writers' Association of America for the final selection of the game's No. 1 player and All-Time All-Star team.

The results of the promotion will be announced at a dinner in Washington, D.C., July 21, the day before the All-Star Game. Guests will include the living members of the greatest team, the runnersup, all living members of the Hall of Fame, heroes of previous All-Star games and the 50 players selected for the 1969 All-Star teams.

TEACHER OF CHAMPS

Tennis Is Paul Wilkins' Love

By GARY TISCHLER

Men will develop grand passions for almost anything — women, horses, a particular bottle, ideas or ideals.

Paul Wilkins' passion, love of life, rainbow and obsession is tennis, but he will never whip Rod Laver.

Tennis — not the club tea glasses, the friendly games, nor dowager powderpuff matches but the tennis of long, grinding hours of learning to be a tennis player with a capital P.

BUILDS CHAMPS

For if there is anything that Wilkins knows how to do, it is to teach and coach tennis. Like Wheaties, he builds champions, among other things. Also corporations, tennis palaces and a reputation as one of the finest teaching professionals in the country.

Wilkins, the former Belvedere Tennis Club professional now living in Novato, is the underground reason for the sudden appearance of a rich flock of young tennis stars-to-be in Marin County.

Look at the Northern California age rankings, and it's richly stocked in Marin players. And 80 per cent or so were or are being coached by Wilkins

That's a proven success story. But that's not all. Think of something involving tennis and Paul Wilkins is probably in the middle of it.

Right now, he is pro director of Tennis West, a corporation designed to teach people who want to teach tennis, according to the documented Wilkins method, it's a company which also hires out teachers, and is involved in providing tennis equipment. Also under the auspices of Tennis West, Wilkins is director (during the summer) of the Sun Valley Tennis School in Sun Valley, Idaho, a year-round resort town. He also is instructor at San Domenico School in San Anselmo, Convent of the Sacred Heart, Saint Rose Academy and Katherine Delmar Burke School in San Francsico, in addition to directing numerous tennis tournaments.

Tennis has done well by Paul Wilkins, and Paul Wilkins has done well by tennis.

RETURN

"My success has exceeded anything I've ever dreamed of," he says now. "Tennis has done me a lot of favors. I'd like to repay it by doing tennis favors."

All of this is not bad for a fellow who grew up in Texas, a state where football players are little godlings. As a football player at Texas A & M and Lamar Tech, Wilkins admittedly had "a lot of heart and spirit, not enough talent and not enough size." He rode the bench at A & M when Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama fame, was coaching there.

"He paid me one of the best compliments I've ever received," Wilkins recalled. "He said if all the players had as much guts as I did we'd have been outlawed as a lethal weapon."

PAUL WILKINS
Mr. Tennis

But for Wilkins, who was a Texas state tennis champion, it was tennis that turned out to be his life, that took him on the road with wife and family and eventually brought him to Carmel Valley as a teaching pro. From there he was persuaded to come to Belvedere by Walter Machette, father of Mike Machette, a national boys 16 doubles champ and one of Wilkins' prize pupils.

WINNERS

That was in 1963, and he came up with winners. He has a way with youngsters. It shows in the rankings. Take a look.

In Northern California Mike Machette of Belvedere is tops in boys 18 age category; Brice Bassett of Belvedere is 17th in boys 16; Bill Kinser of Tiburon is 24th in boys 14; Dan Tierney of Tiburon is 6th in boys 12; Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, 4th, girls 16; Darby Auerbach, 10th, girls 16; Anne Lamott, Tiburon, 7th, girls 14; Bee Kilgore, Tiburon, 14th, girls 14; Lissy Manheim, Tiburon, 17th, girls 16; Patricia Gomez, Tiburon, 10th, girls 12; Jennifer Goberschock, Mill Valley, 15th, girls 12.

In 1967, 12 of the Marin County youngsters in the Northern Cal rankings were Belvedere Club members.

Machette and Miss Walsh have to be the most promising of Wilkins' pupils.

STRONG

"He's strong as an ox," Wilkins says of Mike. "He's a strong mental player, holds up under pressure. He's only 17 and there's no telling what he can do. He can become a great one. He's hungry."

Machette has won a national doubles title with Dickie Stockton, formerly of San Rafael, goes to Redwood High School and has had a great deal of interest in him shown by a number of top-flight schools.

Sharon, only 16, is ranked sixth in girls 16 nationally.

"She's the most dedicated pupil I've ever had," Wilkins said. "She has fantastic potential. She's got every shot in the book. The thing that will make her great is maturity, more experience, and then more experience."

Wilkins admits that his methods will not please everybody. There're not easy, nor full of niceties.

SCHOOLS

"There are two schools of thought about teaching tennis," he said. "There are the people who just want to learn how to play and that's fine. I mean, you're not going to make a Wimbledon champ out of a 35-year-old housewife. I can make people have a respectable game which won't embarrass them. But then comes a youngster who says he or she wants to be a tennis player and that's something else again."

Wilkins figures winning and champions don't come easy. Niether does the teaching end of it.

"If that's what a youngster wants to be, then that's when all the hollering, the kicking, the riding and yelling starts," he says. "You have to do that, constantly You have to be hard. I'll admit it. When it comes to teaching, I guess you could say I'm mean. I'm not there to pat on the back, pamper them, tell them it's all right. You have to tell a kid what to do. But they understand that before we start. Some people can't take that. But if you're going to be a tennis player, that's what it takes."

RADICAL

"I'm not the type of leader that worries about spitting on the floor, and is scared to wear his shirttail out or tell a youngster that he's lazy. I'm radical, I'm intense. But they love it. That's what they want."

Wilkins has a list of 10 ingredients for becoming a champion, and a short, concise list of what makes up an also-ran. It's just as important for him as how to hold a racket or how to return a serve.

Even for the successful, not everything works out. He lost money on a scheme to set up a sort of tennis palace for year-round tennis at Northgate in Terra Linda, a venture that lost $14,000 for the backers, one of whom was Wilkins, two years ago.

He is no longer affiliated with the Belvedere Tennis Club, a situation that is not entirely to his liking.

TO STAY

"I want to stay in Marin County," he said. "We don't particularly like the idea of moving a lot. But if Marin County wants my services, then I'm willing to stay."

Wilkins is married and the father of two children, a boy and a girl, but he's not all that interested in pushing them into the nets, having seen the sometimes disastrous effect overzealous parents can have on youngsters.

"I'd just as soon let them play the piano," he said. "I'm not going to push them."

BOWLING TIPS

Hand and finger position has much to do with the making of the hook. At top the thumb is forward at the top of the backswing, with the fingers behind the ball. In the downswing the fingers start moving ever so slightly to the right side of the ball as the wrist turns. Then at release (lower drawing), the thumb comes out forst and the fingers, still to the right, impart the hooking spin.

Alioto Unhappy, But Will Approve

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mayor Joseph L. Alioto indicated he will reluctantly sign a resolution providing for a $9.1 million expansion and remodelling of Candlestick Park.

"I'm not happy about the situation," he said yesterday, "but we seem to have no other practicable solution." He has favored a more expensive stadium and convention complex in the downtown area.

In a day or two, the resolution passed by supervisors calling for the addition of 20,000 seats, artificial turf, heating and wind protection to Candlestick will be on the mayor's desk.

Tax Relief, Tax Relief! Where Did You Escape?

Remember all that talk about property tax relief?

That was during the election campaign, not so many months ago. But now the Legislature is in session, and look at what we have!

Governor Reagan's Advisory Committee on Tax Reform recommends a statewide property tax to support the schools. This, says the commission, would assist the poorer school districts to raise as much money per child as the richer districts (which is what the state equalization fund is designed to do).

IN CASE WE in Marin should forget which class our school districts fall into, the committee has provided an easy guide. Local school taxes to the amount of $2.88 per $100 assessed valuation would be put in a state pool. Those districts which levy less than $2.88 would have to raise their levies to that amount.

Districts in Marin County which levied less than $2.88 for this year apart from bond repayments (which, we understand, would not be included) were: Bolinas-Stinson $2.105, Fairfax $2.745, Laguna $1.59, Lincoln $1.85, Mill Valley $2.75, Nicasio $2.19, Ross $2.545, San Rafael Elementary $2.775, San Rafael High $2.07, and Tamalpais High $2.085. Petaluma High School District levied $2.33.

So local school taxes in all these districts would have to be increased under the proposed formula.

There's "property tax relief" for you!

WE MUSTN'T, however, think this is just something else to blame on the Reagan administration. Actually, the governor's committee was rather easy on us taxpayers. A bill backed by the California School Boards Association — to which most of our locally elected school boards belong — proposes a statewide property tax for schools of $3.20 — or 32 cents more than the governor's committee recommended.

This would bring tax increases in additional Marin school districts. The following levied general purpose taxes between $2.88 and $3.20 for this year:

Kentfield $2.985, Lagunitas $2.92, Mill Valley $2.95, Reed $3.14, San Anselmo $2.885, and Sausalito $3.04.

So their taxes, too, would go up under the CSBA's plan — as would the tax rate in the new Shoreline Unified District and Novato Unified District.

THE SCHOOLS ARE NOT alone in their plans to pick our pockets more cleanly, either.

The Governor's Advisory Committee on Tax Reform has proposals for $914 million more in state taxes — nearly four times the "surplus" that the administration-backed tax hikes of a year ago piled up in the state treasury.

And then, of course, there are other levies in prospect, such as the one per cent surcharge on state income taxes proposed to finance another layer of government at the regional level. And we must not forget that the county, the cities, the school districts, and the whole horde of special districts are yet to be heard from — with the pay raises some of them have already approved meaning their levies must inevitably rise.

Tax relief blooms in a campaign year — but it's dead and buried by the following spring.

'Fiscal Responsibility'

We quote from reporter Larry D. Hatfield's account of the Monday night meeting of the Marin County Board of Education:

"Accepting with almost no discussion a recommendation by three of its committees . . . the board approved a budget of $396,288 as the county's share of the 1969-70 schools budget. . .

"The board, taking only seven minutes to complete action on it, also approved requests totaling $426,450 for the county schools service fund."

This is the board that talks about "fiscal responsibility" and wants to remove all county school budget control from the county board of supervisors!

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Move Begins In Legislature To End Freeway Obsession

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)— Under discussion for a good many years has been mass transportation in California and the financing thereof. With the near bankruptcy of the Bay Area Rapid Transit project, the question has become paramount at this session of the Legislature.

Back in 1938 the people of the state voted a constitutional amendment providing that all monies realized through the use of the gasoline tax be spent directly and exclusively for the construction of highways.

Thus, more than 30 years ago, the people set a pattern. While there has been much propaganda in favor of breaking this pattern to permit some gas tax funds to be used for other purposes, such a break never has been accomplished, nor even tried through direct vote of the people.

MUCH OF THE opposition has come from Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, veteran guardian of the inviolability of the gas tax funds. The Northern California senator has been adamant in his conviction that gas tax funds belong to California highways and are going to remain in that category.

However, with the added demand for movement of people in the highly populated urban areas, it is a question of how long it will be before a new constitutional amendment is submitted to change this 30-year-old policy.

There are signs that such a proposal is in the offing, as other legislators, both urban and rural, are facing tax confrontations from their constituents which are becoming more critical as time marches on and government expenses mount.

SAYS ROBERT T. Monagan, R-Tracy, speaker of the Assembly:

"I am convinced we have made a tragic mistake in allowing California cities to become mired in a tangle of freeways, and become totally dependent on the automobile for transportation. . . .

"The objective of state policy ought to be to move people, not vehicles. Public policy for transportation must be changed to reflect this."

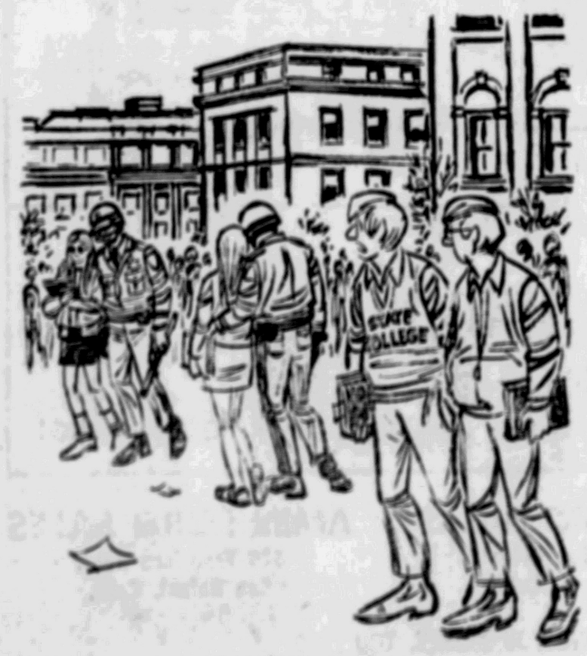

Monagan suggests that the first move should be establishment of a state transportation board, and a central planning office which would have authority to implement a plan.

Times have changed materially since 1938, but Monagan says the state still has time to restructure its transportation policy before cities choke on freeways and nothing can move.

But, he points out, "Time is running out!"

Attacks upon the news media will rise in direct proportion to the intensity of public frustration in meeting the problems of the day. — Wes Gallagher.

Candidates' Vote Records Needed

I would like to commend you on the service you are rendering the community with your editorials.

Would it be possible for you to go a step farther? It is almost impossible for the average person to keep statistics on our government representatives. When they campaign they all sound like they have worn a halo while in office.

If your newspaper could give a list of a campaigner's voting record on important issues while in office you would really be doing everyone a service, just a line like: For — then a list of things voted for and a list of against, and repeat the procedure.

There are so many bills that are slipped into law without the average person being aware that it has happened. A good example is Senate Bill 35 to eliminate the unlimited taxation that school districts can impose on property tax. Very few people know that this was passed or who introduce the bill.

If a person running for office knew the record would be published a lot of votes might be different, for the people instead of the lobbies and small pressure groups.

C. MUELLER
San Rafael

(Editor's note: Regarding the removal of ceiling on school district general purpose operating taxes: this will take effect in 1971, under the Unruh Education Act (AB 272 in the 1967 Legislature). This was a "package bill" for school financing; it was introduced by Assemblyman Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles, but was considerably amended in committee. Even many of the legislators were unaware the removal of tax ceilings was in it. SB 35, to repeal this section — thus keeping the ceilings subject to voter approval— was introduced this year by Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, and is in committee.)

Class Offered In Safe Driving

Thank you for the editorial Feb. 22. It's about time somebody was taking notice of this great slaughter on our highways. But the big question: is anything being done to reduce this tremendous death and injury toll each year?

I would like to report that the National Safety Council has a course in "Driver Improvement" going right here in Marin County. We have had 10 classes this past year and graduated some 250 persons. They all speak highly of what they have learned from the work book provided and the excellent colored motion pictures illustrating the mistakes that many drivers make.

The next class will start March 10 at the San Rafael Methodist Church, 10 a.m.-noon, and will continue until March 31 each Monday morning.

Why School Tax (Bond Issue) Failed

Low marks for your editorial, "Some Reasons Why School Bond Issues Fail" singling out student riots and parental dissatisfaction with students' achievement, also your supposed "straight news" report of the San Rafael tax failure laced with a gratituous editorial opinion along the same lines. . . .

In what way can defeat of a school tax with resulting impairment of elementary education lead to a more rational campus climate?

In what way can cutbacks in school finance, with increased teacher loads, double sessions, over-crowded classrooms, contribute to more proficiency in any aspect of education?

An examination of the tax structure would suggest other possible factors governing the tax defeats:

1. Increasing taxation in all areas, and in particular the property tax.

2. The property tax is already overburdened and a regressive tax, hurting unfairly the lower income group, and particularly the elderly, who have reared their children, paid off their homes, and are living on a fixed pension which is being whittled away by inflation.

3. The property tax, making up about 13 per cent of the state income, is now bearing about two-thirds of the burden of school tax. . . .

As to the disagreements between parents and educators, instead of acting as a sounding board for such conservative movements as the John Birch Society, the I-J should present both sides, otherwise it cannot justify its journalistic existence. . . .

Recently a hitch-hiking high school student here told me why he thought our high school was better than the one he had transferred from "In Miami, the teacher told you what to do. Here you work on your own and the teacher works with you and you learn more."

I believe you underestimate the intelligence of your readers who, like this student, are several grade levels above your editorial position.

Japan Courts Chinese Trade But Opens Doors To U.S.

TOKYO — A Japanese trade mission headed by a member of parliament belonging to the ruling Liberal-Democratic Party is in Peking working out a new trade agreement with Red China.

It is a baffling and frustrating process as the heavy-handed Maoist ideology stands in the way at every turn. Yet the lure of 700 million customers just next door is irresistible. An island nation with only limited natural resources, Japan must increase her export trade to maintain the high standard of living set with the swift recovery since the end of the war. This is an article of faith expressed by industrialists and government officials alike.

Exports to China increased last year to a record $325 million, according to figures of the Japan External Trade Organization. At the same time, however, imports from Red China dropped by 16.8 per cent to $220 million. This discrepancy permits few illusions about any boom in the near future in Chinese-Japanese trade. The total exchange represents only 2 per cent of Japan's foreign commerce, with Formosa China having a trade with Japan at least double that with the mainland.

VIRTUAL CIVIL war in many provinces is reason enough to restrain hopes of building a long-term economic relationship with Communist China. Equally important is the paucity of raw materials China has to exchange for Japanese steel, chemicals and fertilizers.

The trade mission in Peking is sternly admonished on the evils of the government of Premier Eisaku Sato and his subservience to the United States and a "two-China" policy. Anything that can help to bring down Sato will serve Peking's goal.

Nevertheless, the hope persists that trade can be a bridge to the exchange of official trade missions and eventually to discussion at the ambassadorial level of outstanding political differences.

WITH THE powerful thrust of an economy growing at the rate of 10 per cent a year, the Japanese are just now hypersensitive over what they consider artificial barriers being thrown up against their trade. The so-called voluntary restriction on the export of steel to the United States, which is not voluntary at all since it reflects the concern of the government here that the U. S. Congress will slap on a quota without such a cutback, is deeply resented. Textile import restrictions imposed on a "voluntary" basis are another sore point.

From the American side certain forms of Japanese protectionism are likewise resented. Until just the other day Japan had stood firm against American capital investment. The consequences of American takeover in Western Europe have been watched with grave apprehension.

THE FIRST small breakthrough has come in an agreement by the two leading motor manufacturers, Nissan and Toyo Kogyo, with Ford to establish a jointly owned firm producing automatic transmissions. It is a complicated deal involving Borg-Warner, which holds the basic patent.

General Motors is said to be pressing for the right to build a wholly owned plant producing cars, to compete not so much in the domestic market as in Southeast Asia and other areas where Japan has been exporting most of the 600,000 motor-driven vehicles shipped for sale abroad. GM is being told that a permit for a wholly owned plant cannot be granted until three years have passed. This reflects the close relationship between the Japanese government and industry, with the fear that a wholly-owned American operation would not respond to the same "guidance" that Japanese industrialists have come to accept.

BOTH COUNTRIES have almost nothing to gain and everything to lose by the kind of rivalry that ends with government protectionism. Japan is, after all, the United States' best overseas customer. Quotas imposed from the American side would almost certainly be met by Japanese quotas.

There should be no illusion. Japan is searching diligently for markets everywhere. A representative of the Japan-North Vietnam Trade Association reported after a recent visit to Hanoi an active interest in joint ventures to reconstruct the country when the war is ended. And sooner or later, so the belief is here, the fumbling giant so close at hand — China — will turn to Japan with its advanced industry and technology for leadership.

Border Clash Revives Old Russian-Chinese Conflict

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Back in 1964, Red Chinese Chairman Mao Tse-tung told a visiting foreign delegation in Peking that China had not given up its claims to some 600,000 square miles of Russian territory, it just hadn't yet presented its bill.

These are the lands of Central Asia and Siberia which the Chinese claim that Czarist Russia took from them in the middle 1800's by "unjust treaty."

Fear of the time the Chinese might attempt to collect the bill by force has led the Soviet Union into a steady buildup of military strength along its borders with Red China, which have been described as the longest and tensest in the world.

WITHIN the last year, each side has accused the other of "provocations" but both have been sparse on details.

Last Sunday's incident was the first since 1963 to mention killed or wounded. In that year, the then Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev accused the Red Chinese of causing more than 5,000 border incidents.

Noteworthy also was the speed with which both sides reported the clash in the area of Damansky Island, some 400 miles north of Vladivostok on the Ussuri river in one of the contested areas.

It could be interpreted either as a Russian desire to divert attention from rising tensions in Berlin or to a Red Chinese effort to provide a safety valve against unrest aroused by Mao Tse-tung's Cultural Revolution.

ALONG the 5,000-mile border, broken approximately at is center by Outer Mongolia, a Soviet satellite, the Russians are said to have approximately 150,000 of their best troops.

Sinkiang Province in the west is the center of Red China's nuclear development program.

In 1962, a reported 60,000 Kazakh and Uigur refugees from Chinese oppression were reported to have crossed the Ili river border area into Soviet Kazakhstan from Sinkiang. The Russians refused to send them back.

In nearby Tashkent, a Soviet radio station regularly transmits anti-Peking broadcasts. On the Russian side, strangers are not welcome in the border area, as this correspondent learned in a visit to Kazakhstan about a year ago.

The Russians don't expect an all-out confrontation with the Chinese now. But in the light of history they think it will come.

Surfeit Of Quotable Quotes When Militant Minister Talks

Quotable quotes, that's what we look for in the game of words.

The other day we attended a teachers' meeting at San Clemente School in Corte Madera and found a man who could hardly open his mouth without a quotable quote.

This makes it tough on the reporter who is used to going to meetings where the quotees say something quotable only once in awhile.

DR. JAMES Hargett, black militant minister from Los Angeles, started right off saying his wife had told him not to tell a story he had already told part of the group at Asilomar.

"But," said Hargett, "since she is not here, we will just have to have a confrontation when I get home, list demands, and then negotiate."

Hargett began mildly, warmed up, paced back and forth around the rolling lectern, and banged off these words:

"The interrelationships between domestic and international affairs are so interwoven that you cannot pull one thread without affecting the tapestry of the whole world."

"Whatever freedom I have achieved since 1954 has not come because of white America changing its mind but because white America wants to survive."

"I recently preached a sermon on self-immolation. I raised the question as to whether this is not the new crucifixion."

"When I meet you, you are my enemy and my neighbor."

"When a black comes into your neighborhood without the uniform of a domestic, that is a threat to you."

"YOU DON'T confront your friends. You have confrontation politics with your enemy."

"We will be saved not by idealism of youth but by the despair of our youth."

"I can't get rid of my negritude because it's primarily termed by color. The Jews can get rid of Jewishness and they can even have their noses fixed."

"San Francisco is like Chicago. It's ethnocentric. It's as divided up and rigid in its divisions. Isn't Chinatown quaint? It's a center of despair."

"We're no longer going to build ourselves around a leader. We're going to build ourselves around a movement. . . . It's the methodology, not the leader that makes it go."

"The white liberal has just become obsolete. He was a bill bearing between two pieces of machinery. But now there is a refusal on the part of the black folk to talk to anybody but the establishment."

QUESTION: Do you feel there has to be a winner between the blacks and the whites?

Answer: "The blacks have to win, like the Irish, like the Italians."

Question: "But can't you have a game where there is no winner?"

Answer: "There is no such game. There are games where you can have a tie. We'll settle for a tie."

Recommendation On Tiburon Signs To Get Study

Tiburon Planning Commission approval of a proposed sign ordinance has been postponed pending review of changes recommended by the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee.

The committee submitted an eight-page list of proposed changes to the 11-page ordinance at the commission's Monday night meeting, according to Chairman Joseph C. Marshall.

Marshall said the commission agreed not to discuss the proposed changes or the ordinance until the list has been studied by individual commissioners.

The Tiburon Planning Commission also:

REZONING — Approved rezoning of property owned by Samuel Shaper along the south side of Trestle Glen Boulevard between Tiburon Boulevard and Hacienda Drive from a park to planned development zone.

MAIN STREET — Approved master plans submitted by Fred G. Zelinsky for his property at 1-11 Main Street.

REEDLAND WOODS — Recommended the city reduce front yard setback requirements from 30 to 25 feet for 20,000-square-foot lots in Reedland Woods Unit Two.

Youth Booked As Marijuana Suspect

D. J. Thorner, dean of boys at the school, detained the youth for police when he saw the boy smoking off campus directly opposite the school office.

Condition Reported As Satisfactory

A Petaluma man was reported in satisfactory condition at Community Hospital of Sonoma County after treatment for an overdose of phenobarbital.

Michael Ramson, 23, of the Petaluma Hotel, was treated at Petaluma General Hospital and transferred to the intensive care unit of the Santa Rosa Hospital. Police said Ramson took approximately 80 tablets and was found unconscious by hotel personnel yesterday at 8:30 a.m.

ART BUCHWALD

It's Easy To Understand Europe In Terms Of Charlie And Lucy

WASHINGTON — Since everyone is so confused about what is going on in Western Europe, I think the only way to explain it is in terms of the comic strip "Peanuts."

Try to imagine that Lucy is France. She wants to be the leader of the gang and her greatest pleasure is getting into everyone's hair.

Linus represents Great Britain, and he keeps sucking his thumb and holding a blanket which says "Made in the U.S.A."

Charlie Brown, for obvious reasons, is the United States, and every time Lucy does something to him, all he can say is "Good Grief."

Schroeder, of course, is West Germany, and Snoopy is Italy.

LONG AGO, Charlie Brown formed a baseball team called the NATO Defenders and Lucy played first base. But a few years ago she got mad at Charlie Brown, quit the team and made everyone get out of her yard. She also urged everyone else to quit, too. But the other members of the team refused, because Charlie Brown had the only bat and ball that meant anything.

Lucy, Schroeder, Snoopy and the other kids have a club which they formed to sell lemonade to each other. Linus has been trying to join this club since it started, but Lucy said she won't let him in until he gets rid of his "Made in the U.S.A." blanket.

Linus is deathly afraid to give up his blanket because if he did he might also have to give up his thumb sucking. Besides, Charlie Brown gave it to him for Christmas and he doesn't want to hurt Charlie's feelings.

LAST WEEK Lucy told Linus secretly that he could come into the lemonade club if he quit Charlie Brown's team. She proposed that Linus, Schroeder and Snoopy could be the leaders of the new club, and the rest of the gang, instead of being equal partners, could become associate club members.

Linus was horrified at Lucy's suggestion, so he told Schroeder, Snoopy, Charlie Brown and the rest of the gang asking her to come back and play ball.

But Lucy will have none of it. She says she'll only play if she's the captain and Charlie Brown sits on the bench. "I don't care if it is your ball and bat," Lucy said. "It happens to be my playing field."

NOT LONG AGO, Lucy got into trouble with her lemonade stand and she made much more lemonade than she could sell. Also her prices were so high that no one would buy it. So she immediately went to Charlie Brown and said, "You have to bail me out."

I know you're not going to believe this, but good old Charlie Brown dug into his pocket, handed Lucy the money, and all he could think of to say was "Good Grief."

Hearing Is Set In Drug Case

Jon Theodore Kilpatrick, 24, of San Anselmo, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing methamphetamine. A preliminary hearing was set for April 7.
